RECALL TROOPS IN SPAIN, FRANCO ASKS MUSSOLINI

Move to Break Grip on Nation Seen.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 1.—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the leader of Nationalist Spain, has requested Premier Mussolini to withdraw Italian troops from Spain, the foreign affairs committee of the French chamber of deputies was told today.

Diego Martinez Barrio.

This was taken to indicate that Gen. Franco saw no further need for the legionary troops which helped him win the Catalonian campaign and that he believed the surrender of the Madrid-Valencia republican [loyalist] zone was near.

The disclosure came as Madrid announced that Diego Martinez Barrio, formerly president of the cortes [parliament], had assumed his duties as head of the republican government following the resignation of President Manuel Azana yesterday. Martinez Barrio, who is now in France, previously had said he would not serve as president.

Farewell in Barcelona.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet was said to have told the foreign affairs committee that France had been informed by Burgos that Gen. Gastone Gambara, commander of Italian forces in Spain, had carried Gen. Franco's request to Mussolini.

Gen. Franco had asked, it was said, that the Italians' participation in the Barcelona victory march on Feb. 21 be considered their farewell appearance in Spain. Some Italian leaders, Bonnet was reported to have said, apparently hoped for a continuation of fighting in Spain so that Italy would have an excuse for keeping military forces there.

Try to Influence Madrid.

Because further fighting would carry with it that threat, France and Great Britain have been trying to induce the Madrid government to surrender, Bonnet said. The inducement to Madrid was said to be Gen. Franco's promise to France and Britain that he would not strictly apply the "law of responsibilities," which calls for the trial and punishment of former republican leaders.

It was virtually certain today that Marshal Henri Petain would be named France's first ambassador to Burgos, Franco's capital. Petain, famed as the "defender of Verdun" and regarded as France's greatest living soldier, is 82 years old.

Another inducement to the Madrid leaders, who have been wavering between surrender and a determination to continue the war, was seen in the announcement in the British house of commons that England would afford shelter in exile to Spanish republican leaders.

Meeting of Dictators?

Geoffrey Lloyd, undersecretary for home affairs, told the house that the home office would give "sympathetic consideration" to the applications for admission received from Madrid leaders.

Reports sprang up again in Paris and London that Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany would meet soon in Italy and discuss future plans to further their colonial ambitions which are directed at France and Great Britain. This was viewed as a possible move to attach Gen. Franco to the Rome-Berlin axis and prevent him from yielding to French and British influences.

Nicolas Franco, the generalissimo's agent in Portugal, today voiced the "new Spain's" affection for the nations which helped it in the war and the opinion that French and British loans were not needed for the post-war reconstruction.

Revolt in Madrid Predicted.

Dispatches from Burgos said Gen. Franco was keeping his troops ready for quick action near Madrid while receiving constant reports of a threatened rebellion there.

These reports said Madrid authorities feared trouble from elements that were demanding "bread or surrender," that the entire Madrid front was in a "state of decomposition" and that anarchists in three provinces had started a "reign of terror."

62 CARDINALS OPEN CONCLAVE TO ELECT POPE

Balloting Starts in Vatican Today.

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on back page.)

ROME, March 1.—The night has fallen on Vatican City, where sixty-two princes of the Roman Catholic church are deliberating on a successor to Pope Piux XI.

An hour ago we heard the traditional cry "extra omnes!" which means "all out!" The court of St. Damasus now is free from correspondents and other visitors. Cardinals are in their conclave quarters. The last door is sealed. No member of the sacred college will have contact with the outside world until a new pope has been elected.

The first ballot will be taken at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. If there is no decision, another ballot will follow immediately. The procedure of two ballots every morning and two every afternoon will continue until one cardinal receives two-thirds of the total vote.

Every Cardinal Present.

This is the first conclave to elect a temporal as well as a spiritual ruler since 1846. Vatican City is the smallest and possibly the most insignificant sovereignty politically in the world, but the new leader will face conditions which have forced a greater temporal importance upon the papacy than it has known for a good many years.

For the first time in the modern era every member of the sacred college will take part in the election of a new pope. Equally important is the presence of three Americans for the first time in history.

Only twice before has America had a voice in the selection and then it had only one vote. The arrival today of Cardinal William O'Connell of Boston, who twice before had failed to reach the election by hours, completed America's representation in the conclave. Cardinal George Mundelein of Chicago and Cardinal Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia have been in Rome eleven days.

Italians Are Cheered.

Hundreds crowded around the entrance on the left side of St. Peter's basilica waiting for the cardinals to arrive this afternoon. As they approached the gates in Vatican automobiles cheers went up from the various national groups, especially for the Italian candidates. The Americans moved through almost unnoticed.

Cardinal O'Connell, who motored to Rome from Naples this morning, complained of fatigue in the procession into conclave quarters this afternoon. His condition was not regarded as serious.

The first important act of the cardinals was the taking of an oath. Cardinal O'Connell was extended permission to take the oath in his apartment.

Part of Oath Quoted.

To show the safeguard for freedom in the election, we are quoting a special section of the oath:

"We cardinals of the Holy Roman church swear, promise and vow that whichever of us shall be elected pope he will not cease to assert and vindicate the spiritual and also the temporal rights of the holy see, and moreover, he again will take this same oath of promise after the ac-

THE MAN WHO NEVER LEARNS

NEW YORK SCHOOLS OFFER A COURSE IN CORRECT BIKE RIDING

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—Boys and girls in the New York City school system are receiving instruction in safe bicycle riding. In preparation for the expected rush to the streets with the advent of warm weather, school officials have formed seventy-five bicycle clubs in various parts of the city.

Through lectures, demonstrations, and assembly exercises, the pupils are taught how to ride a bicycle, the trafic rules involved, how to avoid trafic hazards and general safety regulations.

Not all of the instruction is theoretical. The pupils are taken into the school yard and there taught how to manipulate a bicycle under adverse conditions. Before a student "passes" his course of instruction, he is given a test in which he is required to ride his bicycle between two chalk lines, fifty feet long, and less than a handlebar's width apart.

PINOCHLE GANG AHOY! BEER WENT FLAT—TIRES, TOO

"I'll get some beer and be right back," Frank Grenn told the pinochle players who came to his home at 5547 South Sacramento avenue last night. If the bewildered players who missed their game want to know what became of their host and the beer, this will explain:

He and Charles Miller of 5537 South Talman avenue got the beer. They were returning when two bandits took Miller's car from them. Grenn and Miller went to the Chicago Lawn police station for help.

Twenty minutes later, Policemen Joseph Tigerman and Daniel Masterson saw the car pass a red light at Halsted and Madison streets and gave chase, firing. They shot the tires flat. The robbers fled on foot. The officers telephoned Chicago Lawn police to send Miller and Grenn over for the car, and the beer. By the time they got the flat tires fixed, the players had gone home.

Walks Unaided from Room After Appendix Removal

Auburn, Neb., March 1.—(AP)—Dr. F. F. Tushla said Mrs. Mary Cogdill of Brownville, Neb., arose from the operating table after an emergency appendectomy in a hospital here tonight and walked unaided back to her room. Mrs. Cogdill, 32 years old and mother of two children, appeared surprised to learn it was not common procedure, Dr. Tushla said. He said nurses were too surprised to move. A local anesthetic had been given.

Germ Killing Ray to Shield Cradle Babies

BY MARCIA WINN.

Invisible walls of light—light so powerful that it can kill germs borne by air currents—will be introduced to the scientific world on March 12 when the new $150,000 home of the Cradle, Evanston's famous nursery, is dedicated.

The light walls are beams of ultra-violet rays which will descend from the ceiling to cleave and sterilize the air. They will form one of three new methods by means of which the Cradle society hopes to end the transfer of infection from baby to baby by air borne germs. The second method is by air-conditioning. The third is a combination of air-conditioning and isolation.

System Is Revolutionary.

If one or more of the methods proves practicable the Cradle will have made a revolutionary contribution toward the care of infants, said Lucius A. Crowell, chairman of the society's building committee.

The light barrier technique is to be used in one of the units of babies' rooms which will occupy the second floor of the new Cradle building at Ridge avenue and Simpson street. Each unit consists of twelve cubicles. Each cubicle is 4½ feet long by 6½ feet wide, and 7 feet high. In each will be a baby's crib.

In the unit where the wall of light system is used the cubicles are arranged in two rows of six, the rows separated by a corridor. All the tiny rooms open full on the corridor, with no protection except the wall of ultra-violet rays. These rays, projected to the floor from ultra-violet fluorescent tubes at the ceiling, will guard the cubicle entrances by killing germs passing through the "wall."

Carried a Step Further.

On one side of the corridor this protection will be carried a step further. There the babies' cubicles are in pairs, each two separated from the others by a wall of glass. And down the center of each pair of little rooms, dividing the two cribs, will pour the invisible partition of light, killing any germs which air currents might carry from one cubicle into the other.

Across the corridor the six cubicles will be divided by glass instead of light beams although light beams will guard the opening on the corridor.

Each cubicle has a window, but this is not to be opened. The cubicles are air conditioned, with the air completely changed every two minutes. Temperature, humidity, and air movement are controled automatically.

In the second unit of twelve cubicles, air conditioning is the child's sole safeguard. This unit is a duplicate of the first with the omission of the light barriers. It will serve as a "control" unit, to test the efficacy of the first. Its cubicles, separated by glass partitions, open directly into a corridor.

Glass Isolation Used.

The third unit will have an entirely different technique. In this—the plan of Prof. James A. Reniers, head of the bacteriology laboratories of the University of Notre Dame—there again are no ultra-violet rays, but each baby will be isolated in a glass enclosed and air conditioned space within the cubicle.

A year's experimentation has been done on the sterilizing power of the light rays. Eight experimental cubicles were constructed at the Henry Phipp institute in Philadelphia from the Cradle plans.

With these W. F. Wells, assistant professor of sanitary engineering at the air-borne infection laboratories of the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine, conducted a series of experiments. Germs were freed in given cubicles, and the germ killing rays, through which any air had to pass to travel into another cubicle, prevented contamination. The fluorescent tubes were developed by the General Electric laboratories and are not yet on the market.

DR. DODD FACES TRIAL TODAY IN HIT-AND-RUN ACCIDENT IN VIRGINIA

Hanover Courthouse, Va., March 1.—(AP)—Dr. William E. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany, will go on trial here tomorrow on a charge of hit and run driving and causing injury to Glois Grimes, a Negro child, 4 years old.

Dodd, accused of leaving the scene of an accident Dec. 5 when the child was struck by an automobile on a highway near here, was indicted by a Hanover county grand jury in January. He pleaded innocent when arraigned and was released in continuation of a $2,000 bond arranged at the time he waived preliminary hearing.

Dr. Dodd, at the time he appeared before Justice Robert T. Winston, several days after the accident, said he was not aware at the time that the child had been hurt.

Wind Is Rough, but People in Philadelphia Are Honest

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—(AP)—A gust of wind whipped $1,000 from a woman's pocketbook today and scattered $10 and $20 bills among rushing pedestrians on a downtown street. The woman screamed. Men and women grabbed for the money—and returned every bill.

472 Hurt; 800 Houses Razed in Jap Village

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, March 2 (Thursday).—(AP)—The war office today announced that yesterday's explosions in a munitions dump at Hirakata took a death toll of unknown proportions. It reported 472 persons were known to have been injured and 800 houses were destroyed, leaving 8,313 persons homeless. It was announced that a worker's carelessness caused powder to catch fire and set off the explosions.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 2.—[Thursday.]—At least 200 persons were killed yesterday afternoon in a series of explosions in a munitions dump at Hirakata, a village near the city of Osaka.

Arrow locates scene of munitions explosion.

Two hundred persons were injured and 600 houses were destroyed by flames which swept through the village from the exploding munitions. Police estimated 5,800 persons were homeless. Damage to property was expected to reach several millions of dollars. The first explosion occurred at 2:40 p. m. It was followed by several blasts of less force.

Windows Broken Miles Away.

Windows were broken for miles around by the force of the explosions, telephone and telegraph wires were thrown down, and railway and street car service had to be suspended.

Terror stricken residents of Hirakata, including many of the injured, fled to neighboring towns.

Eye witnesses of the explosions said the entire village appeared to be in flames. A high wind hindered efforts of firemen from Osaka and Kyoto. The fire fighters worked under the direction of Japanese troops.

The governor of Osaka prefecture and other high officials hastened to Hirakata. One thousand policemen were rushed to the town to serve as guards.

Third Disaster in 3 Months.

Among the destroyed buildings was the Nakanomiya psychopathic hospital. It was not known whether the inmates were killed or rescued.

Osaka is Japan's Chicago, second largest city of the islands, and is 330 miles west of Tokio.

The explosion of the munitions dump was the third disaster to take place in a Japanese military establishment in the last three months.

On Dec. 19 an explosion, followed by fire, wrecked four buildings of an army powder factory at Macbashi, 68 miles from Tokio. The cause of the blast was not stated. A few days before, fire had destroyed the aviation training station at Yonago.

HINT ROOSEVELT FLAYED HITLER IN SECRET TALK

Assert Attack Would Shock Nation.

France Honors Envoy

PARIS, March 1.—(AP)—Capt. Paul Chemidlin, representative of the French air ministry, who became a key figure in the disclosure that France was negotiating for mass purchases of American planes, was promoted today to an officer of the Legion of Honor.

Capt. Chemidlin was seriously injured in the crash of a new light Douglas bomber being tested near Los Angeles on Jan. 23. The American pilot of the plane was killed. Chemidlin's presence in the plane was the first public disclosure of the French negotiations, which then became the subject of a congressional storm in Washington.

An air ministry decree bestowing the Legion of Honor award on Capt. Chemidlin "for exceptional services" said the entire French cabinet approved the honor.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—The senate was told today that the nation would be shocked and stunned if the details of President Roosevelt's famous secret White House conference with the military affairs committee a month ago were made public.

Senator Lundeen.

Senator Ernest Lundeen [F. L., Minn.] made this statement and Senator H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] agreed with him. Senator Bridges further declared that it would not be in the public interest, nor in the interest of the peace of the world, to disclose what Mr. Roosevelt told the military affairs committee.

Debate Army Expansion.

The subject of the secret White House conference was brought into a tumultuous debate on the Roosevelt foreign policy that concerned itself with the implications of the bill under discussion. The pending measure authorizes a 358 million dollar army expansion program, including 6,000 planes for the air corps.

At his secret conference with the military affairs committee, which grew out of the investigation of the French airplane scandal, Mr. Roosevelt was said to have placed this country's first line of defense in France. The President made it unmistakably clear that this government has committed itself to assist France and Great Britain in every way possible "short of war," as he put it, in the event of an attack upon those countries by Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy.

Intimations Stir Senators.

These intimations of a military alliance with the so-called European democracies stirred the senators with apprehensions that boiled over in today's debate on the aerial expansion bill. In speaking of details that would astound the country and possibly affect the public interest adversely, however, they were hinting at what has been described as a violent personal attack by President Roosevelt on Adolf Hitler, the Nazi dictator.

When Senator Bridges deplored the secrecy with which the military affairs committee conducted its investigation and the pledge of confidence demanded of its members by Mr. Roosevelt, Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], challenged him to disclose everything he had heard.

Integrity at Stake.

"The senator can say anything he wishes on the floor," Senator Connally declared. "A vital thing which affects the integrity of this government, the integrity of its officers, and our conduct of foreign relations, is among the most sacred cares of this body."

Senator Lundeen interrupted, charging that a smoke screen had been thrown about the whole affair of the airplanes for the purpose of confusing the people. Referring to Connally's challenge, he declared:

"If senators on the floor give us

Yesterday, March 1, the total net paid circulation of the Chicago Tribune was Averaging over 900,000, Chicago Tribune total net paid daily circulation during February set a new all time high for the month.

the right to speak openly and freely, and it is our patriotic duty so to do—and I think each senator knows what his own conception of patriotic duty is—we may some day give publicity to the secret conference in the White House, because I happen to know that the notes of that conference are in existence, and if the American people ever learn what was said there the nation will be shocked and stunned."

Senator Bridges, also replying to Connally's challenge, said his first consideration was the public interest.

Advises Against Revelations.

"In my opinion it is best for America and for the rest of the world that the details of that conference never become known," he said. "I use as my witness the senator from Minnesota, who said the country would be shocked and stunned. I agree with that statement."

Senator Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], an internationalist, a supporter of the Roosevelt world court proposal in 1935, and a minority member of his party on foreign affairs, precipitated the controversy with the isolationists when he undertook to defend the administration's conduct in the French airplane deal. He admitted that the war department objected to the release of a secret Douglas bombing plane on two grounds:

1. That it would deprive the United States army of its priority right.

2. That large scale purchases of airplanes by the French government would interfere with the procurement program of our own government.

He insisted, however, that all differences within the administration had been composed satisfactorily to the war department after a cabinet meeting in which President Roosevelt approved the release of latest military aircraft to the French.

Denies Use of Coercion.

"Isn't it natural," asked Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], "that after the commander in chief had spoken the war department would concede the commander in chief's point?"

Senator Austin said it was not a matter of coercion for the President of the United States to transmit to his department heads "a chit of a memorandum." President Roosevelt used the term "chit" in referring to his letters to the secretaries of war, the treasury, and the navy, ordering full cooperation with the French air mission.

"I don't believe any cabinet member would be so weak as to be cowed by a chit or a note from his President," Austin said.

Austin was challenged by Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] when he said the United States had never had a policy of isolation.

Recalls Bullitt Speech.

"I regret to say that the person who is referred to as the originator of the first information regarding the sale of planes to France, a Mr. Bullitt [Ambassador William C. Bullitt], made an address in France to Americans and French people, in which he is quoted as saying that the United States now is abandoning its policy of isolation," Austin said. "I take issue with that. I claim that we have never had a policy of isolation."

Senator Borah said the traditional policy of the United States was one that left it free at all times, without any commitments or entangling alliances, to determine what it would do in the case of war.

He said the traditional isolationist policy had never been interpreted as one that would not trade with other nations, make treaties with and carry on business with them.

"But if Mr. Bullitt is undertaking to say that the United States is preparing to depart from the policy as thus interpreted, Mr. Bullitt is sadly mistaken," Borah added.

URGE WAR DEBT PAYMENTS WITH ARMS AND LAND

Senators Suggest Plan for Britain and France.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Map on Back Page.)

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—A proposal that Great Britain and France be asked to pay their war debts to the United States partly or wholly by supplying this country with war materials and transferring strategic British and French territory in this hemisphere was projected today into the consideration of national defense by congress.

Senator Lodge.

Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], Republican leader of the senate, and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.] jointly introduced a resolution providing:

"That the President is hereby requested to enter into negotiations with foreign governments which are indebted to the United States with a view to arranging for such governments:

"[1] To furnish the United States with strategic materials for national defense purposes, and

"[2] To make available to the United States geographical points which are of strategic importance for national defense purposes, in payment or part payment of the indebtedness of such governments to the United States."

State Their Premises.

The premises of the resolution were stated by the senators as follows:

"The senate military affairs committee recently approved a 100 million dollar authorization to purchase and store large stocks of essential war materials which are not available in this country. The acquisition of such reserves of strategic materials would materially contribute to our national security and to the creation of a sound national defense program.

"In view of recent developments in war-torn Europe it is not impossible that certain insular possessions of great strategic importance in the defense of the American hemisphere now held by certain so-called democracies may be lost to nations whose proximity to our coasts would be undesirable.

"Several foreign nations have debts, incurred during the world war, still outstanding to the United States. The payment of these debts might be used to fund the purchase of these war materials in part or full payment of their debts to us and to make available to the United States geographical points important in the defense of the United States. The payment for these war materials would not compete with any American activity."

Decline to Discuss Measure.

Both Senators McNary and Lodge declined to discuss their resolution in advance of its consideration by the senate.

By numerous Democratic senators the resolution was eyed askance with suspicions that it is loaded with dynamite for President Roosevelt and his supporters in the senate who are promoting the administration war scare. It was suggested that the resolution will put Mr. Roosevelt and his followers on the spot.

Mr. Roosevelt and the administration leaders contend there is great danger of Dictators Hitler and Mussolini defeating Great Britain and France and gaining a foothold in this hemisphere for attack on the United States. If this is true, administration supporters can scarcely oppose a measure providing not only for effective armament against such a menace but meeting the cost from war debts in default and never likely to be paid in cash.

Possessions Are Listed.

The British colonial possessions off the shores of the United States and their area are: Bahamas, 4,404 square miles; Bermuda, 19; Barbados, 166; Jamaica, Turks, and Caicos, 4,674; Leeward Islands, 715; Trinidad and Tobago, 1,976; Windward Islands, 516; British Honduras, 8,598; British Guiana, 89,480. The French possessions are: Guadaloupe and dependencies, 532; French Guiana, 34,740; Martinique, 385; St. Pierre and Miquelon, 93.

FEAR RENEWED IRISH TERRORISM AS BLAST HITS LONDON SUBURB

LONDON, March 2 [Thursday].—(AP)—A terrific explosion in suburban Stonebridge Park damaged an aqueduct supporting the Grand Union canal early today, and police began an investigation on the theory it was a renewal of violence by the outlawed Irish republican army.

There were no casualties from the explosion. It was heard miles away. Police established a cordon about the area, where heavy blocks of concrete were torn loose.

U.S. PRELATES ASK BEATIFICATION OF MOTHER SETON

VATICAN CITY, March 1.—Sources close to Cardinals George Mundelein of Chicago and Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia disclosed today that the two had acted to further the beatification of Mother Seton, founder of the Sisters of Charity of the United States, before they were locked up today in the conclave to elect a new pope.

The American cardinals used their influence in the congregation of rites. Since their arrival in Rome Father Salvatore Burgio has been named vice postulator of Mother Seton's cause. Father Burgio is Cardinal Dougherty's conclavist, and the naming of a vice postulator is one of the preliminary steps necessary to investigation for beatification.

Cardinal Dougherty especially is said to have taken a personal interest in the cause of Mother Seton, whose candidacy for sainthood was launched a year after her death in 1881. It was encouraged by the late Pope Pius XI., and the congregation of rites several years ago began examination of her collected writings.

Mother Seton, after her husband's death in 1803, settled in New York to devote her life to good works. She founded a number of Catholic institutions including the first parochial schools. She founded in Emmitsburg, Md., the congregation of the Sisters of Charity of the United States.

Banker Crabb Put on Train for Trip to Federal Prison

Chillicothe, Ill., March 1.—(AP)—Willis W. Crabb, former president of the Tazewel County National bank at Delavan, was placed on a train here tonight for a trip to Leavenworth, Kas., where he will enter the federal penitentiary to serve a four year sentence. He was convicted of forgery and misapplication of approximately $75,000 of the bank's funds.

62 CARDINALS OPEN CONCLAVE TO ELECT A POPE

Balloting Will Start in the Vatican Today.

ceptance of the burden of the supreme pontificate.

"We especially pledge ourselves to keep secret whatever pertains in whatsoever manner to the election of a Roman pontiff and also whatever takes place in the conclave, and also we will maintain this secrecy through the conclave and after the election of the new pope, unless by special permission he gives leave to break it.

Veto Is Forbidden.

"We also promise we shall not undertake the announcement of a veto even if it be only in the form of simple desire, no matter by what state or by reason whatsoever. Moreover, we will not make known any veto, however it may have come to our knowledge, whether to the college of cardinals assembled together, whether to the cardinals individually, whether directly or by hinting, whether before the conclave begins or while it functions.

"We swear we shall not heed or lend favor to any intervention, intercessions, or other activity at any time by which a civil authority of whatever rank may desire to mix itself with the election of the pope."

We have just said farewell to Cardinal Mundelein, the only American in history who has been conceded even an outside chance to be elected pope. He entered the conclave in splendid health, completely relaxed, and confident that election will occur on an early ballot.

"When I next see you," he said at our parting, "we shall have a new pope."

"When will that be?" we inquired.

"Not later than Saturday night," he replied.

Cardinal Mundelein has only enough of a wardrobe to last a few days.

We have visited with the Chicago cardinal every evening since our arrival in Rome. He always has been affable, generous of his time, and eager for news from Chicago. One of his last acts before leaving his residence for the conclave was to wire congratulation to Mayor Kelly upon his victory in the Chicago primary.

We asked him whether he would eat in the dining room with other cardinals or be served privately in his conclave apartment. He responded with characteristic humor, "I will eat in the dining room. I will not lose out on conclave gossip for the world."

Chauffeur Leaps 12 Floors to His Death on Lake Drive

Alfred Smith, 31 years old, a chauffeur, leaped to his death last evening from the twelfth floor apartment of his employer, Charles Hoffman, at 3240 Lake Shore drive. The body landed in a courtway. Smith's wife, Marie, who is employed as a maid by the Hoffmans, said that her husband had been drinking and jumped from the window while she was in an adjoining room. The Hoffmans were not at home at the time. Hoffman is head of the Belmont Radio corporation, 2157 Fullerton parkway.

1,220 INFLUENZA CASES REPORTED IN MONTH; 84 DIE

During February 1,220 Chicagoans were ill of influenza, according to physicians' reports to the board of health. The disease was fatal in eighty-four cases. Pneumonia cases last month totaled 1,565, with 358 deaths. In February, 1938, fifty-six cases of influenza were reported, with thirteen deaths, and 1,010 pneumonia illnesses and 230 deaths were recorded. The outbreak of respiratory diseases continued on the wane yesterday. New influenza cases for the 24 hours ending at 9 a. m. were only 12 in number. Three died.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or show worry—your stomach often pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in no time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

SCHOOL CREDIT GROUP ASKED TO DROP CICERO HIGH

Pupils' Standing Periled; Board Fights Action.

A recommendation that J. Sterling Morton High school of Cicero be dropped from membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools because of alleged violations of the association's code has been made by the Illinois state committee, according to a notice received at the school yesterday. Such action would mean that the school's credits would not be recognized at universities and other schools. Approximately 6,500 pupils attend the Morton High school.

The charges on which the recommendation is based were listed in a letter to J. M. McDonald, acting superintendent of the school, by A. W. Clevenger, chairman of the Illinois state committee of the association. They range from political interference in school affairs to failure to appoint a successor to a superintendent discharged last June.

School to Deny Charges.

Jerome Cerny, chairman of the school board, who received the letter in the absence of McDonald, said the charges will be denied, and the school will present its defense before March 29, when the association will meet here for its annual convention. A three-fourths vote of the delegates to the convention is required to oust a school without a year's notice, Cerny said.

The school has been under fire from the association before. Last summer, after a clash of board members over the dismissal of Dr. Ladimir M. Hrudka as superintendent, the school was given a low rating by the North Central examining committee. Concerning the faculty the report then stated: "Teachers are disgruntled and are grouped into cliques. In general, the school needs continued watching."

The failure of the board to permit a public hearing on Hrudka's dismissal was cited in yesterday's charges against the school. Mr. Hrudka recently sued to recover $9,000 in pay.

Push Selection of Successor.

"We are working hard to find a new superintendent," Cerny said, "and have narrowed sixteen applications down to two or three. As for the teachers forming cliques, there are bound to be partisan groups taking sides on issues in any school as large as Morton.

"There is no basis for the charge that the school board has played politics and that political issues have influenced school activities. Nor have members of the board made a practice of buying supplies for the school as individuals. I believe we can prove that, and I am confident we can show there is no reason for dropping the school from membership in the association."

The show will continue through Sunday.

TRAILS FUGITIVE, CAPTURES HIM IN MOUNTAIN CHASE

Alan Myers, chief investigator for the state's attorney of Du Page county, told a thrilling story yesterday. It concerned his arrest of Henry Krueger, who is under indictment at Wheaton for selling worthless mining stock. Krueger jumped a bail bond of $5,000 in January, 1938.

Myers said he traced Krueger to Colorado and went there about two weeks ago to arrest him. The arrest was made on Feb. 21 at Salida, Colo., after a dangerous chase down a mountainside.

"But State's Attorney John M. Boyle and the sherif of Chafee county held my warant from the governor of Illinois was no good and they freed Krueger," Myers said. "I appealed to Gov. Carr of Colorado. Then Boyle agreed to a hearing in the governor's office on March 8. Krueger is to be there and I hope to bring him back."

HIT CRIME FIRST IN SCHOOLS, SAYS ALCATRAZ HEAD

Cleveland, O., March 1.—[Special.]—Fight crime by fighting it first in the public schools, James A. Johnston, warden of Alcatraz prison, told the American Association of School Administrators at their 69th annual convention here today.

The problem child is the genesis of crime, Warden Johnston said.

"It is not beyond our ability to discover the tendencies and to treat them in school days," he added. "I believe progress made in education programs and teaching stafs offers our greatest hopes."

SCHOOL ADVISERS TO HELP NAME 2 BOARD MEMBERS

Terms Expire May 1; Ask Civic Groups' Aid.

Mayor Kelly's advisory schools committee, appointed two weeks ago to aid in the selection of new members of the school board, will make its first recommendations on May 1, when two vacancies will occur on the board.

Dean William F. Clarke of De Paul university law school, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday that the advisory group would ask 100 civic organizations to suggest names of possible appointees to fill the vacancies. Letters to the organizations will be mailed in the next few days.

Explains Policy of Group.

"We will study the qualifications of the two school board members whose terms expire May 1," Dean Clarke said. "The committee is not in opposition to the present board. We want to coöperate with it. We don't want to run the schools."

The board members whose terms expire are Harry W. Solomon, who was appointed in 1933, and Karl V. Janovsky-Johns, appointed in 1937. Both were named to the board by Mayor Kelly.

In appointing the advisory committee the mayor specified that it would not only pass on school board appointments, but would advise the board on matters of school policy. Dean Clarke announced the names of two committeemen, who will help carry out the latter function.

Heads Committee on Curricula.

Dr. Frank N. Freeman, professor of educational psychology at the University of Chicago has been named chairman of a subcommittee on school curricula. Lester N. Selig, president of the General American Transportation corporation, will be chairman of a subcommittee on finance.

During the day James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, mailed letters to all the members of the advisory committee. The letter said:

"On behalf of the board may I assure you its complete coöperation and hope of pleasant association."

TAX WARANTS SOLD BY SCHOOLS TO MEET PAY ROLL FOR MARCH

James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, assured the board yesterday that all school pay rolls would be met during March, pending passage of the 1939 school budget. The budget will be passed this month. Then the schools will be financed through the sale of 1939 tax anticipation warants. Yesterday the board transferred $2,760,318 from its working cash fund to the educational fund. It sold $1,125,000 worth of 1938 educational fund tax warants and $111,000 of building fund warants to provide funds to meet the March pay rolls. The working cash fund transfer was made in anticipation of money to come from the state common school fund this year. The educational tax warant sale was made to six loop banks at 2¼ per cent interest.

Council Asked for $185,000 for Navy Pier Remodeling

The city council finance committee yesterday received a request from the department of public works for an appropriation of $185,000 to pay the city's share of a proposed $1,000,000 WPA project to rehabilitate Navy pier. It was explained that the project would make additional offices available for city departments and provide larger convention accomodations.

ARMY FIGHTING PLANE CALLED BEST IN WORLD

Air Corps Chief Relates Superior Power.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Testimony that the United States army air corps has a combat plane superior to any in the world was revealed today when the house received an appropriation committee report approving the spending of approximately half a billion dollars for the war department.

Funds for the purchase of 784 new planes were provided in the bill submitted by the committee. Of this total 565 planes will represent the first acquisitions under the administration's special 552 million dollar program to expand the air force to 6,000 planes.

Passage of the bill is assured. It will set a record for military appropriations since 1921.

Still a Military Secret.

Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, told about the new plane, which he termed the most striking example of airplane development of the last year anywhere in the world. The army has received several of these planes and has been testing them, he said. They have not been shown to the French government nor to the representatives of any foreign nation.

Maj. Gen. Arnold's testimony was given a month ago at a secret hearing of the appropriations subcommittee. The transcript was made public today with permission of the war department.

The army's air chief described the new fighting plane as a multiseater type, XFM-1. It is considered superior, he said, not only to the planes shown to the French government but to the army's latest known war plane, the XP-37, a twin motored single seater pursuit plane which recently set a transcontinental flight record only to crash upon landing in New York.

Fire Power Is Great.

"The XFM-1 is designed to stand off at a long range and fight it out with big bombers," said Maj. Gen. Arnold. "Having more speed than the bombers, it will have the absolute essential to the fighter type—the power to engage in, and break off, combat at will. It is a twin engine, pusher type, providing front emplacements for gunners with excellent fire positions and visibility."

The air chief said that the war department also was developing a new slow speed airplane for observation purposes.

Constant aeronautical research is necessary if this nation is to keep abreast of foreign nations, especially Germany, in the air, Maj. Gen. Arnold said. Despite the program for enlarging the air force, it may be three to five years before the objective of 5,500 or 6,000 modern fighting planes is reached, he said.

Further improvement of the army's flying fortresses, giant bombing planes, is possible because of the success of a new high altitude pressure cabin type plane, he testified.

"It is anticipated," he said, "that bombers with the new high altitude cabin can operate successfully at 35,000 feet, where there will be little or no interference from anti-aircraft batteries."

Automatic Landing Perfected.

Completely automatic landings also have been perfected by the air corps, Maj. Gen. Arnold said. More than fifty landings have been made, he revealed, without the pilot's hands or feet touching the controls and without manually operated ground radio aids.

Of the 784 planes for which funds were provided in the appropriation bill, 400 will be of the single engine pursuit type, the war department said. About 250 attack bombers also will be bought. The remainder will be bombers, training and photograph ships, and other auxiliary combat types.

The bill also provides $170,000,000 for the pay of the army, an increase of $24,000,000 over 1938; $47,000,000 for munitions and supplies, an increase of $8,600,000 from last year; $7,250,000 for sea coast defense; $44,000,000 for the National Guard; approximately $20,000,000 for the organized reserves and citizens' military training.

Finds Two Bandits Robbing Roommate; Shot in Battle

Philip Merla was shot and critically wounded last night while routing two bandits from his room at 1225 North Dearborn street. Merla stepped into the room just after the bandits had taken $25 and a watch from his roommate, John Baragen. Merla gave battle. He was driving the robbers out when one of them opened fire.

AERO FACTORIES ORDERED INLAND; CHICAGO FAVORED

Warned Away from Dangers on Seacoasts.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The nation's airplane manufacturers are being ordered by the war department to establish themselves in the interior of the nation where they will be protected by the eastern and western mountain ranges, Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, said in Chicago yesterday.

Louis Johnson.

This means that the aircraft builders that have been concentrated upon the Pacific and Atlantic coasts must begin shifting to safer inland sites. These orders, said Johnson, give Chicago a wonderful opportunity to attract to its vicinity a large number of the new aero manufacturing plants that will be required.

Expects Program to Expand.

Speaking before 500 members of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Palmer House, Johnson said the army expects the aviation program to expand. He said the orders that will be given to manufacturers with the passage of the national defense bill to be only a start.

"We know now exactly where we are going to spend every cent that will be appropriated for national defense in the aviation industry," he said. "And as we sign the contracts with these manufacturers we are telling them, 'Get yourselves established inside the country's mountain chains.'"

Johnson pointed out that the airplane and engine manufacturers which form 90 per cent of the country's present productive sources now have their plants in positions that would be exposed to destruction of coastal air raids in time of war.

"We are, consequently," he said, "telling them to follow the General Headquarters Air force inland. The war department chose Scott field at Belleville, Ill., as the headquarters for the GHQ air force for no other than strategic reasons.

"Illinois would be a good state for airplane builders.

"We cannot, however, say to any manufacturer, 'Settle yourselves in Chicago.' That job of getting airplane builders to this city or to the vicinity of this city is up to Chicagoans."

10,000 Plants Selected.

In the general rearmament program that calls for immediate procurement of equipment for an army of 400,000 men and ample reserves, said Johnson, the war department has picked out 10,000 manufacturing plants in the United States for munitions makers whenever the necessity for war production arises.

Of these, some 1,546 are in Chicago and the Chicagoland area, and would be administered in wartime from a Chicago headquarters.

GIVEN 2 TO 5 YEARS FOR BLACKMAIL PLOT ON MILLIONAIRE WARD

St. Paul, Minn., March 1.—[Special.]—Judge Hugo O. Ganft today imposed a sentence of two to five years in prison on Matthew Stegbauer on his guilty plea to attempting to blackmail Charles A. Ward, former convict who became a millionaire business man.

Harold F. McEvoy, Stegbauer's companion in the blackmail attempt, previously entered a plea of guilty and was given a five year suspended sentence.

The two sent a letter to Ward, who is president of the nationally known advertising novelty firm of Brown & Bigelow, demanding $15,000 on threat of linking him with the unsolved slaying of Walter Liggett, crusading Minneapolis newspaper editor.

CHICAGO PUTS UP $150,000 TO PUSH LARGER AIRPORT

Appraisers Value Land for Track Removal.

After nearly two years of preliminary effort, the city yesterday took the first direct step toward enlarging Chicago airport. Controler Robert B. Upham was directed by the city council to deposit $150,000 in the American National Bank and Trust company for the purchase of a new right of way for the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad.

The company's tracks bisect a mile square area available for landing field uses. Only the south half of the tract now is utilized as a flying field although the north half has been fully improved during the past 16 months by Works Progress administration labor.

Plan Exchange with Railroad.

With the acquisition of the new right of way—a strip of land a mile and a half long by 66 feet wide—the city will build thereon a new track system and exchange land and tracks for the old right of way.

Existing tracks then will be removed and both halves of the airport united. The field will be bounded by 55th and 63d streets, Cicero and Central avenues. And Chicago will possess one of the largest and finest airports in the world.

The action yesterday followed the filing of a report by three men—Mark Levy, John McCarthy, and John R. O'Connor—who were authorized by the city council to determine the value of the strip of land needed for the airport expansion program. Their appraisal is to be the basis of offers to seventy-four owners of eighty-one parcels of land.

Value Strip at $123,754.

The appraisers valued the strip at $123,754, including damages to property owners through the loss of small units of their holdings. This total, they said, is made up of the following items:

Value of land and improvements to be taken	$100,094
Damage to land and improvements adjoining	16,618
Value of previously vacated streets and alleys that reverted to original owners	7,042

The amounts of land owned by different individuals vary greatly. The smallest units were valued as low as $5. The largest single unit—164,270 square fee owned by Raymond E. Herman—was valued at $17,186.

In November, 1937, when the city began surveying the land that might be needed as a new right of way for the C. & W. I. railroad, Herman demanded $63,000 for the strip.

Mayor Charges a "Holdup."

Mayor Kelly declared Herman was attempting to "hold up the city." Negotiations were dropped, and no subsequent offers have been made to Herman or any of the others.

Upon the directions of the mayor, Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman will file, within a few days, a blanket condemnation suit against all of the property owners. The city then will mail its offers to the owners. Those accepted will be entered as stipulations in the court records. Owners who do not accept the offers must fight the condemnation action.

TWO CONFESS SEEKING RANSOM TO PAY DEBT TO FATHER OF VICTIM

New York, March 1.—(AP)—Two men arrested in the abduction of Michael Katz, 4 years old, son of a bookmaker, were indicted for kidnaping today, fifteen hours after it first became known they were in custody. The prisoners were Charles Mitchell, 31, a friend of the child's father, George Katz, and Sol Schwartz, 29. Mitchell was the intermediary in the transaction in which Katz paid $180 of a $7,000 ransom demand.

Police Capt. Frank C. Balls said the two men told him they kidnaped Michael ten days ago in an attempt to recoup $6,600 lost in horse racing bets placed with Katz. A Brooklyn grand jury returned the indictments. Mitchell and Schwartz were held under $50,000 bail each.

Capt. Balls said Schwartz took the boy from his maid and left him in Mrs. Nellie Resnick's apartment in Manhattan, telling her he was Mitchell's son. A ranson note was sent to Katz, advising him to use Mitchell as an intermediary, and $180, all the cash Katz said he could raise, was paid. Michael was returned home.

ARMY AIR CORPS IS RESTORED TO SINGLE COMMAND

Washington, D. C., March 1.—(AP)—The army air corps was placed under a single command today. Secretary Harry H. Woodring ordered Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, air corps chief, to assume direction of all army aviation activities.

Gen. H. H. Arnold.

Since 1935 the general headquarters air force, employing about half of the army's fighting planes has been under the army chief of staf.

The war department said the order was in connection with the prospective expansion of the army air forces. It was issued coincidental with a shift in command of the general headquarters air force. Maj. Gen. Delos C. Emmons recently was named commanding officer to succeed Maj. Gen. Frank M. Andrews.

Boy Scouts to Take Over City Offices in Evanston

Boy Scouts will take over the city government of Evanston and run it in their own way for three hours on Saturday. Donald Rehm, 17 years old, 819 Dobson street, will act as mayor. He and the other eleven candidates on his ticket were elected by the Scouts on Monday. John Waddell, 18, of 717 Hinman avenue, will be police chief for the period, and Robert Royce, 18, of 847 Judson avenue, will be chief of the fire department.

NEXT MADAME MAYOR SURE TO BE HOME LOVER

Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Green Are Much Alike.

BY MARCIA WINN.

The wives of the two candidates for mayor of Chicago are amazingly similar.

Both have beauty. Both seem wrapped up in their homes. Both talk of little other than their husbands and their children. Both are conservative in dress, quiet in speech, self-possessed and gracious of manner. Both shrink from publicity, and both are dismayed at the inroads politics makes into the order of their households.

Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, wife of the Democratic candidate, is tall, slender, gentle. Her dark hair, parted in the center, imparts a madonna quality to her face. Her eyes are blue and serene, a serenity often underlaid with laughter.

Three Children Her "Hobby."

She speaks shyly, almost deprecatingly of herself, but talks easily of the mayor, whom she married seventeen years ago, and of their three children, Joseph and Patricia, the twins, who are 12, and Stephen, who is 8. She has few, if any, other interests.

She rarely appears in public. Two, possibly three, times a year she accompanies the mayor to official banquets. She confesses a vast ignorance of politics.

"I don't know anything about it," she said, "so I can't get interested. I've never tried to get interested. I have my hobby—three children."

The hurdy-gurdy, as she termed it, of election day forced her to bed. Even after six years of being a mayor's wife, she cannot cope with large congratulatory crowds, or with the staccato excitement of primary day. When asked whether she wanted her husband to remain in office another four years, she sighed and unclasped her hands, which had been folded quietly in her lap.

What He Likes, She Likes.

"Well," she said finally, "whatever he likes is all right with me. I just fall in line, but he really can stand more than any one else."

She never attempts to advise him, she said, on anything except his health; such matters as when to put on long underwear or heavy shoes. "He wouldn't even hear me," she smiled, "if I advised him on anything else."

Her day, every day, is an intensely domestic one. She likes to sew, and sews a great deal; she likes to knit, to crochet, to execute petit-point.

"I really don't do much of anything, from a modern standpoint," she lamented. "I don't attend bridge parties or luncheons. I am on the go all day long and never sit down, just doing little things around the house. Somehow the day just flies.

Mayor's Time Isn't His Own.

"I never start anything until Ed gets out in the morning. He eats at 7:30, no matter when he gets in. More often than not he comes home to luncheon, and I never go to bed until he gets home at night, even if it is 2:30 in the morning.

"I don t go out much at night. I'll sit and read or do cross-word puzzles or sew—some dumb thing," she added apologetically.

"We run an unusual household. I never know what time Ed may be coming home to dinner. It is generally around 7:30, and he may bring three or four extra persons, so we have to be ready, although, as a rule, we don't entertain much.

"Really, I can't ever count on anything," Margaret Kelly concluded. "One year I gave a birthday dinner for Ed and it took him three months to save a night. Then they forgot at the office and booked him for a speech somewhere. I wouldn't give in because I had asked for that night for so long."

Mrs. Green Samples Politics.

Mrs. Dwight H. Green, wife of the Republican candidate, is now under going her first experience with what Mrs. Kelly has borne for six or more years. She isn't quite sure whether she likes it or not, but she is quite willing to give it a test.

Her name is Mabel Victoria, but to many childhood friends she is known as "Tory." Her husband, whom she calls "Pete" or "Poppy," calls her "Mommie," as do many of her friends in Chicago.

She is a young, pretty woman, with merry, rather mischievous china blue eyes, a wide mouth, usually curved into a smile, and chestnut hair, which she wears in a long bob. She is about the same height as her husband, a comparatively short man, and carries herself proudly. She speaks slowly and reflectively.

She married Dwight Green in June, 1926, in Washington, where they met. She fell in love first with his voice, she said, when, at a friend's insistence, he telephoned her. They were married six months later. They have two children, Nancy, who is 11, and Gloria, 7, who is ill in their apartment at 3400 Lake Shore drive with a streptococcic infection.

Enjoys Ward Meetings.

"I'm more interested in politics now than I was two months ago," Mrs. Green confessed yesterday. "I've been to a few ward meetings, and they were—well, they really were quite thrilling, the way every one applauded and stood up when Dwight came in."

However, she added, she would rather stay home. She has tried to keep her household intact, but during the recent campaign her husband slept at headquarters in the La Salle hotel.

"He commuted home for the weekends," Mrs. Green said wryly, "but I guess we won't see him at all for the next five weeks. He can't stop at all now."

Mrs. Green was rather excited about the primary election Tuesday ["excited, but confident," she hastened to add], but her daughters were completely without qualms or nerves, she said. The children's explanation was: "He's the best looking man. All the ladies will vote for him."

Telephone Keeps Her Jumping.

The principal flaw in pre-primary days at the Green home, she said, was the telephone. It rang constantly. The callers wanted to know how to vote, when to vote, where to vote.

Mrs. Green is slightly more active than Mrs. Kelly. She plays a little afternoon bridge, and is an active worker for the Arden Shore association, which, she says, is "my one great outside interest." She is a member of its Chicago board.

Although very much of a modern in dress and speech, she makes one concession to sentiment. On a charm bracelet she wears her first baby ring, which her daughter Nancy also wore; a tiny gold heart; a tiny enamel pansy with a pearl heart and a small gold baby carriage. She now plans to add an elephant to the array. "One with the trunk up," she said, "and going places."

The two wives have several other attributes in common. Both love golf. Both once were talented pianists, but never touch a keyboard now. Both are reluctant to discuss their age.

"Sometimes," Mrs. Green said solemnly, "I feel as old as God. Sometimes I feel as young as Gloria. Right now? . . . O, very young. Not as young as my children, but almost."

RUBY BENNETT.

Seven women entertainers seized Tuesday night in a police raid on a stag party in the Midland hotel, 172 West Adams street, were arraigned before Judge Oscar S. Caplan yesterday. Police said five of the women, scantily clad, were singing risque songs before a gathering of 200 men.

Caroline Barker, 25 years old, was sentenced to thirty days in the Bridewell. Cases of Louise Bingham, 23; Ruby Bennett, 22; Jean Allen, 23, and Sonya Costello, 26, were continued to March 16. The other two women, who were on the stage, were dismissed.

Harry Block, 49, of 3724 Eastwood avenue, alleged sponsor of the show who was charged with disorderly conduct, was freed for insufficient evidence, as was Max Waldman, 49, of 7935 Essex avenue. Police said he was selling beer without a license. The 200 customers were sent home by the raiding squads.

THREE CANDIDATES FOR MAYOR PRAISE TRIBUNE'S FAIRNESS

Three mayoralty candidates thanked THE TRIBUNE yesterday for its fairness in the primary election campaign.

Dwight H. Green, nominated by the Republicans, said: "I am very happy over the treatment THE TRIBUNE accorded my campaign. It was exceptionally fair in everything written about me. I am deeply appreciative of this treatment."

Mayor Edward J. Kelly, renominated by the Democrats, said: "THE TRIBUNE was fair in every respect in its stories of my campaign. It printed the news every day."

Thomas J. Courtney, the other Democratic candidate said: "I want to thank THE TRIBUNE for the fairness it showed in its news columns toward my candidacy."

KELLY WILL REST IN SOUTH; GREEN TO TAKE STUMP

G. O. P. Nominee Starts Campaign Tomorrow.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Dwight H. Green and Mayor Kelly, the winners in Tuesday's primaries who will face each other in the mayoral election on April 4, relaxed yesterday after their strenuous campaigns. And their managers and lieutenants were quick to follow the example.

With a landslide in each of the party contests, there was little mopping up to be done. The election board did its part by postponing the official canvass of the vote until this morning.

Green Will Speak Tomorrow.

Republican Nominee Green conferred with his advisers about opening his election campaign immediately. Decisions already made are that he will start out with a radio speech tomorrow evening and that the first big gathering to get things started will be a rally of all precinct captains and workers in the Auditorium theater next Tuesday.

Mayor Kelly was busy with city business, including an afternoon meeting of the city council. He said he didn't care to talk politics again until he returns from Florida next week. He left for Miami Beach with Mrs. Kelly last night.

The mayor also was kept busy receiving and acknowledging congratulations which showered on him in all forms—personal visits, telephone calls, telegrams, and letters. Some of the telegrams were made public. They included messages from a number of national leaders, as well as such local lights as ward committeemen who supported his opponent, State's Attorney Courtney.

Courtney Men Fall in Line.

Three of the six ward committeemen who supported Courtney sent telegrams to Mayor Kelly that were construed as promises of Kelly support for the April election. They were Public Administrator Martin J. O'Brien, 29th; Sanitary District Trustee John J. Touhy, 27th, and Joseph H. Donahue, 47th.

Post mortems of the unofficial figures of the police returns were infrequent the day after the voting because the totals were in so early Tuesday night that they had been analyzed in every way imaginable before dawn. Those first conclusions were borne out so thoroughly by less hurried examination so that there was no important departure from the original conclusions. There were still a few precincts missing from all the tabulations.

The subject most discussed was whether Mayor Kelly had received a majority of all votes cast on Tuesday. It was found that 1,205,421 votes were cast for the six Democratic and Republican candidates for mayor. Of these Mayor Kelly received 607,180 and the combined votes of the other five totaled 598,241. This gave the mayor a majority of 8,939 in the unofficial returns, or, in other terms, 50.378 per cent of all the votes cast for mayor.

77 Per Cent for Democrats.

The actual number of ballots cast in the two party primaries was 1,224,290—more than were ever cast before in Chicago in any city, county, state, or national primary. The Democrats cast 942,977 of these, or more than any party ever cast in any primary of any kind in Chicago. That was 77 per cent of the total. The total Republican vote was 281,313, or more than twice the all-time low of 128,507 recorded in the last mayoral primary in 1935.

The total vote of 1,224,290 was 67 per cent of the total registration of 1,827,362. This percentage has been beaten in only three of the seven mayoral nomination contests since the direct primary system was established in Illinois in 1911. The percentage, it is believed, would be much higher except for the large number of dead names left on the poll lists under the permanent registration system, which provides for no house to house revision.

Mayor Kelly's total vote, 607,180, was 65.21 per cent of the Democratic vote. Green's total was 77.27 of the Republican vote, showing that the latter defeated his only opponent by considerably better than 3 to 1.

The analysis showed that 19,957 persons who voted for mayoral candidates did not accept aldermanic ballots. That averages approximately 400 to a ward.

2 MICHIGAN CITY GUARDS FIRED IN KILLER'S ESCAPE

Two guards whose carelessness is alleged to have enabled Paul Pierce, serving a life sentence as a murderer, to escape from the Michigan City, Ind., state prison, have been dismissed. They are Anthony Firanek and Guy Comer.

Pierce fled from the prison on Feb. 20, and there has been no trace of him since. The prison authorities believe he hid in a trunk hauled from the institution in a truck. Firanek was the truck driver and Comer the guard at the north gate. Investigation disclosed, it was said, that Firanek did not search the trunk when it was loaded on the vehicle, and that Comer was negligent in not making a thorough inspection.

ANTICIPATING NATURE

By CALEB

EVEN while bleak February and March are still in our midst, nostalgia hits hundreds of Spring-lovers. And for every such flower-hungry heart there is balm, a beauteous abundance of it, in the fact that an Italian flower-lover, named D'Agnillo, settled some years ago in Providence, R. I., and determined to become Nature's silent partner . . . duplicating her glories via man's own cunning.

How well he succeeded, the head of our second-floor Wabash flower section is always ready to communicate. It is one of her favorite stories: that of the Chicago florist who thought he was buying Nature's handiwork, not man's—until, on inquiry, he was advised otherwise. Reluctantly he canceled his order, but insisted he wouldn't have believed it! "You see," she explained, "D'Agnillo and his five hundred green-smocked women artisans permit no details to escape them. That is why the invariable result is a masterpiece."

Flanked at one end by sundials, bird-baths, jardinieres, and other accessories of Le printemps—here is the effulgence of the gayest garden unfurled for one's gleaning. Forsythia, that yellow-belled harbinger which nods in our parks long before the first leaf, joins with a myriad neighbors to swell the chorus of bloom. Similar wooers of eye and spirit are larkspur and lilac, cyclamen and hydrangea . . . California poppy, delphinium, ragged sailor, cardinal climber, dogwood, moonflower, tulip, rhubrum lily, narcissus, daffodil and morning glory: all conspire a "Spring Symphony" of color that literally inundates these pleasant aisles. One almost overlooks, in his eagerness, the quieter English wallflower, reminiscent of baskets on London sidewalks, and English cottage-gardens.

Interesting in its own right is the incident of the buyer who air-mailed Mexican bougainvillea and other tropical blooms to Field's for reproduction in time to enter this display. As is also the presence of real African violet clusters, complete with jardinieres and appropriate containers, which many mistake for reproductions . . . or the acacia blossoms made to our own specifications in France.

"Anticipating Nature to gratify human nature," is one customer's whimsical description of our Spring floral show. From small-space beginnings during the Century of Progress Exposition, this section has steadily grown until now there is, to our knowledge, no finer display in the country. We like to think of it as a focus from which April beauty radiates to thousands of winterbound homes.

FREEDOM SOUGHT FOR TWO PALS OF RELEASED KILLER

New Ruling by High Court to Be Asked.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

Legal maneuvers were started yesterday to effect the release from the penitentiary by habeas corpus writs of the two companions of Raymond Scott, convicted murderer and robber. This action may clear up the recent Illinois Supreme court decision in Scott's case. Scott was freed last week by Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court.

Judge McKinley yesterday refused to issue writs for Lawrence Ogden and Alan Goldstein, Scott's companions in 1928 in the robbery and murder of Dr. George W. Thilo. He referred the case to Judge Francis Wilson of the Supreme court from the Cook county district.

Will Seek New Hearing.

Following a conference in Judge Wilson's chambers between the judge, Assistant Attorney Generals George S. Levin, and Jerome F. Dixon, State Senator Abraham Marowitz, representing Goldstein, and Attorney Samuel Rinella, representing Ogden, it was indicated that steps will be taken to have the Supreme court grant a rehearing in the Scott case and give a new opinion.

Meanwhile Goldstein and Ogden, who were sentenced at the same time as Scott, and in like degree, will not be allowed to join Scott in freedom. They will be kept in the county jail until final decision is made on the procedure necessary to clear up what lawyers say is a muddled legal situation.

Assistant Attorneys General Lavin and Dixon warned yesterday that 243 prisoners now in Pontiac reformatory might be eligible to release if the legal principles expounded by those concerned with the Scott case are allowed to go unchallenged. It is for that reason, they told Judge McKinley yesterday, that they are anxious to coöperate in any procedure that would allow a quick decision on the issues involved.

Physician Robbed and Slain.

The history of the case begins in 1928 when Dr. Thilo, a northwest side physician, was robbed while making a call. During the robbery he was assaulted by the robbers. Scott, Goldstein, and Ogden were rounded up as a part of a gang that committed many robberies. They were convicted of robbing Dr. Thilo and sentenced to terms of one to twenty years each in Pontiac reformatory.

The defendants admitted the robbery, but denied the assault. They claimed Dr. Thilo stumbled. The men were not indicted for murder until after Dr. Thilo died several months later and the Chicago Medical society and his widow charged a laxity on the part of the law enforcing officials.

The three were brought back from Pontiac on writs to testify, and then were tried for murder, convicted and sentenced to 14 years each in the penitentiary. They were transferred from Pontiac, where they started to serve their robbery sentences, to Stateville penitentiary to serve the murder sentences.

Scott and his two companions served the maximum of the murder sentence with time off for good behavior. They were kept at the penitentiary after these sentences expired in June of last year on the theory that they were then resuming the interrupted robbery sentences.

Laws Changed in 1933.

Changes in the laws regarding the state prison system were enacted by the legislature in 1933, while the trio were still in the penitentiary. This change placed all state prisons under the state department of welfare and gave that department the power to shift prisoners from one institution to another if their behavior or records waranted. State Superintendent of Prisons Joseph Ragen was placed in control of all institutions.

Warden Ragen apparently believed he had the power to keep Scott, Ogden, and Goldstein in the Stateville penitentiary to complete the robbery sentences, instead of sending them to Pontiac, the reformatory specified by Judge John P. McGoorty when the three were sentenced for robbery. At the time of the robbery sentences the judge had the power to fix the place of incarceration. Under the changed law the state welfare department distributes the prisoners.

Last September, discovering an apparent legal loophole, Attorneys Mordi R. Kallick and Milroy Blowitz filed a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Scott, alleging that Warden Ragen was illegally holding him at Joliet penitentiary, when he had been sentenced to Pontiac. Attorneys Marowitz [then not a state senator] and Rinella, representing Goldstein and Ogden, agreed to hold in abeyance any action on their clients pending a decision in Scott's case.

Held Illegally, Judge Rules.

Judge Michael McKinley proceeded to a hearing on the Scott writ. After a thorough examination of the authorities and law Judge McKinley ruled Scott was illegally held by Warden Ragen and was entitled to his discharge from the penitentiary. The state's attorney's office made no move to appeal the decision, but the attorney general's staf filed a petition in the Supreme court to force Judge McKinley to expunge his order and send Scott back to prison.

Scott meanwhile was at liberty. Admittedly without warants, he was seized two weeks ago by the police and turned over to Warden Ragen. He was held at the penitentiary and then suddenly transferred to Pontiac. A new writ for Scott's release was issued by Judge McKinley. It was then disclosed that Warden Ragen, acting on advance information, arrested Scott on a state Supreme court decision, which was publicly filed three days later. Judge McKinley charged a "leak" in the reviewing court and cited Ragen for contempt. This matter still is pending.

The Supreme court in its decision refused to expunge Judge McKinley's discharge order. It said: "It is clear that Judge McKinley did not err in discharging Scott." However, in the decision the reviewing court discussed at length the various phases of the prison act changes.

What Supreme Court Said.

Excerpts from the Supreme court decision are as follows:

"It is a rule of general acceptance by courts of this country that a sentence of punishment for crime may be satisfied only by actual service of the imprisonment imposed, unless remitted by death or some legal authority. It cannot, therefore, be said that the sentences for robbery were suspended during Scott's incarceration.

"The people of the entire state have an interest in the detention and punishment of those convicted of crime and the public interest cannot be made subservient to illegal acts of officers, who have charge of such prisoners. Had Scott been returned to the reformatory upon completion of his sentence under the murder charge, he would not, under the holdings in the cases just cited, be entitled to discharge on habeas corpus. This, however, was not done."

Judge McKinley in open court admitted he was puzzled by the Supreme court decision. The lawyers did not seem to be able to give a clear interpretation, so the judge called in Attorney Walter Bachrach, one of the leading members of the bar, and asked him to interpret as a friend of the court. He said Scott was entitled to his discharge because the Supreme court did not expunge the judge's order, and, anyhow, there is no reformatory now in Illinois.

Pontiac Now a Penitentiary.

In its Scott decision the Supreme court had held that a sentence to the penitentiary "renders the convict infamous, while a sentence to the reformatory carries with it no such result." Attorneys therefore contend that a man sentenced to the reformatory cannot be transferred to a penitentiary.

Under the new prison law Pontiac is designated as a penitentiary, leaving the state without a reformatory. Assistant Attorney General Lavin, however, contends that despite the prison consolidation act, Pontiac, to all intents and purposes, remains a reformatory, and must be so considered despite its renaming as a penitentiary. He said if this contention is not upheld then every person sentenced to Pontiac prior to the new act would be entitled to his liberty.

"There is a lot of doubt and ambiguity in that decision," remarked Judge McKinley yesterday to the lawyers as they again tried to figure out just what the Supreme court meant. It was so agreed by all the lawyers and it was then decided to try to get the reviewing court to amplify its findings.

300 STARVING ON ISLE ISOLATED BY STORM; RADIO PLEA FOR FOOD

DUBLIN, March 1.—(AP)—Faint wireless signals from stormbound Tory Island off the northwest coast of Ireland disclosed tonight that starvation was facing the 300 inhabitants, who have been isolated by storms for five weeks.

Arrow locates island on which 300 are starving.

A message received at Lough Swilly said: "We are starving. Send food immediately. Sickness approaching. Children ill with influenza."

Though the island is only twelve miles from the mainland, relief ships have not been able to weather the storms. An army plane took off today with supplies, but was forced back by bad weather.

MANIAC HUNTED FOR ATTACK ON GIRL, 21, IN AUTO

Jefferson Park police hunted last night for a maniac who attacked a young woman in his automobile, beat her with a crank handle, and pushed her out on a northwest side prairie after attempting to rape her.

The girl, 21 years old, was in Augustana hospital last night suffering from a skull fracture, an injury to her spine, and a scalp wound. She got into the car Tuesday evening near her home on Oriole avenue, thinking it belonged to a friend. The driver held her when she tried to leap out after discovering her mistake, and took her to Waveland and Paris avenues, a lonely intersection near the city limits.

He tore her clothes and broke her glasses in a savage attack when she resisted. A passerby heard her cries and summoned police, who found her wandering dazedly at Irving Park road and Oriole avenue. They took her home and she was later taken to the hospital.

USES CUSTOMER AS SHIELD TO ROB A CROWDED BAR

A slim young bandit who used a customer as a shield produced a long barreled pistol last night in a tavern at 775 South State street. He ordered the bartender, Harry Schliman, to give him the money from both cash registers.

Schliman laid $50, mostly in $1 bills, on the bar. "Put it in a paper bag, or I won't take it," the bandit said.

"That's all right with me," said the bartender. "Don't take it then." But he changed his mind as the robber's finger seemed to tighten on the trigger. He found the necessary bag.

The bandit walked out with no interference from any of the twenty-five patrons.

DEMOCRATS DECIDE TO DEBATE OLD AGE PENSIONS IN HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Democratic leaders have decided, tentatively, to throw the old age pension problem before the house at this session of congress, it was learned today.

The ways and means committee has been conducting hearings for weeks on the wide assortment of plans and proposals to care for the nation's aged. The hearings will continue at least two weeks longer, according to reports, but an agreement already has been reached by the Democratic majority on the committee concerning the course to be pursued regarding the touchy and politically dangerous question.

The committee, it was learned, will report adversely the Townsend plan, as modified in the general welfare act sponsored by Representative Harry R. Sheppard [D., Cal], thus throwing the measure before the house for consideration.

VOTERS RECALL MIAMI MAYOR AND 2 OF AIDS

Miami, Fla., March 1.—(AP)—Incomplete returns tonight showed Miami had removed its mayor and two city commissioners from office in a recall election. The vote was about four to one for the ouster.

Mayor Robert R. Williams and Commissioners John M. Dubose and Ralph B. Ferguson were the officials.

The recall movement was started last March after the officials were indicted for soliciting a $250,000 bribe from the Florida Power and Light company to settle out of court a rate case that subsequently was decided in the United States Supreme court in the city's favor.

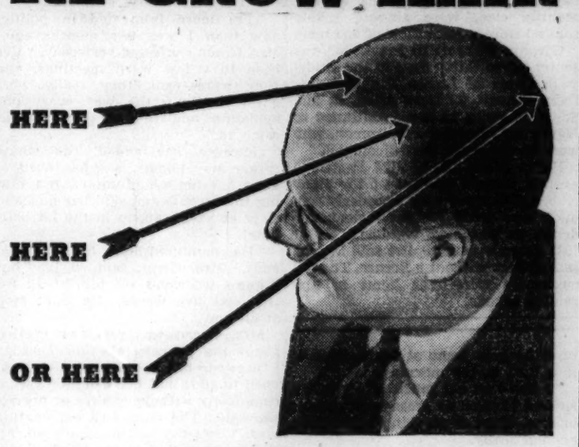
RE-GROW HAIR



• • • Science has found that the hair-growing structure (papilla) remains alive and ready to respond to proper stimulative treatment even long after hair has disappeared from the scalp.

Thomas has perfected a method of stimulating this dormant hair-growing structure to normal activity. First, Thomas treatment removes the causes of inactivity (usually one or more of 14 local scalp disorders) and then skillfully supplies the necessary stimulation and thus makes it possible for the hair to gain sufficient strength to push through the follicle and become visible again on the scalp.

Come in person to the nearest Thomas office TODAY and learn more about this precise, reliable method of growing hair, stopping hair-fall, and ending dandruff. No charge will be made for consultation or scalp examination. You will not be accepted for treatment unless your case comes within the scope of Thomas methods.

U. S. BOARD CHIEF RIPS AID'S RADIO CENSOR CHARGES

Defends New Procedure on Judging Programs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—The smoldering warfare in the communications commission burst into flame today, with Chairman Frank R. McNinch making a virulent attack on a member of the commission.

McNinch, who was delegated by President Roosevelt to reform the commission, assailed Commissioner T. A. M. Craven for charges Craven made in opposing a procedure on judging programs adopted yesterday by the commission. Craven is slated to be legislated out of office if congress passes the McNinch bill to reduce the commission to three members.

In a minority report, Craven asserted that the procedure to be followed by the commission opens the way to a degree of government censorship of radio which would infringe constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech. The method adopted was recommended in the majority report made by Commissioners Eugene O. Sykes and George H. Payne.

Charges Misrepresentation.

"Articles published in a limited number of newspapers today, especially one credited to the Chicago Tribune Press Service," said Chairman McNinch in his official statement, "thoroughly misrepresent the commission's action on program complaint procedure on Feb. 28. They call for correction even though the publications are partly explained by the incitement of gratuitous, alarmist statements by Commissioner T. A. M. Craven in a one man minority report.

"Commissioner Craven, by implication, attacked the intelligence, the integrity, and the motives of the other six commissioners, to execute a grand stand play of devotion to free speech and opposed to censorship. The simple fact is that the commission adopted a report clarifying and formalizing the staf procedure for handling informal complaints and presenting them to the commission.

"Nowhere is there any color of the commission's 'widening its field of censorship.'

Asks for References.

"Commissioner Craven has much to say of the dangers of censorship. What, if any, actions of the commission could he refer to? In the only two cases which have even been conspicuously attacked on the alleged ground—Mae West and 'Beyond the Horizon'—Commissioner Craven was a party to the actions.

"Commissioner Craven says in thousands of words that he favors avoidance of censorship, free speech, due regard for the authority of other federal agencies, full discussion of political questions, and privately owned and competitive broadcasting. Who doesn't? A committee report to his associates on 'procedure'—not on policies—is hardly an appropriate setting for a stump speech and flag waving. And such treatment is highly unjust to the other six commissioners."

Commissioner Craven declined to reply to the McNinch attack.

INDICT OWNERS OF NIGHT CLUBS IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., March 1.—[Special.]—Operators of some of Kansas City's brightest night spots have been indicted on liquor law charges, it was revealed today.

Among the clubs involved in 110 indictments returned by the grand jury are the Chesterfield, widely known for its business men's luncheon shows; the Winnie Winkle, said to feature strip tease dancers; Mary's Place, a suburban dine and dance retreat, and the Stork club.

Disclosure of the night club indictments in a Kansas City cleanup drive followed the arraignment of Charles Carrolla, described by Federal Judge Albert Reeves as the power behind Kansas City gambling, and two county officials who gained office with the backing of Boss Tom Pendergast's Democratic machine.

LABOR HAILS BAN ON SITDOWNS AS BLOW TO LEWIS

Conservatives Foresee Decline of C. I. O.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

The action of the United States Supreme court Monday in outlawing the sitdown strike was interpreted by conservative labor leaders yesterday as another milestone in the decline of John L. Lewis and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The sitdown strike was primarily a weaper of the C. I. O. It was an imported innovation used widely in France in 1935. It was first used in America on a large scale in the autumn of 1936 when the United Automobile Workers of America, the C. I. O. union in the motor industry, called strikes in Georgia and Indiana.

Red Influences Blamed.

The communistic influences now disrupting the U. A. W. A. are the same ones that forced the big General Motors corporation sitdown strikes of 1937 before the union was ready for them. The radicals in the U. A. W. A. who touched off the General Motors strikes are those who are contesting the union leadership with Homer Martin, president. These same radicals have the support of Lewis in their efforts to control the union.

The wave of sitdowns reached a peak two years ago this month. In March, 1937, there were 170 such strikes. By the end of that year, however, they had dwindled and almost disappeared. They were outlawed by public opinion long before they were outlawed by the Supreme court.

48 Sitdowns in 1936.

According to labor department statistics, there were forty-eight sitdown strikes in the country in 1936. They involved 87,815 workers. The total number of strikes that year was 2,172.

In 1937, however, one of every ten strikes in the country was of the sitdown variety. The labor department reported a total of 477 sitdowns out of a total of 4,740 strikes. The 477 sitdowns involved 398,117 workers.

There were forty-eight sitdown strikes in the first eleven months of 1938, the labor department reported. These involved 27,565 workers, although only a portion of them actually participated.

Several of the biggest 1937 strikes were sitdowns, notably the General Motors and Chrysler corporation affairs. Unions affiliated with the C. I. O. were involved in nearly 300 of the 477 sitdown strikes that year.

One-Day Strikes Excluded.

The statistics do not include strikes that lasted less than one day. The auto and rubber industries during 1937 were plagued by a flood of sitdowns which lasted from a few minutes to several hours. One rubber concern in Akron, O., reported having more than fifty of such stoppages.

In some of the sitdowns, the workers stayed in the plants for only a few days and then walked out voluntarily. In others, employers obtained court injunctions, and the strikers were removed forcibly from the plants. In still others, notably in Michigan, strikers barricaded themselves in the plants in defiance of court orders which state authorities made no move to enforce.

The Fansteel Metallurgical corporation strike in North Chicago, on which the Supreme court issued its opinion, was one in which the workers were evicted by civil authorities on court orders. The Supreme court ruled that an employer is justified in discharging workers who seize the property, and that such seizure is illegal. The court also refused to review contempt of court convictions of thirty-nine men arising from the strike in 1937.

Officials of Lake county yesterday were awaiting formal notice of the court action before proceeding against the defendants. Thirty-seven of the men were sentenced to 10 to 180 days in jail and fined $100 to $300. Eighteen of them already have served their terms. Nineteen others and two organizers, Meyer Adelman and Oakley Mills, appealed. Adelman faces an eight months' sentence and a $1,000 fine. Mills was sentenced to six months and fined $500.

Although the automobile industry was the scene of the biggest sitdown strikes, the largest number of sitdowns in 1937 was in the textile industry. There were eighty sitdowns in textile plants, compared to forty-five in auto plants and auto parts factories.

1937 Strikes Classified.

Following is a labor department tabulation of sitdown strikes by industrial groups in 1937:

Machinery	26
Iron and steel and their products	32
Transportation equipment (including 45 in auto plants)	51
Nonferrous metals and their products	17
Lumber and allied products	13
Stone, clay, and glass products	6
Textiles and their products	80
Leather and its manufactures	21
Food and kindred products	19
Tobacco products	13
Paper and printing	24
Chemical and allied products	10
Rubber products	10
Miscellaneous manufacturing	25
Mining	3
Transportation and communication	45
Trade	25
Domestic and personal service	25
Professional service	7
Building and construction	3
Agriculture	2
WPA, relief and resettlement projects	11
Other nonmanufacturing	9
Total	477

Two persons are most prominently linked in the public mind with the sitdown strike. They are Lewis and Frank Murphy, who recently was named attorney general of the United States following his defeat for reelection as governor of Michigan.

Murphy's defeat was attributed in a large measure to his attitude on the sitdown strike.

He was accused of coddling C. I. O. strikers. Not only did strikers hold Michigan automobile plants in defiance of court orders but when state troops were called out they simply lined up in front of the plant held by the strikers and made no move to evict the illegal occupants.

Sitdowners Hit by Green.

American Federation of Labor leaders have frequently denounced the sitdown strike as illegal. William Green, A. F. of L. president, speaking in Chicago a year ago, said:

"No one more than the American Federation of Labor condemns the recent spectacle of certain self-constituted leaders of labor, not functioning under the banner of the A. F. of L., who preached and practiced a disregard of contractual obligations, who encourage sitdown strikes, mutiny on the high seas, the destruction of private property, and the capture of cities."

Green said that in instances where unauthorized sitdown strikes were called by A. F. of L. unions they were denounced by federation leaders and immediate steps were taken to release the properties.

NEW DIRECTOR NAMED FOR CHICAGO REGION LABOR BOARD OFFICE

Appointment of Garnet L. Patterson as Chicago regional director for the National Labor Relations board was announced yesterday in Washington. He succeeds Leonard C. Bajork, who resigned to enter business as a labor relations counsel.

Patterson has been with the labor board for four years in various capacities, in the board's Detroit and Seattle offices. He left his board post in 1937 to become a municipal judge in Akron, O., and in November of that year was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for mayor of the city.

In his Chicago post he will have jurisdiction over northern Illinois and northern Indiana.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

ADMITS SLAYING COUPLE, DRIVING OFF IN THEIR CAR

Seized in Pool Hall, Denies Raping Victims' Child.

Vandalia, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—A young farm hand signed a confession tonight in which he admitted slaying an Indiana farm couple during the drunken celebration of his birthday. He also is accused of raping the couple's daughter, 12 years old, after the killings early today, but this he denied.

Clifford Redmond. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The slayer, Clifford Redmond, 27 years old, was captured at nearby Ramsey, Ill., after a 200 mile flight from the scene of the crime at Edinburg, Ind. Arrested with him was Gerald Nottingham, 17 years old, whom he picked up at Mattoon, Ill., on his way to Ramsey.

The two are being held in the county jail here for Indiana state policemen, who are to take them to Indianapolis. Officers said Nottingham apparently had nothing to do with the crime, but will be held as a witness.

Slayer Denies Any Plot.

Redmond said that for four years he had worked intermittently for his victims, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brand, on their farm near Edinburg. He denied having any motive for the slayings, insisting he was so drunk he didn't know what he was doing.

A fifteen year old girl told of selling his hound dog for $5 yesterday in order to get money to celebrate his birthday. Last night he went to several taverns in Edinburg where he bought drinks and accepted others bought by friends.

He arrived at the Brand farm shortly before midnight and found the farmer, his wife, and their three children asleep. Redmond said he went to his room, got his .22 caliber rifle, and crept into the bedroom where Brand and his wife lay.

Without awakening the couple, he shot them both and then beat their bodies with the weapon until he broke it. Gloria, 12 years old, who was sleeping in an adjoining room with two other children—Tommy, 10, and Judith, 13—said she heard a shot and then a groan, but was too frightened to investigate.

Girl Tells of Crime.

A few moments later, the girl said, Redmond entered her room and raped her. Afraid to leave the room after her attacker fled, she remained in bed until daylight and then ran for help. A neighbor, to whose home she ran crying hysterically, summoned a physician and authorities.

Redmond said he took Brand's three year old car and drove to Indianapolis. Then he went to Mattoon, where he ate breakfast at the Nottingham home and induced Gerald to show him the way to Ramsey.

Redmond visited his brother and then went to a pool hall in Ramsey. There Policeman Frank Sinning, who had been notified that the slayer probably would go to Ramsey, arrested the two young men. In the Brand car, which Redmond had parked near the pool hall, police found the blood-stained death weapon. Redmond surrendered without resistance and confessed readily.

Farm Couple Slain

(Story in adjoining column.)

1. Edinburg, Ind., near where couple was slain on farm by assailant who then attacked their 12 year old daughter. 2. Where former employe of slain couple was arrested in their auto. He confessed.

LEGISLATIVE QUIZ AT ST. CHARLES TO BEGIN TODAY

A legislative committee will go to the St. Charles School for Boys in Kane county today to find out what is wrong with the reform institution. Frequent escapes and numerous crimes committed by graduates of the unwalled school are the reasons for the investigation.

A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare, will attend the meeting. He favors the inquiry.

If the institution is permitted to continue as it is now operated, the committee may recommend that some of the cottages be enclosed within a wall. This would allow segregation of the incorrigibles and hardened criminals from the other inmates.

Offenses committed by each inmate—regardless of what the formal charge may have been—will be studied by the committee. A report will be submitted to the legislature by June 1.

ATTEMPT TO FIX JUROR IN HINES TRIAL EXPOSED

Speculate on Tammany Boss' Sentence.

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey announced today the arrest of a man he said had told the wife of Juror No. 6 in the recent Hines trial that it would be made worth her husband's while if everything came out all right for James J. Hines, Tammany boss.

Hines, chief patronage dispenser for the Roosevelt administration in Manhattan and an early, before Chicago, Roosevelt supporter in 1932, was convicted on Saturday of selling political protection to the notorious Dutch Schultz policy racketeers.

Dewey described the man under arrest as Henry J. Ficke of Brooklyn. He said Ficke had been arrested on an information charging embracery and attempt to communicate with a juror. He said that the man formerly was employed as a guard by the Holmes Electric Protective company, of which the juror, Harry H. Coon, is the night manager.

Phones Juror's Wife.

According to Dewey, Ficke made his attempt to influence the juror through Mrs. Coon on Feb. 1. He telephoned to her to ask for an interview, and she, believing his call was about her husband's job, arranged to see him in her home.

When he appeared there, according to Dewey, he told her that if the verdict was all right on behalf of Hines it would be worth Mr. Coon's while.

Mrs. Coon, according to the district attorney, immediately notified Dewey and Judge Charles C. Nott Jr.

The Holmes company discharged Ficke. The charges against him being misdemeanors, he will be arraigned in the Court of Special Sessions.

Sentences Arouse Interest.

Meanwhile, considerable interest was being shown in the sentences to be given to Hines and to J. Richard Davis and Harry Schoenhaus, who gave state's evidence against him.

Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, former Tammany assistant district attorney, who ended the first Hines trial by declaring a mistrial on a technicality, reserved the right to sentence Davis and Schoenhaus, because they had pleaded guilty before him.

Because of their service to the state Dewey has promised to recommend leniency for them.

RESUME CHICAGO HUNT FOR MANIAC SWORN TO KILL 3

Chicago police believe Frank Haines, escaped Ohio maniac, still may be hiding in the city and have intensified their search for him. They know he was here as recently as Feb. 18.

This was revealed yesterday in the Criminal court when a jury found William Blatz, one of Haines' associates, insane. Judge Robert Jerome Dunne ordered Blatz sent to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Menard.

Blatz was seized after he robbed a tavern on Feb. 18. Haines, who had been staying with him in a room at 1012 Monroe street, fled, presumably to another Chicago hideout, after Blatz's arrest. He has vowed to kill his wife, now a resident of Chicago, and the two policemen who sent him to prison in 1931.

Haines, Blatz, and three other maniacs escaped New Year's day from the Ohio state hospital for the criminal insane at Lima. Besides Haines, a colored robber from Indianapolis, Marion Pierce, is still at large.

"Can I expect more from Extra Vitamins in FRESH YEAST than from vitamins alone?"

Read why the New High-Vitamin Yeast is such an EFFECTIVE WAY to get extra vitamins . . . why it offers more complete results

When you eat extra vitamins in Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast, you get more than just vitamins alone. This fresh tonic food offers benefits 2 ways

1 SPLENDID AMOUNTS OF 4 VITAMINS

The new, improved High-Vitamin Yeast now gives a richer combination than ever of 4 important vitamins—A, B_1, D and G—needed regularly to help you build up good resistance to colds, for steady nerves and healthy digestion, strong bones and teeth, and to help you feel energetic, buoyantly well.

Studies indicate many people's regular meals do not supply them with vitamins in the good amounts they need to help keep them up to par. That is why it is safest to get extra amounts of all these vitamins every day.

2 REMARKABLE "BOOSTER" ACTION OF FRESH YEAST

Eating these extra vitamins this way in fresh yeast gives a second help many people need. Slow digestion may have been keeping you—like so many others—from properly assimilating the vitamins you eat. This fresh yeast helps to stimulate slow digestion. And this better digestion helps you make fuller use of the vitamins eaten. It "boosts" their assimilation.

Be sure you get enough vitamins. Also, be sure you make full use of the vitamins you eat. Get extra vitamins this effective way—in Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast. Order from your grocer today!

EAT TWO CAKES DAILY FOR . . .

Vitamin A—6200 Units (Int.) Vitamin D—800 Units (Int.)
Vitamin B_1—300 Units (Int.) Vitamin G—100-120 Units (Sh. Bow.)

All the average person needs (in addition to meals) of A, B_1 and D—and a rich supply of the Vitality Vitamin G. Eat one cake ½ hour before breakfast or lunch, one cake ½ hour before supper—plain or in water. Start now.

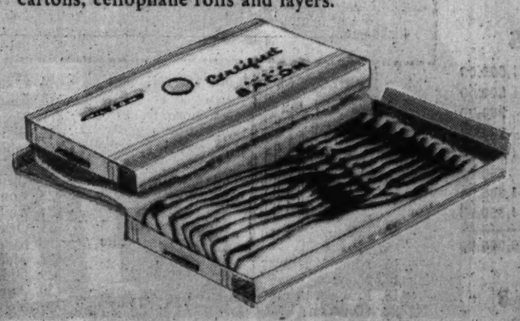
There is no substitute for WILSON'S Tender Made—The Ham You Cut With a Fork.

Boneless Tender Made Ham in Meal-Size Tins

Delicious Tender Made—solid meat with the bone removed—sealed in flavor-saving meal-size tins. Half ham and quarter ham sizes—just right as to amount and cost for the average family.

Wilson's Certified Bacon

Exactly right for today's American tastes. Not too fat—not too lean. Not too mild—not too strong. The perfect bacon for eating with eggs—with liver—with toast—in sandwiches, salads, etc. Available in slabs (your dealer will slice it), or buy it sliced in convenient ½ and 1-lb. cartons, cellophane rolls and layers.



A Rector Recipe—To duplicate the ham illustrated, have ham at room temperature. Place in roaster with 1 cup water, cider or pineapple juice. Cook uncovered in oven pre-heated to 350°F. Allow 7 minutes to the pound. Remove skin. Score fat, dot with cloves and sprinkle with brown sugar. Decorate with candied cherries and pineapple slices if desired. Return to hot oven (400°F) until brown, basting occasionally. Serve with mashed sweet potatoes, heaped in orange shells. Brown under flame. Garnish platter with parsley.

THE HAM YOU CUT WITH A FORK

George Rector's wizardry with food is known to epicures the world over. He knows the secrets of meat flavor and tenderness as few chefs and restaurateurs know them.

Wilson's Tender Made Ham is ham exactly as George Rector would have it—"the ham you cut with a fork"—and the most popular ham in America today, not only with Mr. Rector himself but with millions of lovers of good eating.

Wilson's exclusive Tender Made Ham comes fork-tender, ready to eat. Or you can heat it in 1/5 to 1/4 the usual time. Costly oven shrinkage is reduced to a minimum. Your Tender Made whole ham, butt, shank or steak comes out of the oven practically as you put it in. You save costly cooking loss. You save time. You save fuel. You serve all you buy. And each serving costs you less. That's why Wilson's Tender Made Ham is so surprisingly economical.

RUSSIA CONVICTS 4 OFFICIALS WHO JAILED CHILDREN

Defendants Admit Faking Treason Charges.

MOSCOW, March 1.—[Special.]—Four soviet officials of Leninsk-Kuznetsk were sentenced to prison today. They were found guilty of fraudulently prosecuting school children and of imprisoning some under 12 years of age. The prison terms ranged from five to ten years.

Testimony disclosed that one of the officials, A. I. Savkin, a former agent of NKVD [secret political police] had read espionage and terrorism into every juvenile misdemeanor.

Other defendants were two former NKVD operatives and R. M. Klipp, former city prosecutor.

Defendants Admit Guilt.

An account in the official press disclosed that the defendants told how they framed up school children and obtained their confessions to trumped up treason charges.

The former Leninsk-Kuznetsk NKVD chief, named Lunkov, admitted he and his subordinates fabricated cases against a long list of children—the number is not given—in order to get a reputation for "vigilance" against enemies of the state.

One defendant, a former chief investigator named Belousov, testified Lunkov had told him that if they carried through these cases their authority would soar.

Suppress Children's Age.

To hide the nature of their operations from their superiors they suppressed the children's ages. They gave the impression the children were grown youths arrested not for "fascist terroristic activities," as these children were, but for rowdyism or ordinary criminal behavior.

The testimony of the four defendants disclosed that the arrested children were crowded into cells with common criminals and political offenders. Some were sent to a prison in another city. They slept without bedding and were segregated from their parents and teachers and were questioned singly at night.

Belousov admitted the children never understood his questions. He said that even after a military court had dropped the charges the children were kept in jail eight months for no reason.

Boy of 10 Given Third Degree.

The case of a 10 year old boy was told in detail.

It was after midnight one winter night that the sleepy lad was called up for questioning before the four men. These men pointed their pens at him and asked him strange questions. This went on for several days until the boy was ready to give the desired answers.

"Were you a member of a counter-revolutionary Fascist terrorist organization?" Belousov asked him.

"Yes, I admit my guilt," the boy answered. "I was a member of a counter-revolutionary Fascist organization."

Other questions followed. Did he head this group? Did he begin recruiting members in 1935? The boy was 7 years old in 1935.

But as the newspaper, Soviet Siberia, put it, if he was recruiting members of a terrorist band at the age of 7, at what age before that was he himself recruited—before he was born?

HOUSE ECONOMY BLOC DEFEATED ON TVA PROJECT

Gilbertsville Dam Wins by 9 Votes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—The economy bloc in the house today failed to hold its lines for the first time in the present session. The house voted, 184 to 175, to bow to the senate's insistence upon an $18,306,000 appropriation for the Gilbertsville dam project of the Tennessee Valley authority.

Representative C. I. Faddis, Democrat, fights New Deal dam.

The appropriation was struck out of the TVA appropriation when it first came before the house. The senate restored it, and the measure was then sent to conference. The conferees recommended acceding to the senate action, and today's vote was upon a motion to that end.

A Victory for Sickness.

The motion was carried by a majority of only 9 votes out of 359 votes cast. Voting to restore the slash were 174 Democrats, 6 Republicans, 2 Progressives, 1 Farmer-Laborite and 1 American Laborite, a total of 184. The economy bloc rallied 142 Republicans and 33 Democrats against the appropriation, a total of 175.

The absence of 27 Republicans, mainly on account of illness, helped to defeat the coalition's efforts.

[The $112,000,000 Gilbertsville dam site is in Kentucky, twenty miles from where the Tennessee joins the Cumberland river.]

The administration argued that $5,000,000 has already been spent on the project and that this money would be wasted if the Gilbertsville dam were now abandoned.

TVA Strategy Assailed.

"That argument," remarked Representative Charles I. Faddis [D., Pa.], "reminds me of the man seen pushing a $10 bill through a crack in a board walk. When asked why he was doing it, he answered that he had lost a nickel through the crack and was pushing the $10 under the walk to make it worth while for him to tear up the boards and recover his money.

"The TVA has long and successfully used the strategy of asking for a small appropriation of $2,000,000 to start a project and then coming in later to demand $200,000,000 in order that the $2,000,000 may not be wasted."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

THREAT TO HALT N. Y. CITY'S MILK SUPPLY MOUNTS

Producer-Distributor Row Over Price Continues.

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—Threatened shutting off of New York City's milk supply brought into sharply etched outline today the serious state of confusion in the city's seven state milk sheds, and served to emphasize the serious nature of the division in the ranks of producers and handlers.

This became evident as formal steps were taken by one powerful faction to shut down on the city's supply unless an agreement could be reached on continued payment of prices established under the dual federal-state milk dictatorship which Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace imposed on the $2,000,000,000 a year industry last September.

This dictatorial federal order, and its companion New York state order, was knocked out by two important court decisions last week.

Waver Over Acceptance.

Meantime, dissension among divergent dairy interests increased as dealers wavered over acceptance of a proposal that they comply with all basic provisions of the outlawed marketing agreement pending final court determination. This was the stand taken by 5,000 dairymen in a mass meeting in Syracuse on Monday.

Proponents of voluntary compliance held rallies in several upstate cities today, and spokesmen said the dairymen had decided by a virtually unanimous vote to withhold milk from all dealers who fail by Saturday night to sign contracts continuing the present price structure. The setup has resulted in a price of 16¾ cents a quart for grade A milk delivered to city consumers.

Officers of the big metropolitan bargaining agency, claiming 60,000 members, began preparations to carry out the milk diversion program, and contended that producers would stand solidly behind the strike plan. This was disputed, however, by the dairy farmers' union, which said its 13,000 members, small producers, would not share in a voluntary continuance of the invalidated milk agreement.

CANNED MILK BOOMS

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Growing concern was reported yesterday among the nation's milk producers and distributors over an increasing consumption of evaporated milk and a decrease in the use of fluid milk.

Leaders in the dairy industry were reported studying figures which show that 12 million gallons of milk were produced in the United States in 1938—a new high level—while consumption of fluid milk declined from 1937.

Fluid milk brings the producer more than evaporated milk. The nutritional value of the two products is about the same. The difference in retail price is greatly in favor of evaporated milk. While consumers were cutting down on fluid milk they were boosting evaporated milk sales to an all time high—more than two billion pounds—in 1938. This is double the consumption of fifteen years ago.

Use of Fluid Milk Declines.

It is estimated that the consumption of fluid milk in Chicago has dropped at the rate of approximately one pint per person per month since 1935. Chicagoans are sharing in the increased annual consumption of evaporated milk, which is nearly a billion pounds greater today than it was in 1924. Every time consumers buy seventeen ounces of evaporated milk they buy 34.4 ounces [one quart] less of fluid milk.

Men, women, and children usually prefer fluid milk to evaporated, condensed or powdered milk. But fluid milk is much higher in price than any of these products. Price counts with most consumers. In looking for substitutes for fluid milk they have turned chiefly to evaporated milk.

The search for fluid milk substitutes is being increased among consumers who are forced to pay more for their milk in cities and towns where milk prices are being fixed by law. In reviewing control and price fixing efforts experts report that about twenty fluid milk markets are now operating under the federal Agricultural Adjustment administration. About twenty states have milk price fixing laws.

Production Increases.

The AAA officials have the authority to fix farm milk prices and state milk control boards have the power to fix prices to consumers. Wherever there is a substantial increase in the farm price of milk there is an increase in the price to consumers.

A study of government control operations shows that raising farm prices through price fixing has a tendency to increase production. This increase is being reflected in the record production figures in this country last year.

Increasing prices to consumers through price fixing is discouraging the consumption of fluid milk, and encouraging consumers to use more and more evaporated milk and other lower priced milk products. With farmers increasing production and consumers reducing their use of fluid milk, the dairy farmers' surplus milk burden is increasing.

Food experts advise that the equivalent food value in a quart of fluid whole milk [34.4 ounces] is to be found in any one of these three products: Seventeen ounces of evaporated milk, or four and a half ounces of dried whole milk, or three and a half ounces of dried skim milk plus one and a half ounces of butter.

Prices are Compared.

The following table shows the comparative prices in cents for a quart of fluid milk in the United States and its equivalent in evaporated milk [17 ounces] over the last fifteen years, together with the price spread in favor of evaporated milk, which has increased from 1.6 cents in 1924 to 4.2 cents in 1938.

Year.	Fluid milk retail price per quart.	Evaporated milk retail price per 17 ounces.	Difference in favor of evaporated milk.
1924	13.8	12.2	1.6
1925	14.0	12.1	1.9
1926	14.0	12.2	1.8
1927	14.1	12.2	1.9
1928	14.2	11.9	2.3
1929	14.4	11.5	2.9
1930	14.1	10.7	3.4
1931	12.6	9.6	3.0
1932	10.7	7.9	2.8
1933	10.4	7.6	2.8
1934	11.2	7.8	3.4
1935	11.8	8.1	3.7
1936	12.0	8.9	3.1
1937	12.5	8.9	3.6
1938	12.5	8.3	4.2

Today in Chicago the price difference is even greater. Seventeen ounces of any one of several standard brands of evaporated milk may be bought for 7.4 cents.

Fluid milk delivered to homes costs 12 cents a quart, or 4.6 cents more than its equivalent in evaporated milk. A quart of milk is only 10 cents in city and suburban stores. Even at that price there is a difference of 2.6 cents in favor of evaporated milk.

An equal amount of water added to evaporated milk restores it to the fluid form. Evaporated milk is defined as milk concentrated by evaporation without the addition of sugar to one-half or less of its bulk and usually contains a specific amount of milk fat and milk solids.

Condensed milk is milk concentrated by evaporation with the addition of sugar for preservation. Usually about 40 per cent of cane sugar is added to condensed milk.

Powdered milk is milk concentrated by evaporation to a dry form.

In the dairy industry, condensed, evaporated, or dried milk generally is accepted as being equal in food value to pasteurized whole milk, provided an equal quantity of milk solids is used. It is considered also that the partial destruction of vitamins B1 and C is no greater in milk that has been condensed than in milk that has been pasteurized in the whole fluid form. Dietitians say that the form in which milk exists has no bearing on its relative food values.

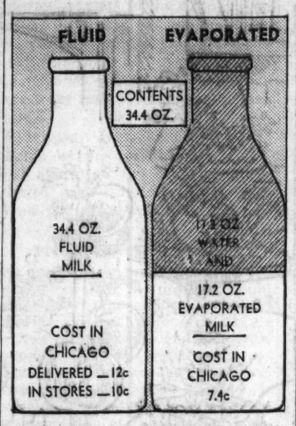
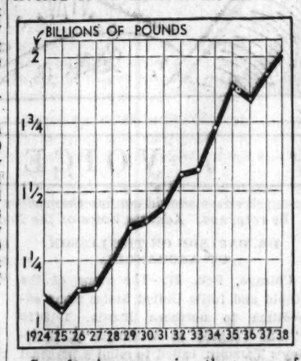
Changes since 1923 in the price of a quart of milk delivered to homes in Chicago.



Why use of evaporated milk is increasing. For 7.4 cents the consumer can buy 17.2 ounces of canned milk, equivalent in food value, when an equal quantity of water is added, to the quart (34.4 ounces) of fluid milk which costs 12 cents delivered or 10 cents at the store.



Steady increase in the use of evaporated milk over the United States is shown by these figures for consumption since 1924.

USE VIOLENCE! PALESTINE JEWS URGED BY RADIO

JERUSALEM, March 1.—(AP)—Tension in strife-torn Palestine was heightened today when a secret broadcasting station urged Jews to resort to physical force as the only remaining method of holding fast to hopes of an independent Jewish state.

Leaflets also were widely distributed by Jewish extremists who called upon Jews to use "active force" against "enemies." These extremists clamored for armed resistance to a reported British plan to make the Holy Land an independent Arab state.

The Palestine Jewish assembly authorized its national council to call a general strike if necessary to demonstrate Jewish solidarity against the British suggestions. The council began deliberations on what course to adopt.

Plan to Increase Defense Fund.

It urged an increase in the fund for improving Jewish defenses.

It issued a manifesto rejecting the British plan, broached at a London conference of British, Arabs and Jews, because it would "impose a minority status." The council, which includes all sections except extremists, threatened to withdraw from cooperation with Great Britain if the plan were put into effect.

Steel-helmeted troops in armored cars patroled Jerusalem streets after week-end disorders. An estimated 220 have been killed and 265 wounded since the first of the year.

At Haifa an Arab demonstration was dispersed by British police and troops.

Arabs Make Objections.

Arab delegates to the London conference were reported to have made important objections to the Palestine plan. The nature of the objections was not disclosed, but it was believed they could be overcome because Arabs have appeared pleased with the project.

Jewish delegates asked British officials to change the plan by Friday so that the executive committee of the Jewish agency could decide whether the three-week-old conference was to continue. The British suggestions also were said to include restriction of Jewish immigration to Palestine and a ban on Jewish purchases of Palestine real estate.

SAVER OF 4,700 ENDS 40 YEARS IN COAST GUARD

John O. Anderson, chief boatswain, commanding officer for twenty-two years of the old Chicago Coast Guard station, yesterday turned the command over to his successor, Chief Boatswain's Mate Merritt Richards. Capt. Anderson, who is 59 years old, is credited with having saved 4,700 lives during his forty years service. He and Mrs. Anderson plan to go to Florida.

THE PRIMARY WINNERS.

Mayor Kelly won his renomination in the Democratic primaries by a vote of 2 to 1 against State's Attorney Courtney, who was ambitious to step from the prosecutor's office into the city hall. The campaign between these two contenders in the local Democratic party was brisk and unsparing although the outcome shows that at no time was it in much doubt.

In the Democratic family rows the man who has the place and wants to keep it has been successful against the politicians who wanted to take it away from him. Gov. Horner won his renomination that way, Judge Jarecki successfully blocked off his Kelly-Nash opponent, and when Mayor Kelly's time came he was able easily to defeat his opposition, although it had put up its own men against his organization efforts to defeat them. Courtney's political disadvantage was that he was trying to beat the mayor for the mayor's job on city hall ground.

The contest was exciting enough, with so much at stake for the politicians in it, to bring out a vote of over 900,000. Mayor Kelly's supporters may say that with all their political advantages they could not have won if they had not been able to say that Kelly's record was good and justified the approval of Democratic voters. His tremendous vote came from a combination of his popularity and a great political organization.

Dwight Green, the Republican candidate, won his nomination by about 4 to 1 vote. The lack of a real contest in the Republican primaries may have held the Republican vote down. Mr. Green campaigned against the Democratic candidates, it being apparent that his real contest went outside the Republican primaries and into the mayoralty election. The total Republican vote, being approximately 275,000, is far below the Democratic total. The Republicans need not be discouraged by that, although they must face the fact that about 650,000 more votes were cast in the Democratic primaries than in their own. It would be unwise to ignore those figures. Tuesday was a Democratic day.

For the election campaign the issue changes sharply. The Chicago Democrats, regardless of their personal convictions and feelings, are fellow travelers of the New Deal. They haven't been treated considerately by the Roosevelt money changers, although they have delivered the vote as conscientiously as any of the highly favored tools of the revolution in other states. They have had to sing for their dinner and most of the time they have been waits out in the snow when all the windows were closed against them and nobody opened the front door. Nevertheless, they have been faithful to their handouts. Even if they try to wink to show that they are not completely hypnotized, they do turn out the henchmen and vote them for the New Deal. They will continue to do so.

Chicago and Illinois Democrats have been untouched by the spurts of rebellion which have appeared in other states. Mr. Roosevelt has said nothing good about them but neither has he said anything derogatory. There has been no purge attempted in Illinois. The Illinois Democrats have taken what they could get and their snubs along with it. They have been faithful to the easy money and they will continue in this subordinate policy, doing their best to deserve more than they get. That was not an issue in the primaries.

Illinois is a Republican state and the probabilities are that it will return to its traditional party standing next year. To do so the state may have to overcome the Chicago vote. More will be known of that after the mayoralty election. Mr. Green is a man any Republican can support with the knowledge that he is voting for a fine candidate, qualified in every way for the office he seeks. He is also an opponent of the Washington New Dealers who have enjoyed the job of keeping the country in the worst depression it ever knew, using it for their own adventures in revolution. To defeat this is something that should appeal to the fighting spirit of every Chicago Republican and give him a reason for getting behind Mr. Green for all he is worth.

FHA MODERNIZATION LOANS.

The Federal Housing administration was created by an act of congress approved June 27, 1934. Title I. of the act provides for a short term modernization program. It authorizes the FHA to insure lending institutions up to 10 per cent of the aggregate of all short term property loans made. The maximum amount to qualify insurance must be for not more than $10,000 for alteration or repair of existing structures, or $2,500 for the erection of new structures. The loans need not be secured by mortgage, but must comply with certain requirements as to interest rate, maturity, and periodic reduction of principal. The government charges no premium for the insurance of the loans. Title I. was intended to be temporary. It has already had several reprieves. Unless it has another it will expire June 30.

Title I. also authorizes loans to be paid to rehabilitate buildings destroyed by flood, earthquake, hurricane, conflagration, or other disaster in the years 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, 1939. Insurance to cover loans of this class is up to 20 per cent of the aggregate amount of loans insured by each institution. The maximum amount of liability by the government at any time is 100 million dollars.

The government has insured about 1½ million loans averaging about $400 each, or something like 600 million dollars' worth of business. On this it has had a loss of $16,750,000 gross to June 30, 1938. The practice has been to take over the claim of the insured institution. From this about half of the loss has been recovered, leaving the government with a loss of 8 million dollars after placing a generous valuation on the electric refrigerators, heating equipment, and other household parts which the government has acquired for unpaid claims.

The FHA modernization loan was one of the schemes adopted at a time when ideas were being sought far and wide for spending money and encumbering the credit of the country. Now it is recognized by nearly every one that the government needs economy. A saving by eliminating losses arising from gratuitous insurance to banks would be a step toward the desired goal.

The government ought to take its loss by selling off the second hand ice boxes, stoves, and pumps it accumulated in operating this insurance business. If the government is going to insure our creditors against losses on our bills, there is no good sense in stopping at repairs to the roof and replacements of the plumbing. Fortunately, in the nuttiest phase of the New Deal, the government did not undertake to guarantee grocery, electric light, or telephone bills.

To allow title I. of the FHA act to expire would be to effect an economy and as well to put all our creditors on the same footing.

THE SCRAMBLE FOR FRANCO.

The recognition of Gen. Franco's government by Great Britain and France may end one phase of the Spanish problem and begin another. The French and British aid to the insurgents was indirect. German and Italian help was direct. Mr. Chamberlain organized a nonintervention policy which permitted the required assistance to reach Franco from Mussolini and Hitler and prevented a rescue of the Azana-Negrin government.

Mr. Chamberlain did not like the Spanish government. Its communists and anarchists were at the best odd fish to him and at the worst terrible creatures. Even if they were not the whole government they stamped it with their character. He much preferred Franco. The other side disturbed him. Anarchists aren't people to him and he couldn't have lunch with a communist.

Aside from personal and political antipathies Mr. Chamberlain wanted to narrow the combat to its lowest attainable minimum. That was nonintervention in his lexicon. If possible of avoidance France, and in its wake Great Britain, were not to be found fighting Moors, Italians, and Germans for republicans, communists, anarchists, liberals, and Russians in Spain in a war which then would spill out all over Europe.

Now the Germans and Italians on one side and the British and French on the other are trying to see who can get the biggest piece of Franco. Mr. Chamberlain's strongest bid will be made by the English banker. What a triumph it would be for Mussolini if he provided the blood and iron to clear the ground for the British pound sterling.

Even from the ramparts of Gibraltar Mr. Chamberlain can say that Spanish territorial integrity must be respected and that aliens must withdraw. Such are the things that cause inexperienced dictators and callow aggressors to hide themselves in the closet and bite bronze doorknobs. They don't know how it's done. They haven't the gift.

With such gifts Mr. Chamberlain may win the war which follows the fight.

A WEAKNESS OF AMERICAN DEFENSE.

The recent TRIBUNE map showing the bases we are fortifying in the Pacific ought to remind Americans again of the bases off our Atlantic coast in the possession of foreign powers. They should be in our hands. The fact that they now belong to nations with which we are and, we trust will remain, on friendly terms should not assure us. They are our responsibility and we cannot afford to assume that they will not be taken by unfriendly powers, especially as they are not properly fortified by the nations in present possession.

France and Great Britain are both in the deep and critical complications of European politics. Both protest their friendship for us. It should be manifested practically by the transference to us by France of its bombing bases off the Panama canal and by the transfer by Great Britain of Bermuda either to us or to Canada. They belong geographically and economically to our continent. They should be a part of its strategic defense. They would be safe only in our hands.

In fact, the United States should acquire all the islands of the West Indies, and likewise Cocos and the Galapagos in the Pacific. They are all bases for attack on the canal in this age of aeronautics.

CORRUPT POLITICS IN INDIANA.

The latest prison break in Indiana calls renewed attention to the particularly corrupt machine in that commonwealth. It is a great pity that the revolt of Senator Van Nuys was compromised, for it promised revelations which would certainly have swept the corrupt Democratic machine out of power. This was so certain that the machine which had started to purge Senator Van Nuys chose to take him back into favor and give him its support for reëlection. It was a bitter dose, but it was also bad medicine for Indiana. The poison remains. The reputable citizenry of the state should no longer condone their misgovernment. The full truth is not known, but it can be found and exposed.

POET LAUREATE.

[Dallas Morning Star.]

All Texas is to be congratulated upon the selection of Lexie Dean Robertson of Rising Star to be the next poet laureate. The joint committee of the house and senate could have made no happier, no more popular choice. Fourth in the succession of laureates, Mrs. Robertson will be the first native of the state to be so designated, a fact that will lend added distinction to the post during her incumbency.

The new laureate was born in east Texas, but has long been a resident of west Texas, which claims her as its own and is proud of her achievements. She will bring to the all-Texas post not only a record of worthy accomplishment as a writer but a personality in which the sunlight and sincerity of her own west are happily blended and a well wishing of a legion of friends throughout the broad southwest.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

MR. PEPYS' WAY OF LIFE.

1st March—This day I did meet another of those gossips who have been telling me, ever since I left off writing about first nights in playhouses, "Now you can lead a normal life," and I did smile sarcastick and did answer like a surly varlet, "O, yeah?" For what is a normal life in this town but to arise at 6 or 7 and gobble a breakfast and rush to work with a million others, elbowing one another in trains and buses or slithering dangerously in chariots. And to eat in a great hurry at midday in cluttered, clattering places, talking business the while with companions. And then to go home at nightfall in jostling masses of people, but to find no rest until midnight or later because some movie must be seen by the family or some rout must be attended in the name of amusement. Then to arise early the next morning without enough sleep, and fetch in the newspaper and the milk bottle from the back door, and to do these same things all over again, getting wearier and duller the while.

These blessings of the normal life, forsooth, are not Mr. Pepys' dish, and he, no matter what people say, will sleep till noon and stay up as late as he pleases, and not move back and forth with the crowds as if driven by a herdsman; but will find odd byways and byplaces in the city life and amuse himself by reflections upon the foibles of the human race.

ARGONAUTS HOMEWARD BOUND.

Oh, Queen of the western Ocean,
With the white surf pounding your Gate,
Do you think of the men who loved you,
For their sure return do you wait?
Let your tall houses strain to the hill-top
And the red roofs climb the side;
Can you see the sails, you tall ones,
That out of the morning ride?
See! The cordage is hung with sea weed
And the rusty anchors clank,
For the ships that were sunk and rotted
Are clearing the thick fog bank.
Your beauty's lure has called them back,
These men that sought the fleece;
Youth they shall know and the wine of life
But never the grave's long peace.
Oh, Queen of the sparkling harbor
With the white-scarfed hills for a throne,
There is never peace for the lovers
Who once have called you their own.

Village in a Metropolis.

Although you have cleared up [2-11-'39] the mystery of the Booth mansion that stood until a few years ago at Grand and Narragansett avenues, there is still much to be said about the region it adorned, which is rich in early Chicago lore. Its old name, Mont Clare, survives on the Milwaukee railroad's station there.

The history of Mont Clare and the families who settled it should be preserved as a bit of Chicago lore. For a community in a big city it was unique. Its aspects and attitudes until only a comparatively few years ago made it closely resemble what I conceive an old "way down east" village to have been like. With its unpaved streets and Tom and Dick's general store, and its whole social inspiration the Congregational church, it remained perhaps the most self-contained community embraced by the city.

The Lovetts, Rutherfords, Merrills, Sayres, Marwoods, and Booths were the nucleus of the community. A few years ago, before the streets were paved and before the car line had been extended to the city limits, these families and their collateral branches dominated the community.

A Lost Hope of Culture.

Re your remarks about the old People's Institute on the west side [2-21-'39]. It was built largely at the suggestion of Bishop Fallows, and was to be the cultural center of the west side in the 1892 period. I hunted it up about two years ago and spent over an hour going over the offices and the auditorium so ambitiously and hopefully planned. The people in it are as far from the builder's idea as would be the people from Mars.

A SON GROWS OLDER.

And all at once he holds his own
In card games, and unless
I really get down to work,
He wallops me at chess.
And when the family talks about
Our body politic
He argues too, and brings in facts
To make his viewpoint stick.
And where is now the lad that was,
The small one, funny looking?
This one still outgrows his clothes,
But not his mother's cooking;
Can be a clam or gabby,
According to his whim;
But this one is as tall as I—
And does his dad, to him,
Remain the one always so right?
No, he too, had to end,
And now is just another man—
But, good enough, a friend.

And Then Somebody Started a Fight.

The shrill blast of the whistle started a swift poetry of motion. The men swooped and darted like giant birds across the milk white ice, with its red and blue exclamation points. They moved in great arcs and circles, smoothly, fluidly, the long clean lines of their bodies obscured, but not hidden, by the bulky pads. Overhead a thick pall of smoke hung from the high domed roof, and through the murky dusk one could see a myriad of stars twinkling, as matches flickered here and there. The beautiful, passionate movement of the game, the tense crowd, the thunder of the organ—all was a part of the pageantry of hocky at the Stadium.

THE PAINFUL SHOULDER.

ABOUT the joints, nature has placed some curious devices called bursa. These are usually fibrous sacs—irregular and flat—which protect tendons particularly, and assist them to function smoothly without irritation because of their proximity to hard bone. Ordinarily the capsulelike affairs are filled with a sticky fluid and are located at points where friction may develop.

The one at the shoulder varies from 1½ to 3 inches in diameter and lies for the most part beneath the huge muscle [deltoid] which forms the crest. Strangely enough, it can be injured or become inflamed because of infection. Should one receive a blow in this vicinity or should a fall be sustained, marked pain may ensue which does not arise because of damage to muscles, nerves, tendons, or bones. It comes from the bursa. The same symptoms may be evidenced when a focus of infection about the mouth or throat sends its toxins to the area via the circulation.

As a rule the onset is sudden. The patient may be awakened in the night by great discomfort, perhaps brought on by a twisting movement during sleep. Now and then the agony may be experienced on arising. After enduring the distress, which may be compared to a severe toothache, for several hours the patient will make his way to the physician's office, supporting the affected arm. Inasmuch as the slightest motion occasions much suffering, difficulty may be encountered in removing the clothing to permit careful examination.

Not infrequently a fracture is suspected and, if the malady has been quite some time in coming on, deposits of lime may be seen in the floor of the sac on X-ray examination. The diagnosis is further complicated by the fact that the soreness may extend downward toward the elbow or upward into the neck. In these circumstances arthritis or neuritis will need to be ruled out. The patient will generally state that holding the arm away from the body gives him comfort, but a constant dull ache with no apparent letup is characteristic. If there is a history of a blow, a rupture of a tendon may evince similar signs, but it requires a sizable trauma to bring this about, although now and then baseball pitchers or football players will meet with this catastrophe.

Treatment first of all is designed to rest the parts with the limb so fixed that it cannot be moved. In addition, the position should be somewhat away from the trunk. This will relieve tension. Frequently a needle can be inserted into the structure and the fluid contents withdrawn. This reduces the swelling and permits, at the same time, the introduction of a local anesthetic such as novocain. If infection is present in the teeth, tonsils, or sinuses, that too must be eliminated. Infra-red heat is then directed to the site and may be maintained for an hour or more each day.

Much time may be lost if the disorder is not identified correctly or if the structures have not been completely immobilized. Even slight activity may delay convalescence substantially. In most instances within two weeks, however, the splints may be dispensed with and gentle massage begun. Thereafter the recovery period will occupy approximately two months. Many physicians advocate the use of guaiacol carbonate in addition to massage and baking.

In the chronic form it may be necessary to excise the offending pad surgically—or at least a considerable portion of it. Occasionally a simple incision designed to evacuate its contents will bring about healing. In such cases the release of pressure is all that is needed.

This condition is sometimes referred to under the title "subdeltoid bursitis," and we should recall that with many of these victims the ailment will appear gradually, becoming worse each day until a full blown attack cannot fail of recognition. In about 15 per cent, infection will be found responsible.

CORONARY SCLEROSIS.

J. H. writes: What is coronary sclerosis? Can a person with this ailment ever work again?

REPLY.

A narrowing of the coronary arteries which supply the pumping organ with nourishment [blood]. Under a reduced program of activity many afflicted persons will carry on for years and years.

ENLARGED SPLEEN.

S. W. writes: Is an enlarged spleen dangerous? Can it be cured? Is diet of value?

REPLY.

Enlargement of the spleen may point to a fairly serious malady, such as familial jaundice, some form of leucemia, chronic malaria, etc. In acute infections the organ is swollen, but recedes with recovery. Surgical removal is a relatively safe procedure and in certain conditions is followed by relief of all symptoms. Diet has no special influence.

DIRT UNDER SKIN.

M. T. writes: I skinned my knee recently. The wound has healed, but dirt remains. Is there any home treatment by which this can be removed?

REPLY.

No. The foreign material has become imbedded in the deeper layers of the skin. At the time—if you had cleansed the wound thoroughly with soap and water—all particles would have been removed. Some absorption may occur in time.

SWEETS AND SOURS.

T. H. writes: I get a sour taste in my mouth after eating anything sweet. What causes this?

REPLY.

After taking a bit of candy, unsweetened or neutral foods may taste flat or even slightly sour. Sugars are quickly converted into organic acids—lactic, for example—which may be responsible.

ITCHING NOSE.

S. writes: My daughter is 44. Once in a while her nose itches. What causes this?

REPLY.

You recall the old adage, "An itching nose means that you are going to kiss a fool." The symptom is common. Watch your friends and see how frequently they will tweak the beak. Hairs just inside the nostrils and drying mucus are usually responsible.

DR. CARLSON ON THE LESSON OF ARCHANGEL.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—The story of the stupid and futile United States army expedition to northern Russia, 1918-'19 ["The Tragedy at Archangel"], in today's TRIBUNE, called to mind a personal failure in connection with that expedition. At the time this venture was organized in the British war office I was on duty with the A. E. F. in Base Section 3 [Great Britain] in the medical corps, United States army, as trouble shooter in the matter of rations for our troops on the British transports, in our hospitals, and in our so-called "rest camps" in England.

The Murmansk expedition being under British command, the British war office proposed that the American troops be supplied with the British army ration. The matter was referred to me by my superior officers, Gen. Biddle and Col. Winter, M. C. Knowing from sad experience that the British army ration did not satisfy our soldiers, either on ships or in camps, and knowing, further, that our own army had found it expedient to increase the regular army ration 25 per cent for our soldiers stationed in Alaska, I recommended that the United States troops sent to northern Russia should be supplied with the United States army ration for Alaska.

This recommendation was vigorously supported by Col. Winter and Gen. Biddle [two splendid Americans, no longer among the living]. This was vetoed by the British war office, even though our country paid cash for any and all rations drawn from British stores, and British brass hats knew or should have known that ill-fed soldiers will fight less valiantly for chimeras on foreign soil than for families and homes in their own country.

In the winter of 1919, on leave from the United States army in France, and on duty with the American Relief administration [Paris office], feeding starving children in many of the war stricken countries in Europe, I encountered numerous British army officers in the Baltic states, endeavoring to organize and strengthen the "cordon sanitaire" against Russia. Little Finland was urged by the British, so I was then reliably informed by the late Prof. Tigerstedt in Helsingfors, to attack Russia north of Lake Ladoga, thus threatening the flank of the Russian forces opposing the allies at Murmansk. But the Finns were then as wise as they have since proved themselves honest [paying their war debt].

In 1917 we went to war to "make the world safe for democracy", [sic]. In 1918 we joined an undeclared war against Russia to overthrow the Russian revolutionary government, and if this failed, to establish the "cordon sanitaire" around it. Today our land reëchoes with the same beguiling propaganda from London and from Washington to join hands in forging the "cordon sanitaire" against the other totalitarian states, the ugly ducklings, hatched and nurtured by the last world war. And we are being prepared for another children's crusade, another deliverance of the holy land from the hands of the Saracens.

When will we grow up sufficiently to learn that the English speaking peoples [or any other group], even did we possess the requisite character, cannot and should not permanently police the earth? For, to my way of thinking, democracy and self-determination imply that other units of the human family must be permitted to find their ways of life by their own wisdom or folly. A. J. CARLSON.

TRAGEDY AT ARCHANGEL.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—My compliments upon the splendid story of our troops in Russia, as you had it in the graphic section of the Sunday paper. It would be worth while if you could see your way to do so, to send a marked copy of this section to every congressman and senator in Washington. Perhaps it would also be well to send a half dozen copies to each member of the cabinet.

WAYS TO SPEND MONEY.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 27.—Billions for bullets and for battleships that will be outmoded by the time they are completed, but not one cent to stamp out the illiteracy of 3,300,000 children from the ages of 5 to 17 in the United States who are receiving no education. Forty per cent of the people in rural sections have no access to libraries, says Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins. What an appalling situation in this, the richest country in the world!

We've gone war mad over imaginary foes and are draining the taxpayers to the limit. When will the citizens of this nation rise up in righteous indignation at this mad orgy of spending? If something isn't done, and done soon, we'll be worse off than the people in the lands of dictators and will be saluting a czar in the White House. MRS. L. W. PLATT.

THE ENJOYMENT OF THE DRAMA.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—It is terribly revolting to see a group of people who have a cultured appearance act like a bunch of yokels when they enter the theater. They walk down the alle talking in a semi-loud tone. Another bad habit is to take off your coat after reaching your seat, thus disturbing your neighbors some more. Ah, but here is the pet peeve of all men, the umbrella that the woman in front of you calls a hat. Still worst of all is when one is immensely enjoying the picture, to be disturbed by the crackling of the cellophane wrapper on a bar of candy, or the conversation going on behind him. And a word for the younger generation. Always remember that there is a time and place for everything. These necking and petting parties that are held in the theater are entirely out of place.

And please remember, that when an usher asks you to please refrain from talking he is not trying to be mean. He is only doing it for the benefit of those around you. HARVEY JACOBS.

GERMANS IN PIONEER AMERICA.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—According to the newspapers, Congressman John A. Martin of Colorado has insulted millions and millions of Americans. Does he not know that the frontiersmen under brave Gen. Herkimer, who won the bloodiest battle in our revolutionary war, were mostly of German origin? Does he not know that the advance of Americans into the western part of New York, Virginia, and the Carolinas was accomplished by Germans, Scotch-Irish, and English, and that to these valiant pioneers who formed the colonial frontier we owe our American characteristics of independence, endurance, ingenuity, and buoyancy of spirit? Does Representative Martin not also know that the good mother who taught Lincoln kindness and love was Nancy Hanks, a German-American pioneer?

And is it true that our Illinois congressmen were silent while the Americans they represent were insulted and that only a congressman from Wisconsin had the courage to come to their defense? CHRISTINE HOEHN.

JOINT TENANCY PROPERTY.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother and father had a piece of property in joint tenancy.

1. My mother signed a quitclaim deed for her share to my brother while my father was still living.
2. My father died about a year later [3] and then my mother died.
4. My brother claims that the property now belongs to him.
5. Would my father's share be divided among the other brothers, or [6] does he get all the property? My mother left a will, which was probated in court.
7. As I understand, the will would not have to be probated as long as my brother holds the quitclaim deed to said property, which he claims is recorded.
8. In the will one brother is to share $2,500 when property is sold. The brother that holds quitclaim deed claims he does not have to pay the $2,500, as he holds possession, and that, according to the will, there would be nothing to set aside for the trust fund, as the will is dead.

B. E.

1. This would destroy the survivorship feature of the joint tenancy.
2. His one-half would descend to his heirs.
3. Her one-half, which she previously conveyed, would not be a part of her estate.
4. We see no basis for him to claim more than his share of your father's one-half.
5. Yes.
6. No.
7. Correct, if this was the only asset.
8. In general, if a testator owns no real or personal property at the time of his death, then there is nothing on which the will can operate. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CLAIMS HIGHWAY WEAR OUTSTRIPS ABILITY TO BUILD

Chief Engineer Opposes Cut in License Fees.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Urbana, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—The main highways of Illinois are wearing out faster than they can be rebuilt, even if all state funds available for paving were concentrated upon reconstruction, according to Ernst Lieberman, chief engineer of the Illinois highway department. He made the statement this afternoon in an address before the opening session of the 26th annual highway conference of the University of Illinois.

Ernst Lieberman.

Lieberman cited statistics as an argument against any reduction in automobile license rates, such as proposed in several bills pending before the general assembly at Springfield.

Cost $17,400,000 a Year.

"There are 1,609 miles of primary highway that must be reconstructed during the next five years," Lieberman said. "This reconstruction, at a rate of 336 miles a year, will cost $17,400,000 a year.

"At present tax rates, after deducting for fixed obligations — such as bond requirements, maintenance, policing, and administration—the department has only $14,500,000 for construction. Of this total $1,000,000 is assigned by federal authorities to railroad grade separation and $1,200,000 to secondary road building. This leaves us $12,300,000 for construction on the primary system, or $5,100,000 less than is needed to keep pace with the destruction of pavement by trafic, weather, and age."

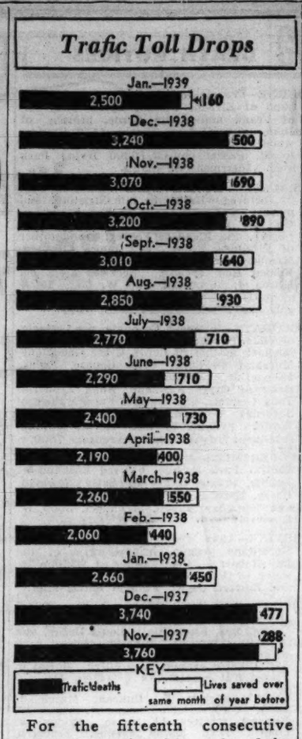
An independent survey of the state's road problems, being published serially in THE TRIBUNE, reveals that the state has been expanding its mileage of expensive pavements to the neglect of the arterial routes.

Corroborates Tribune Survey.

Ben H. Petty, professor of highway engineering at Purdue university, in an address tonight, agreed with this finding. He said that while Illinois pavements are wearing out at the rate of 336 miles a year, reconstruction in 1938 was only 70 miles.

"The road situation in Illinois," Prof. Petty continued, "is no different than in other states. In the United States there are 57,755 miles that should be rebuilt, 21,424 miles that should be widened, and 19,376 bridges that should be widened or replaced. The total cost is estimated at $3,664,296,000, which exceeds the total of all federal highway aid since 1917."

This highway conference, under the direction of C. C. Wiley, professor of civil engineering, will continue through Friday. It is being attended by 250 state, county, and city engineers, contractors and paving material men.



For the fifteenth consecutive month the nation has reduced its automobile deaths below the total for the comparable months of the preceding year. Above is shown the total deaths and the reduction in each of these months.

For the fifteenth consecutive month the nation cut its highway automobile toll in January, the National Safety council reported yesterday. During the fifteen months a total of 8,500 lives was saved.

In January 2,500 were killed by automobiles, a decline of 6 per cent. Illinois showed no improvement with 198 deaths, the same as in 1938, and twelve more than in 1937.

Michael Lentz, 44 years old, 1645 Bosworth avenue, was killed yesterday when he was struck in front of 1701 North Ashland avenue by the automobile of Ernest Johnson, 6643 South Hoyne avenue.

Henry C. Leverenz, 57, a WPA worker, was killed when he was struck by a truck on Irving Park road in Wooddale, where he lived. Police held the driver, Leland Kubly.

Lawrence Johnsey, 34 years old, a Chicagoan, died yesterday at Scottsburg, Ind., of injuries suffered in an automobile collision there Monday.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 136 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 111 were killed in Chicago, where 2,970 were injured in the same period.

Fatal 'L' Crash Motorman Denies Tipsy Driving Charge

Van R. Grooms, 38 years old, pleaded not guilty yesterday in the Lake county court at Waukegan to a charge of driving while intoxicated on Feb. 6. Judge Perry L. Persons set the case for a jury trial on March 14. Grooms was motorman on the North Shore electric train which crashed into an elevated train at the Granville avenue station, Nov. 24, 1936, killing 11 persons.

Auto Thief Would Weld Tags on Car for Safety

St. Louis, Mo., March 1.—(AP)—The Automobile Club News carried a story suggesting auto thefts could be reduced by welding license plates on the machines. The tip came from a convicted auto thief in the city jail.

O. K. KELLY PLAN FOR $100,000,000 SUPERHIGHWAYS

Council Authorizes Mayor to Seek State Aid.

Mayor Kelly was authorized by the city council yesterday to submit details of a $100,000,000 Chicago superhighway program to the state legislature next Tuesday. Enabling legislation will be sought to permit the city to raise its share of the cost through sale of bonds against the city's allotment from future state gasoline tax receipts.

Acting Gov. John Stelle was on the rostrum as the mayor made a personal appeal to the council. Stelle followed with a hearty indorsement of the plan and promised full support.

Five Highways Planned.

As outlined by the mayor in a letter to the council, the program would include five superhighways—two to the west side, and one each to the northwest, southwest, and southeast sections. Physical details, he explained, will be worked out later. These would include the question, it was said, of whether any of the highways would be of the elevated type.

"The problem of raising funds necessary to begin constructing these much-talked-about projects," the mayor said, "has presented the real difficulty. In this respect, there is a parallel with the long awaited subways.

"We did find a way to get the subways going. Now, as a result of numerous conferences with the official representatives of the other public agencies involved, I am happy to advise you that I believe a means has been found to get these highway improvements under way."

Three Agencies to Share Cost.

Mayor Kelly said he wished definite action on the highways could be deferred until after the mayoral election, so that political issues would not be injected to endanger the success of the program. However, he declared, time is vital because of the need for enabling legislation.

The plan proposes to allocate the cost equitably between city, state and county, with possibly some federal cooperation.

"You will note," the mayor continued, "that this plan involves no special or additional taxes—no burden on real estate in the form of special assessments or otherwise.

Will Curtail Relief Load.

"On the other hand it will bring immense benefits to all our people. Labor will be benefited, and at the same time people on relief will find real work at real wages and the tax load for relief will be lightened. The users of our highways will benefit in rapid, safe travel. Reduction in trafic fatalities will ensue, along with rehabilitation of neighborhoods."

The mayor said his plan would give the city a lump sum to work with. He pointed out that the fuel tax money in the past dribbled into the city in small amounts and was used on unrelated improvements rather than on a unified project.

Acting Governor Stelle told the council the super-highway program meant much to the state as a whole.

"Downstate people will welcome the chance to drive directly into the heart of Chicago over straight, modern, safe highways," he said. "Then there is the saving of money it will make possible by removing people from relief rolls to work on the project. I am in complete accord with everything the mayor has said. I am sure we can arrange to help Chicago."

Among the aldermen who applauded the highway plan was James B. Bowler [25th], a veteran of the council.

"The west side has long dreamed of a trunk highway," he said, "and we have also dreamed of the development of the city as a whole through a trunk highway system. I want to congratulate the mayor. This plan will do more to eliminate blighted areas in the city than any other project that could be suggested."

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

BLAME POLITICS FOR VICE LAXITY IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—(AP)—Political domination of the Philadelphia police department by Mayor S. Davis Wilson and other city officials has resulted in an indifferent enforcement of laws against gambling and vice, a special grand jury reported today.

The final presentment of the grand jury, which has been investigating vice conditions in the city for seventeen months, was submitted to Judge Curtis Bok with the request that it be made public.

WHETHER SHE HAD 17 JIGGERS OR 5, A TIPSY DRIVER GETS $25 FINE

Policemen testified yesterday in Safety court that Mrs. Betty Kolarik, 24 years old, admitted drinking seventeen jigger glasses of whisky during a twelve hour visit to a tavern. Mrs. Kolarik, who lives at 8400 South Major avenue, insisted she had only five or six drinks. Judge Jay A. Schiller fined her $25 for driving while intoxicated early in the day in Ogden avenue near Western avenue.

Stanley Bogusz, 1708 Superior street, was sentenced to thirty days in the Bridewell for leaving the scene of an accident Sunday. At Madison and Canal streets his automobile struck a pedestrian. A block further west his car bumped a taxi, injuring two passengers. Bogusz was captured by a police squad after a chase.

Municipal Judge Harry H. Porter of Evanston yesterday fined George H. Buckles, 1311 Chicago avenue, Evanston, $100 for driving while intoxicated and suspended his driving privileges for thirty days.

TOKIO PROTESTS JAP ARRESTS AT SINGAPORE BASE

Declares British Action Is Beyond Reason.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 1.—Angered by wholesale arrests and examinations of Japanese in Singapore on suspicion of spying on fortifications of the British naval base there, the Japanese government today protested to British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie.

Singapore authorities look upon all Japanese as spies, Tokio charged. Wholesale persecution of the Japanese is unwaranted and unjustified, the Japanese government declared. The protest pointed out that even government officials with diplomatic passports were summoned to police stations and examined.

The protest termed as unwaranted the searching of many Japanese homes. Such treatment violates all rules of international etiquet, Tokio said, and requested an immediate halt.

War at $4,000,000 a Day.

TOKIO, March 1.—(AP)—Japan is preparing to appropriate an officially estimated $4,000,000 daily for fighting in China during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1940.

Army and navy authorities today fixed the probable expenses of the conflict for 1939-'40 at 5,270,000,000 yen [currently $1,438,710,000]. This so-called special military budget, plus additional accounts, is to be submitted to Emperor Hirohito tomorrow and presented Friday in the lower house of parliament, where approval seems assured by tradition.

The regular 1939-'40 budget, as approved Dec. 2 by the cabinet, provided $135,000,000 for the army and $175,000,000 for the navy. It was the largest budget in the empire's history and totaled $997,583,000. It did not include the special China war appropriations.

May Be Aimed at Russia.

Of the new requested appropriations, the army would receive $857,220,000 and the navy $232,050,000. Another part, $177,450,000, would be earmarked for a reserve fund, and the remainder would be placed in what are called additional accounts.

Many believed that a large portion of the special appropriations would be allotted for strengthening the Japanese war machine in Manchukuo and North China, where Japanese military leaders profess to believe there is a perennial threat of war with Russia.

JURY WILL HEAR CHAMPAIGN CITY OFFICIALS IN QUIZ

Urbana, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—City officials of neighboring Champaign will be called as witnesses tomorrow when the grand jury reconvenes here for its investigation of vice and gambling in Champaign.

The inquiry is an outgrowth of the fatal shooting of William Spurrier, a University of Illinois sophomore, early on the morning of Feb. 16. Spurrier was shot by Mrs. Margaret Strothers, colored, when he and five companions tried to enter her resort.

Among the witnesses expected to testify tomorrow are Mayor James Flynn, renominated in yesterday's primarys; Avery F. Shaw, Virgil W. Burgess, Edward T. Bassett, and Walter D. Swearingen, city commissioners, and Albert Tuxhorn, city attorney.

Others who will be called are Joseph B. Casserly, Frank Hanley and John V. Ross, members of the police and fire commission; Chief of Police Roy Argo and the seventeen members of his force; C. W. Roth, former sherif, and Police Magistrate George James.

HUNT RARE BLOOD TO SAVE BOY ILL WITH HEMOPHILIA

Robert Cmiel, 10 years old, will die unless persons can be found who will supply him with free blood transfusions every 24 hours, doctors at the Illinois Research hospital said last night. The boy, a victim of hemophilia, is in desperate need of the rare "type 1" blood.

Since last September, when he hurt his left leg, Robert has lain in bed at the Cmiel home, 5901 Gunnison street. Sunday he suffered a hemorrhage and was taken to the hospital. In the last four days he has been given five transfusions. Robert's brother, Edward, died of the same disease three years ago.

Hospital attendants said Robert is unconscious much of the time. Occasionally he opens his eyes and whispers to his mother, Frances. His father, Edward Cmiel, works for a container company.

Widow of British Naval Officer Dies in Plunge

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. Bessie Brainard Ellis, widow of Capt. William Herbert Ellis, a shipping broker and former lieutenant commander in the British navy, who died Jan. 15, 1938, fell or jumped to her death today at the Steinway building. Her body landed on a third floor inner extension roof. No note proving suicide was found, but Mrs. Ellis, who was 55 years old, had been in poor health.

NEWLY ELEVATED POLICE OFFICERS SWORN IN POSTS

Nine newly promoted police captains, nine new lieutenants, and nine new sergeants were sworn in yesterday in Commissioner Allman's office. Mayor Kelly made a brief talk, telling the officers one of their concerns should be with improving the lot of the downtrodden and the children on the streets.

Capt. Andrew Barry.

Allman announced that Capt. Andrew B. Barry, recently assigned to temporary duty at the Des Plaines street station, will be supervisor of the 6th police division, succeeding Capt. John P. Ryan. Capt. Ryan was assigned as acting supervisor of the 3d division.

The new captains and their assignments are: John I. Howe and Romaine Goudie, headquarters; Frank J. Demski, Brighton Park; Frank J. Malone, Lawndale; Patrick Brady, Grand Crossing; Louis Klatzco, Fillmore; Michael Lahart, Englewood; Julian Bernacchi, Des Plaines, and Harry Fullmer, police training secretary. The department now has fifty-seven captains, the largest number in its history.

JAMES S. COON DIES; FOUNDER OF FINANCE FIRM

James S. Coon, founder of the General Finance corporation, died of pneumonia yesterday in his home at 2312 Park place, Evanston. He was 73 years old. Mr. Coon was born in Collison in Vermilion county. He was in the telephone and grain business in central Illinois for several years and later was a banker in Le Roy in McLean county. In 1918 he moved to Evanston, where he organized the Motor Acceptance company, now a part of the General Finance corporation at 184 West Lake street. Surviving are his widow, Rose, and two sons, Owen L. Coon, chairman of the finance corporation, and Byron S. Coon, president. Funeral services will be held in the First Methodist church at Rantoul, Ill., at 2 p. m. Sunday. Burial will be at Le Roy.

MORDOFF'S SON UPHELD IN CLAIM TO $15,000 ESTATE

Letters of administration for the $15,000 estate of Dr. Gordon E. Mordoff, slain Wilmette physician, were granted yesterday to Gordon E. Mordoff Jr., 24 years old. His claim as sole heir to the estate had been disputed by Miss Mary Mordoff, 20 years old, who was reared by the physician as his daughter.

Miss Mordoff asserted that Gordon Jr. was an adopted child, just as she was. He declared that he was Dr. Mordoff's real son. The ruling yesterday was made by John F. Keeley, assistant to the probate judge.

Dr. Mordoff was shot to death on Jan. 12 by his brother-in-law, John P. Quinn.

U.S. NAVY TO TAKE ASHES OF SAITO BACK TO JAPAN

Miami, Fla., March 1.—[Special.]—Heading homeward after two weeks of vacationing in which he engaged in the navy's annual fleet maneuvers, President Roosevelt today made the death of a friend an occasion for a gesture of international good will.

From the U. S. S. Houston, Mr. Roosevelt instructed the navy department to make a cruiser ready to carry the ashes of Hirosi Saito, former Japanese ambassador to the United States, to his native land.

The unusual honor is being extended now because Saito, although he had resigned, died before he could leave Washington.

President Roosevelt is expected to reach Charleston, S. C., at 3 p. m. Friday and at 6 p. m. to leave for Washington.

Glenview Victim of Bus Crash Seeks $100,000

Mrs. J. Mary Jackson of Glenview filed a $100,000 personal injury suit in Circuit court yesterday against the Northern Greyhound Lines, Inc., and the Pure Oil company of Chicago. The bill alleged that Mrs. Jackson, who is 45 years old, was injured seriously last Dec. 20 when the Greyhound bus in which she was riding crashed into a Pure Oil truck at Waukegan and Golf roads, near Morton Grove. The bus driver and one passenger were killed.

GOERING PREDICTS GERMAN EMPIRE OF 100,000,000

Calls on Cream of Youth to Join Air Force.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 1.—"We shall use all our power to increase our nation of 80,000,000 population to 100,000,000," Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister for aviation, predicted today in a speech on the fourth anniversary of "the day of the German air force."

"The physical strength of the 100,000,000 Germans of the future shall be such as to withstand all fatigues and hardships they may be called upon to bear," the No. 2 Nazi said. "Young men will stream in double and threefold numbers into army barracks. We intend to use every one of them. Never again will healthy men able to bear arms escape conscription because of a short-sighted parliament."

"Germany's invincible air force is and always must remain the terror of our foes," Goering proclaimed.

Urges Youths to Join Force.

He appealed to the cream of German youth to join the ranks of the air force, which, he declared, must be further expanded in view of the "confused and tense world political situation."

Declaring that he could only use volunteers in the air force, he exclaimed, "Don't hesitate, boys! Leave your classrooms and join us, the proudest branch of the service!"

The aviation minister pictured the glories awaiting youth in the air force. He recalled the exploits of the world war aces, Baron Manfred von Richthofen and Capt. Oswald Boelke.

"You, too, can achieve this when the fatherland calls on you," he said. "It is a chivalrous fight up in the clouds near the sun."

Don't Be Timid, Parents Told.

Goering appealed to parents not to be "timid." He asked them to permit their sons to join the air force.

"Many countrymen gave their sons to the air force, and even if one or the other was killed they knew it was necessary for the best of the fatherland," he added.

Goering admitted that service in the air force is dangerous, but he insisted that the "scope of danger is often exaggerated."

"Healthy youth despises these dangers," he said.

Later in the day he addressed Nazi military chiefs in his vast air ministry of 5,000 rooms.

"We must produce airplanes in such numbers and of such quality as seem inconceivable," he declared. "In Reichsfuehrer Hitler's authoritarian reich, however, this is possible if all departments coöperate without friction."

Calls Hitler Greatest Hero.

Praising Hitler as the liberator from Versailles, "the bloodiest treaty in the world's history," Goering said "Hitler is far greater than all the heroes of our past history." Referring to Germany's military preparedness during the Czecho-Slovak crisis, he said: "It was known abroad that we were not bluffing. You comrades know it best. One order and hell would have descended on our enemies. One sharp blow and destruction would have been complete."

Goering paid tribute to the flyers who "in recent years sacrificed their lives for the fuehrer and reich in joyful devotion."

"In all districts of Germany and also in foreign lands [a reference to German pilots in Spain] young German flyers lost their lives for the glory and power of the reich and its air force," he said.

Following his speech Goering reviewed picked units of the air force.

POLAND SUPPORTS ITALY'S CLAIM ON FRENCH COLONIES

Each Asks 'Justice' for the Other.

WARSAW, Poland, March 1.—(AP)—The foreign ministers of Italy and Poland today agreed on a "friendly collaboration" between their countries which diplomats interpreted as indication of Polish sympathy with Italy's colonial aspirations and the five nation anti-comintern [communist internationale] pact.

A joint Italian-Polish communique was issued shortly before Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italy's foreign minister and son-in-law of Premier Mussolini, boarded a train for Rome after a five day visit with Polish Foreign Minister Joseph Beck.

It said the ministers in their talks had "reaffirmed that order and justice were two essentials of Italian and Polish policies."

Cite "Common Interests."

"They agreed to continue and to develop the friendly collaboration of their two countries, collaboration based on the affinity and common interest existing between Italy and Poland," the statement said.

Diplomats saw in the reference to "order and justice" an expression of Polish sympathy with Italy's claims against France for colonies. In addition, they interpreted it as constituting Poland's substitute for signing the anti-comintern agreements which Italy, Germany, Japan, Hungary, and Japan's dependency, Manchukuo, have signed.

Want Polish Supports.

Though the anti-comintern partners would like to win Polish support, Ciano was understood to have refrained from insisting on Poland's signing the pact.

[The anti-comintern pact pledges the signatories to fight against world communism. Poland's signature of it probably would be considered an unfriendly act by her powerful neighbor, soviet Russia.]

While Ciano was receiving an enthusiastic welcome in Krakow—which he visited with Beck today—police were patroling Warsaw streets to prevent recurrence of anti-German demonstrations. Five thousand students last night clamored in the streets for a change in Poland's foreign policy and shouted "down with Hitler."

Porto Rico Carnival Queen Breaks 400 Year Tradition

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 1.—For the first time in the 400 years that Porto Rico has been picking a queen of the Ponce de Leon carnival, the successful beauty posed in a bathing suit. This year's queen is Senorita Myrtelina Besosa. She is 17 years old, a brunette, and believes Porto Rican girls should be more athletic.

ASK 800 MILLION TO BOOST POWER OF BRITISH ARMY

Total Budget Soars Past 5 Billion Mark.

LONDON, March 1.—(AP)—Army estimates of $805,665,000 for the 1939-'40 fiscal year were laid before the house of commons today to round out the greatest defense program in Great Britain's peacetime history.

The estimates sent the annual budget past the 5 billion dollar mark for the first time since the world war. With submission of the estimates, Sir John Anderson, lord privy seal and minister of civilian defense, announced that "drastic" measures taken since last year's September crisis had put the British civilian defense program two years ahead of schedule.

What Nation Is Doing.

As outlined by Sir John, these are some of the things Britain is doing to protect her civilian population against aerial bomb and gas attacks:

The government has obtained fifty million gas masks for civilians and placed orders for 1,400,000 special "toy" gas helmets for babies and 1,300,000 masks for older children.

It has bought 127 million sand bags and ordered an additional 200 million from India for delivery within the next three months.

Orders have been placed for a reserve supply of transformers and switch gear to maintain electrical equipment damaged in war.

Lieutenant Colonel Baron Wyndham Raymond Portal has accepted chairmanship of a committee to establish "crisis evacuation camps in England and Wales."

Boost Armed Man Power.

The army estimates would increase the empire's armed man power to 563,700. Regular and territorial army increases add 79,857 to last year's total and the home army would be 15,700 men greater.

The estimates were submitted one day after naval estimates of $768,333,405. Also submitted today were new civil estimates for nondefense expenditures of $2,672,980,405.

The total budget was likely to reach $5,570,000,000, of which $2,900,000,000 would be for defense. Air force estimates were expected to be $1,045,000,000, a new peacetime high.

Sir John said tests showed that steel shelters provided by the government for erection in private yards offered adequate protection against air bomb splinters. Laborite Herbert Morrison termed it a "public scandal" that the government had delayed construction of deep bombproof shelters.

To this the minister asserted that Barcelona's war experience "afforded no guide to what should be done in this country." He explained that Barcelona, with wider streets and a harder sub-soil, differed from London.

He added that "the experience of Valencia," which was bombed by Spanish rebel planes, confirmed the government's policy that the population shoud be dispersed as protection from air raids.

The air raid precautions organization said distribution of the special "toy" gas helmets would start in three weeks and urged that parents teach babies to treat the helmets as toys until they reach the age of two, when they will be old enough for gas masks.

FRANCE SHIFTS MORE TROOPS TO COPE WITH ITALIANS IN LIBYA

PARIS, March 1.—(AP)—Members of the chamber of deputies' foreign affairs committee said tonight that Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet had told the committee that French army units had been moved from Algeria to reënforce the garrison in Tunisia to match recent increases in Italy's forces in adjacent Libya.

Committeemen also quoted Bonnet as saying that both British and French warships were patrolling the Red sea as well as the Mediterranean to guard against any "Italian adventure" against French Somaliland. At Marseilles an unstated number of fighting planes were loaded aboard the plane carrier Commandante Teste, which left tonight for Algeria.

These movements tended to back up Bonnet's assertion that France will negotiate with Italy only on the basis of the 1935 treaty which granted Italy some African territory and other concessions. That agreement already has been denounced by Rome.

Canadian Ship, Reported Sinking, Calls for Help

Boston, Mass., March 2 [Thursday].—(AP)—The coast guard said today the Canadian steamer Ranger wirelessed it was leaking badly and in need of immediate assistance at a point 385 miles northeast of Halifax. Coast guardsmen said they understood the towboat Foundation Franklin was on its way from Halifax to help. The Ranger has 150 men aboard.

POOR MRS. JONES—HER HOME HAS LAYER CAKE HEAT

Health, Comfort and Economy—All Call for Coal

● If you've got coal heat in your home you've got the very best heat you can have. Coal and coke are the only fuels that give you an even flow of heat.

Homes are uncomfortable when you have a furnace that stops and starts, causing the heat to form in layers, hot air above, around your head, warm air around your chest and cold air from your knees down. If you use coal or coke either hand fired or stoker, you'll get a constant, continuous source of heat.

And think of the money you'll save! Coal or coke heat is actually 40% cheaper than the next cheapest form of heat.

Order coal or coke from your local coal merchant today. If you are not sure he is a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association, call STAte 9723.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: You will be gratified to learn that not all of your daily lessons are wasted. Last night, defending against a game contract in no trump, I was able to make a play that I had seen described only a short time ago in your column. Frankly, I was almost as much surprised as were my opponents. I had not previously suspected myself of genius. But, as I modestly explained to partner and opponents, I really deserved no credit except for a good memory, because [as I have said] an almost identical situation was recently described by you. Pass	Pass

"I think you will approve North-South's bidding. Certainly, South, with five and a half plus honor tricks and the required 4-3-3-3 distribution, had a good opening two no trump bid. I was West and, of course, passed. For one thing, I could hardly overcall at the three level, and for another, hoped to defeat the contract with my good diamond suit. North seemed to shiver a bit as he raised the no trump to game and, after I saw his hand, I couldn't blame him much.

"I opened the six of diamonds and declarer won with the nine spot. He then laid down the club ace and I had my own club five three inches out of my hand before I had my big inspiration. You may be sure that I put it back in a hurry and started to think. I knew that declarer was a good player and a sound bidder. If I played the club five under his ace and had to follow to the next trick with the queen, what could be more likely than that he would let me hold the trick and keep me on lead so that a diamond could not come through his king-jack? Of course, it was possible that my partner had the ace of spades or hearts, and that if I were to hold the trick with the heart queen I could put him in for a diamond return. But this was highly problematical. First, I would have to find him with an ace, and second, I would have to guess which ace it was.

"All in all, it appeared that the one reasonable chance to get my partner on lead was to ditch my own club queen and rely on him for the club jack to stop the club suit and also to gain entry. So I put the club five back in my hand [I had not held it in such a way that it could be seen by any player] and deliberately played the club queen under declarer's ace. South led another club and when I followed with the five spot, gave me a glare of deep suspicion. As you will note, however, he was helpless at this point. If he played the club king, that would be his last trick in dummy, whereas if he played low, in order to retain a club in his hand for future communication, my partner would win the trick with the jack and return a diamond, which would let me run the whole suit. The latter is what actually happened and we collected one trick in clubs and five diamonds, beating the contract 200 points, thanks to your daily lessons. Gratefully, E. F. G., Chicago."

I am indeed gratified that the bids and plays described here fall on such fertile soil. There is nothing that need be added to my correspondent's analysis. As West so truly perceived, the club queen was a definite liability and he was very wise and farsighted to get rid of it at the earliest opportunity.

Children's Use of 'Bad Words' Not Alarming

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright; 1939; By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"How can my 5 year old use such awful words? He doesn't hear them at home," is the way most mothers feel when their children shock their ears with a "swear word" or rough slang or a "street word" of sex connotation.

Yesterday we gave a brief explanation of why children do this, explaining that it was a phase which would pass if properly handled. Today I want to give you a few suggestions as to how to respond to this—to you—shocking behavior.

Don't be shocked and don't scold your child when he uses his first "bad word." I remember an older woman who had many little friends in her social work telling me an amusing anecdote in this connection. A small boy used a street term in her hearing, obviously, she said, looking for an explosion from her. "That's funny," she said to him calmly, "I was reading the Bible last night and found that very word. They used to use it long ago." How his face fell! Her statement was, of course, entirely true. Some very plain words have come to have unpleasant uses.

Don't tell your child he has said something bad or shameful. It may be that paying no attention is the best in some cases, at least for a while. Certainly too much attention emphasizes things to a child and tends to fix them in his or her memory.

If something needs to be said, then you can explain that that is a word you don't use in your family, that only people who don't know how to talk use it, and that you have a better word meaning the same thing.

Picking up street words with a sex connotation may happen when a child is very young or when he's in his teens. The situation has to be handled intelligently and quietly. But the best safeguard is for the child to know the correct names first for the parts and functions of the body, to have an understanding of reproduction suitable for his or her age, and a normal, natural attitude toward sex.

This last does a very important thing, it gives children the correct and wholesome attitude first, making that the stronger impression. Then when other ideas and words bred of ignorance or secretiveness come along, they cannot possibly have the same effect they would have made if heard first, if they had had all the impact of a first impression.

Now for the mothers and fathers whose children have taken into their speech many of these bad words and continue to use them. They have a real problem to face, due largely to association. First, they may remedy matters by moving to a better neighborhood. If that is not feasible, they will have to try, by intelligent and friendly means, to continue to educate their children deliberately in normal ideas and decent speech so that they are not much harmed or affected by what they hear. If they could get together a group of the parents of their children's companions and discuss this habit of the boys it might be successful and work for the good of every one concerned.

This is a thing I see very great need of, more than you might imagine unless you were in my position, to see it or know of it. One parent alone, as many have found to their sorrow, has a hard time when other children in a neighborhood have distorted language and ideas. If a small parents' group could be started by some of the mothers and fathers who write me, this subject might come up among other general subjects of child management and the other parents might be really won over to the modern and better way of giving children training along these lines. It would be well worth trying.

Front Views and Profiles

The color for spring obviously is Kelly-Green, wisecracks Bette Berger.

Gentlemen All.

An elevator operator in one of the apartment buildings on Lake Shore drive has been ill since early last autumn. Had the building management been forced to engage a substitute operator the sick man would have lost his sorely needed salary, as he has not been a member of the union long enough to rate sick pay. The five other men on the day and night shift have given up their day off each week to stand his shift, so that he could have his pay check regularly. It has meant that, with the exception of a couple of weeks when the sick man was back, they have had no days off all autumn, all winter, and are still doing his job with spring in the offing. If there were more of that spirit in the world life would be simpler and pleasanter for individuals and governments.

History Lesson.

A 13 year old girl named Eileen, in the eighth grade at a convent school, volunteered when one of the sisters asked during the history lesson who in the class could trace Sherman's march to the sea. Encouraged by the sister's "Just begin and somebody may be able to continue," Eileen began to dismember the confederacy.

• • •

Beginning at Chattanooga, she ravaged the fair south with Yankee fire and Sherman's sword, burned innumerable elegant manors, laid waste countless plantations and, arriving in Atlanta, pulled up the rails, emptied the warehouses, and brought down the homes of the residents about their heads. Then she marched on to Savannah.

• • •

The class listened in amazement and when the sister praised her for her vivid recital one envious girl commented, "Well, she ought to be smart. Her mother's Mrs. Pickett, the teacher."

"But my mother didn't tell me," retorted Eileen. "I got it all from Gone with the Wind."

Chinese Dinner.

We dined at our favorite Chinese restaurant on cook's night out and tried new dishes. The soup—delicately flavored chicken broth with budlike lotus hips in it. The next course, egg-rolls—egg batter filled with chopped shrimp, barbecued pork, and Chinese vegetables, and tiny accompanying dishes of sweet-sour sauce and mustard. The main dishes—chicken, ham, and almonds, a delicious concoction—and fried lobster, Chinese style, with a sauce to remember. This served with rice and tea. As a last course, a delicately flavored fruit with a Chinese name, "lichee fruit," the waiter explained.

Hostess Gowns Are Wonders of Smooth Fit

BY RHEA SEEGER.

We've come a long way since the days of the so-called wrapper. House coats and hostess gowns in exciting new versions of graceful design arrive almost daily. Everything fits smoothly around the waistline; zippers in long lengths streak up the front; the yardage in the wide full skirts matches anything in the ball gown collections.

For incredibly low price marks you can own a flowered cotton number guaranteed to make any one look decorative at the breakfast table.

For a little more cash you can choose one of the best looking taffeta checks of the present showings. Tiny fluted edgings of the two tone taffeta trim the cuffs of the cleverly cut short sleeves and the front of the bodice and the skirt. And the skirts are wide and swish with just the proper amount of noise. They're as neat as pins and have all the fresh spring charm of a pot of tulips.

If green doesn't steal every fashion spotlight this spring no color ever will. Every one is pushing green, including the designers of house coat, negligee, and lingerie. Poetic green chiffon nightgowns so beautiful, romantic, and graceful they could easily go to a ball come in pale bud green and a few darker shades. Luscious satin beauties have inset yokes and trim of bistre tinted lace. Full skirts, swathed bodices, and the same clinging lure of a dance dress make them a big style excitement.

Among the hostess gowns in green is a heart breaker composed of a minutely tucked bodice to accent the wide flare of a sunburst pleated skirt. A gold kidskin belt whirls around the center. This gown fits to flatter every line of the body and could easily double for a becoming dinner costume. It also comes in an ethereal shade of blue with a silver belt.

The Rev. Ray E. Bond, pastor of Edison Park Methodist church, is editor of a series of Lenten meditations appearing in the Christian Advocate, official Methodist publication. It is called "Thy Church in Thy House." Today's theme is finding God through our minds.

"Dr. Kirtley Mather, Harvard geologist, has said in a lecture, 'The more we know about the world the better understanding we have of God and his character.'

"Particularly within the last century the minds of men have been busy trying more fully to understand this wonderful and mysterious world. The more they study the more mysterious it appears. Also, the more amazing appears the Designer and Creator of this bewildering universe.

"The contemplations of the vast world revealed by astronomy, the consideration of the infinitesimal particles of matter, the recognition of Christ's influence in the course of history, and the increased sensitiveness of the consciences of men point our minds to the great and good God of all."

Ideas for a Spring Suit

WOMAN'S AND MISS' SUIT COSTUME.

Need a new spring suit? The pattern offerings today include a wide variety of ideas you can utilize to create just the right suit for yourself. The blouse pattern offers three suggestions, all of which keep excellent company with the strictly tailored suit presented in the other design.

The suit itself is a simple two piece affair, two buttoned, with pockets near the hemline of the jacket, and with a rever collarline. The sleeves are squared at the shoulders. Clever tucks nip the jacket in to the silhouette. The skirt has plaits at either side, preserving a sleek, long, and tailored line while giving the necessary width for walking. Choose one of the smart new spring woolens for this costume, and your selection need not be black, brown, or navy blue, for there are some lovely new shades you can't afford to miss.

With this suit wear any or all of the blouses. At the top is a quaint model with square neckline, puffed sleeves, and bows down the front. The model fits like the basque bodices of mother's day. Trim the neckline and sleeves with plaiting or ruffling, and you have an 1890 style.

In the center is sketched a blouse with soft tailored collar, puffed long sleeves, two small pockets, and buttons all the way down the front. It makes up beautifully in shirting silks and rather sturdy cottons.

The model sketched at the bottom is so crisply tailored it fairly stands by itself. There is a shirtwaist collar, a shoulder yoke, squared shoulders, and shirring beneath the yoke to give softness to the bodice.

Style No. 2821 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 54 inch material.

Style No. 2525 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

The Housewife

For the housewife who likes to use plenty of polish on furniture and woodwork, yet who has to keep a wary eye on the budget, there is an excellent product that multiplies! You buy a single bottle of it and make two bottles. This is done simply by diluting the polish with an equal amount of water. The manufacturer suggests you do this; its effectiveness is not lessened.

Another good feature about this liquid polish is that it cleans as well as shines. It quickly removes smudges, grease, and finger marks from table tops and dressers, woodwork, and the like. It restores the original surface and adds new freshness to the finish.

Name Soloists for North Shore Music Festival

BY JUDITH CASS.

ARTHUR G. CABLE, president of the Northwestern University Festival association, announced soloists for the May festival at a meeting of the women's committee at the Arts club yesterday. Marian Anderson, famous Negro contralto, will sing at the children's program on Saturday afternoon, May 20.

Mr. Cable had many other interesting things to say, among them that wheel chairs will be provided to take those with weak hearts up the ramps of Dyche stadium, part of which will be transformed into a choral theater for this year's festival; that carpets will cover the cinders where the "carriage trade" alights to enter the stadium; that every one of the seven thousand seats will be a good one, and that the association is endeavoring to supply superlative music at reasonable prices.

Mr. Cable then introduced "the one and only Papa Stock," although Dr. Frederick Stock never would need an introduction to such an audience as the one he talked to yesterday. He gave more details of the programs to be given on the evenings of May 16, 18, and 20, and the afternoon of the 20th.

Bach's "Passion According to Saint Matthew" will be given on the opening night; Wolf-Ferrari's choral masterpiece, "The New Life," with Igor Gorin, baritone, as soloist, on the second, and Kirsten Flagstad, Wagnerian soprano, and Beethoven's "Ninth Symphony" with the famous choral finale, will be presented on the final night.

"If the weather is good we can draw the curtains and accommodate eight thousand, nine, ten, any number of children and mammas and papas," Dr. Stock said as he told of the children's program. "And they all can sing Negro spirituals with Marian Anderson."

More than fifty of the eighty-four boxes already have been taken. Some of those who were at the meeting yesterday were Mrs. Cable and Mr. Cable's sister, Mrs. Miriam Gruenberger; Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Gilbert Smith, Mrs. Ewing Webb, Mrs. Kenneth Templeton, Mrs. Dwight C. Orcutt, Mrs. Chester D. Tripp, Dr. Hans Lange, and Mrs. H. Carmen Lutkin, whose father-in-law, the late Peter Christian Lutkin, originated the north shore festivals.

St. Augustine Busy with Fiesta Plans.

From St. Augustine comes news of the preparations in that old Florida city for the annual fiesta, "A Day in Old Spain," on March 31. The celebration begins with ceremonies at the Hotel Ponce de Leon and continues with festivities in narrow, winding Aviles street in the old Spanish section of the town.

In any place of Spanish origin a fiesta is something in which natives and visitors alike join in merrymaking and religious observances. The visitors usually are passive participants in the latter, but in spite of the gay time they have at fiesta balls and parties most of them always say later that it is the religious processions and ceremonies that impress them the most and that are the most memorable in any fiesta.

St. Augustine and Santa Fe, N. M., are more or less friendly rivals for the title of the oldest city in the United States. Most authorities, however, give the Florida city the distinction of being the oldest, for it was founded in 1565 and Santa Fe not until 1609. The New Mexican city, however, has the oldest church in the country, and an old house that some Santa Fe residents claim is the most ancient, although other residents admit that St. Augustine has at least one house that is older.

Santa Fe will have its annual fiesta

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

I don't quite know why it is that we cooks are so fond of recipes which call for honey. But the fact is that eight out of ten of us would snatch at a formula for "chocolate honey cake" when we'd react indifferently to one for a plain chocolate cake.

Sometimes only a gourmet's taste buds can recognize the flavor of honey in a baked goodie, but all of us can taste something very delicious about a honey sweetened food.

Prune Honey Bread.
[One Loaf.]

½ cup honey
2 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
½ cup mashed cooked prunes
1 cup cornmeal
¾ cup whole wheat flour
½ teaspoon soda
1¼ cups all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups milk
1 cup broken nut meats

Cream together the honey and shortening. Add egg and beat well. Add prunes. Combine dry ingredients, first sifting all-purpose flour with soda, baking powder, and salt. Add to honey and egg mixture alternately with milk. Add nut meats. Stir only enough to blend. Bake approximately 1¼ hours in a slow oven, 325 degrees.

Chocolate Honey Cake.
[Two 9-inch layers.]

¾ cup honey
½ cup sugar
½ cup butter, margarine, or other fat
1 egg, separated
2 squares melted chocolate
2½ cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ cup milk

Cream together thoroughly the honey, sugar, and shortening. Add beaten egg yolks, then melted chocolate. Alternately add sifted dry ingredients and milk, beating batter until smooth after each addition. Fold in the egg white, beaten until stiff. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 45 to 50 minutes, in loaf pan, 30 to 40 minutes in layers.

Lemon Honey Sauce for Puddings.

1 egg
½ cup honey
1 cup hot water
1½ tablespoons butter
½ lemon, juice and grated rind

Beat the egg, add other ingredients, and cook in the top of a double boiler, stirring constantly, about 15 minutes or until thickened.

Honey Divinity.

2 cups sugar
½ cup honey
¾ cup boiling water
3 egg whites
½ cup chopped nuts or candied cherries
½ teaspoon vanilla

Mix sugar, honey, and water, and cook without stirring to the hard ball stage, 248 degrees by the candy thermometer. Beat egg whites until stiff, and cool sirup to almost lukewarm. Pour sirup slowly over beaten egg whites, beating constantly. When candy thickens add nuts and flavoring and pour into buttered pans. Cut into squares.

The honey divinity recipe comes from the booklet "Simple Homemade Candies," 5 cents by mail. There are thirty-two other candy recipes in the book, too, and a set of rules and tests for candy to make everything easy. Address mail orders to me, in care of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Bride Moves to Winnetka

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

An attractive newcomer in Chicago circles is the former Miss Georgia Simmons of St. Louis, the youthful bride of Harlan T. Pierpont Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Pierpont are making their home in Winnetka. Her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Simmons, and their two little girls live in East Walton place.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Those spring touches to brighten up the old winter wardrobe are sending many of us scurrying around for a different lipstick. You'll be wanting something brighter, probably.

If your own stick is worn to a sliver and if you're tired of it [we find that women do weary of one lipstick, even of one they are completely satisfied with] you might like to know about some now on the market that are in luscious shades and in a texture that's really something to write home about. They're the product of one of the most competent and style conscious manufacturers; she's recently changed their formula.

Her idea in changing the formula was to give all of her colors a rather electric quality that, after the fashion of what the maker chooses to call "white magic," gives the illusion of more intense whiteness of the teeth by contrast. This point seems a little obscure to us, but the fact remains that the colors DO have a vividness, even in the conservative shades, that makes them standouts.

The texture is delightful, very smooth and not too oily. And the lip rouge clings wonderfully well.

There are five shades. Our personal preference at the moment is one called plum. We admit to a weakness for the blue tones in lipsticks if they're not too garish. In this plum shade the blue cast is ever so faint, but it does combine to make a most beautiful color that is fashionable and flattering to most women. If you prefer to give the bluish undertones a pass it's almost a certainty that in the remaining four shades, ranging from a lovely pinky red to a dark one, you'll find a color that does bright things for your face.

You'll find these truly excellent sticks in several shops. And they're not as expensive as their fashion rightness and quality might lead you to expect.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

[Hollywood notables are contributing columns during Ed Sullivan's vacation.]

Recess—After 10 Years.

BY LORETTA YOUNG.

Hollywood, Cal., March 1.

Dear Ed: You and I have reached the vacation period at the same time. Mine is really a milestone in my life. It marks the completion of ten years of solid work in Hollywood and the expiration of my present Twentieth Century-Fox contract. I am going away to Europe for a period of about six months, but with nothing definite yet to return to. While I am there I shall decide what my future plans will be, but that decision will not be made until I have had a complete rest and am ready to face business again.

What I want most of all is to look at the last ten years in retrospect and judge it all as a single pattern. From the moment I told Mervyn Le Roy over the phone ten years ago that my sister, Polly Ann, was working and that I would like a chance to take her place, to the time Director Irving Cummings called "Cut!" on my last scene recently, things have gone at such rapid pace that I haven't yet had time to figure it all out.

Those two incidents encompass my career in pictures to date. It takes time, leisure and distance to assemble a string of apparently unrelated incidents into a consecutive story in order to realize what trend it should take from now on. That is why I am going to Europe for six months, a great part of which time I shall spend in a small quiet place just vegetating on mental reminiscences. One of the things I remember well is my first day on the set after Mervyn Le Roy had okayed me for a small part in "Naughty but Nice" with Colleen Moore. I was terribly nervous, not so much over the actual movie ordeal as because I felt like a lost soul straying in a wilderness.

There was one time that actual tears came. That was when I was given my first big chance with Lon Chaney in "Laugh, Clown, Laugh." I was trying hard—perhaps too hard—but things didn't seem to go just right. The director was irritable, and I took it personally. I had to rush behind the set where I had a mild case of hysterics, crying my eyes out. It was there that Lon Chaney found me and began to talk soothingly to me. His voice and manner calmed me a little, and when he saw that I was in a mood to listen to him he gave me a gentle lecture which revealed not only the innate goodness of the man but also gave me the necessary courage and philosophy that have carried me on.

I had marvelous luck in my first few years. First National had signed me to a contract. My parts grew bigger from picture to picture. I saw ahead of me a chance of attaining stardom. I was, and still am, a movie fan, and I yearned to play in pictures with such of my favorites as Ronald Colman and John Barrymore. When I actually got rôles opposite these fine actors I felt that my ambition was complete. Then came sound. Everything that had been dogma in the picture business before that was thrown overboard. I was caught up in the panic that hit Hollywood at that time. Top stars who looked as though they would last forever were discarded overnight because they did not possess screen voices. It was in that hectic period that I married at the age of 17—a marriage which did not last very long.

The most crucial test I ever went through was when I was given the test in "The Squall," the first all talking picture. If I did not come through that test I knew that I would join that great lost legion which was counted out when sound came in. I thought then of what Lon Chaney had told me that day behind the set—that nothing was worth breaking one's heart over, that sincere work would win out in the long run and that tears would have no effect one way or the other. I worked hard and sincerely, and perhaps a little grimly.

I soon found out that motion picture stars have no bed of roses. For a long time I had planned what I would do with a very good salary. I wanted to travel. I wanted to see New York and Europe. It was only in recent years that I was able to get east of Salt Lake City, where I was born. After I made "The Crusades" I made my first and only trip to Europe, but being so run down through hard work I took ill and had to return early. Vacations have been scarce in the last ten years.

My contract expires with the completion of "Alexander Graham Bell." Perhaps I shall re-sign with Twentieth Century-Fox, and perhaps not. I don't know. I want to get away and look into the looking glass.

Try Following Nature's Cue in Using Wardrobe Colors

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Speaking of color combinations, which you probably are doing right now with the spring outlt in mind, you may be interested in hearing Margarette Byers on the subject. She is the author of that deservedly best selling book, "Designing Women" [Simon & Schuster]. Miss Byers says:

"One of the first things they teach you in elementary design is 'the brighter the color the smaller the area.' That is why a woman in a whole dress of flamboyant red looks common. She fights for attention. But she is not nearly so striking as, for instance, the daughter of a Mexican hidalgo who contrived an entire costume of black—black coat, black hat, black fur, cape and the throat just a thin line of capucine."

You don't have to carry out this principle with neutrals as a background. You can take a tip from the French, who combine what we consider utterly incompatible colors perfectly by using one pastel as a background with touches of an intense shade. But by gauging the proportions carefully, the French get original and distinguished effects that are different because nobody else dares try them.

Miss Byers takes yellow and orange, which you might think would be impossible together, but nature combines them successfully in primroses by using the orange sparingly, Miss Byers points out, recalling a smart spectator sports frock of primrose yellow with orange buttons.

When in doubt, Miss Byers suggests that we take our cue from nature's color effects. Green goes with everything there. Green with lilac is extremely effective, but taking your cue from the lilac bush a good deal more green than lilac will be used.

Overdoing accessory colors is bad. Two accessories in contrast to your costume Miss Byers deems sufficient.

INSTALMENT IV.

A THREAT.

Lee had an entertaining vision of Rush in a starched nurse's cap. She said consolingly,

"Well, you've still got Mr. Pyne, and this floor's full—me in here, and Ross in number eight, and Peter in number nine. Quite a nice little family party, aren't we?"

Rush stumped out of the room into the hall.

"I've not got nothing against Mr. Peter," he said. "Mr. Ross, he'll go too far one of these days."

Ross seemed to have been making himself popular. Rush grumbled at every one, but there was something harsher than a grumble in his voice now.

She said lightly, "Don't start quarreling with your bread and butter," and saw the old man fling round with a jerk.

"Bread and butter?" he said, "That's all some folks think about! There's times I feel as if Mr. Ross' bread 'ud choke me, and I'll be telling him so one of these days—or choking him."

In spite of the heat a little cold shiver ran over Lee. The outer door of the flat stood half open, and as she shivered she heard a step go by. It went past, and it stopped. A latch clicked, a door banged. Lee ran across and shut her own.

"O, Rush, how stupid you are!" she said in a scolding voice. "Why do you want to say things like that at the top of your voice for every one to hear? If that was Ross, what's the odds he heard what you said? You've torn it properly!"

The old man stood there glowering.

"It might be Mr. Ross or it mightn't. How do I care what he heard? Didn't I say I'd be telling him one of these days? If he goes too far, he goes too far. And if he heard what I said, he's welcome!"

"Why are you so angry with him? What's he been doing?"

Rush elbowed her away from the door in his rudest and most determined manner.

"Nothing I'd be likely to talk about to you!" he said, and went stumping out, and down the stairs.

She could hear him muttering to himself all the way to the next flight. She wondered more than ever what Ross had done to offend him. Of course it was very easy to offend Rush. He had been porter there for thirty years, and considered that the place belonged to him. He remembered John Peter Craddock, and he had served John David. The present owner had never been anything more than Mr. Ross, and if he disapproved of Mr. Ross he could see no reason why he shouldn't say so.

Ross wouldn't be so stupid as to take it seriously—Ross couldn't. But Ross was turning Cousin Lucy out. If he could do that . . .

Lee frowned and went to shut the door, but before she could do anything about it there was a knock and a deprecating cough. Instead of shutting the door she opened it, and beheld the limp, dejected form of Mrs. Green.

Twenty years ago Mrs. Green would have been described as a char. Now she aspired to the title of caretaker, but after one severe trouncing from Rush at the beginning of her engagement three months previously she had had to fall back upon the useful compromise of daily help.

She scrubbed the stairs and cleaned the lift, very inefficiently according to Rush, who had been heard to describe her as a snivelling hen. She also "obliged" in several of the flats. She had a lachrymose voice, a good deal of untidy gray hair, and a large port-wine mark all across the left side of her face. In spite of the heat of the day she was shrouded in an old Burberry. A black felt hat of uncertain shape was tipped well over on one side of her head. To the other she clutched a faded blue crochet shawl with a border which had once been white.

Beholding Lee, her mouth fell open.

"O, Miss Fenton—I thought perhaps I'd catch Miss Craddock—"

Lee shook her head.

"She's gone."

Mrs. Green leaned against the door jamb. She groaned and shut her eyes.

"What's the matter?"

"I do feel that bad. I was going to ask if I might sit down for a minute."

There was nothing for it. Lee stood back without any very hospitable feeling.

Mrs. Green swayed limply to one of the hall chairs and sank down upon it with another groan.

Lee said with a catch in her breath,

"What is it? Won't you tell me? Shall I call Rush?"

She could have administered no sharper restorative. At the porter's name Mrs. Green's drooping head came up with a jerk.

"Him?" she said. "O, miss, you won't tell him. I'll get the sack for sure if you do."

"For being ill?" said Lee.

Mrs. Green sniffed.

"He hasn't got 'uman feelings. Last time I had one of me turns he carried on something shocking. 'And I suppose you think I do it to enjoy myself, Mr. Rush,' I said, and he took and told me that if I did it again I could go and enjoy myself somewhere else. And all I done was arst for the loan of a mite of brandy. 'Just you take a drop of brandy when you get one of your turns, Mrs. Green, and it may be the saving of you.' That's what they told me in the 'orspital. I suppose Miss Craddock hasn't left a drop,"

"I'm sure she hasn't," said Lee.

"Then I'll be getting along," said Mrs. Green in a voice of gloom. "The sooner I get along and into my bed the better, because this isn't only the beginning of it, this isn't. Twenty-four hours my turns last, regular. There isn't nothing you can do for them nejther let alone a drop of brandy that eases the pain. Right up in the top of my head it starts, and down it goes till it's through and through me. Many's the time I've been picked up and taken home for dead."

She heaved a heavy high and got to her feet. "I done the stairs this morning. Mr. Rush can say what he likes, but I done them. And Mr. and Mrs. Connell's away, and I've cleaned up after them and no business of Mr. Rush's, and if he's got anything to say about my taking a day off, it's a sinful shame, and I hope there's some that'll speak for me. I wouldn't mind going to Mr. Craddock about it. It's him that's master here, and not that upstart of a Rush, when all's said and done."

Mrs. Green paused on the threshold to groan and wrap the faded shawl about her neck.

"There's a bus I could get if I'd some coppers for it," she said in hollow tones.

Lee gave her sixpence, and was glad to see her go. But when she had shut the door her heart smote her and she thought, "How horrible to be a daily help, and have turns, and go round cadging brandy and bus fares." She wondered if the turns were real, because if they were, perhaps she ought to see Mrs. Green safely back to wherever it was she lodged. She had taken off her dress and turned on the bath, but it came over her that she had been harsh. Supposing Mrs. Green was swooning on the stairs or being taken up for dead in the street. . . . .

Lee put on her dress again and ran down. There was no one to be seen except Rush, who was crossing the hall. The big front door stood open. She ran down the steps and glanced up and down the street. A bus had just gone by. With any luck Mrs. Green must have caught it.

She turned back, relieved, to meet Rush's glowering eye.

"I was looking to see if Mrs. Green had gone."

"Want her?" said Rush.

"O, no," said Lee.

"Sniveling hen," said Rush.

Federal Ballet Uses Spanish War as Theme

BY CECIL SMITH.

In the new program of the Federal ballet, made known at the Blackstone theater last night, a good level of entertainment value is maintained, although no single item hits its target with the square aim of last year's "Frankie and Johnny."

"Guns and Castanets," a modernized version of "Carmen," choreographed by Ruth Page and Bentley Stone, is the headlined piece. The music, by Jerome Moross, is partly a condensation of portions of the familiar Bizet opera and partly an original score of his own. At intervals poems by Federico Garcia Lorca, noted loyalist poet who was killed in the Spanish civil war, are sung from the pit by Charles Polacheck.

The bare outline of the "Carmen" plot, with its personages renovated for contemporary purposes, provides a skeleton for the dance action. Don José is a loyalist soldier, Escamillo a rebel aviator who makes his entrance amid the roar of motors and a bombardment of fireworks.

In its most active, noisy moments "Guns and Castanets" is quite exciting, and a pas de deux which serves as a love scene between Carmen [Miss Page] and Escamillo [Mr. Stone] is superb theater. As an attempt at artistic unity, however, the whole ballet is not too successful. The diffuse elements of the musical score never quite jell. And I am inclined to suspect that "Guns and Castanets" would be a far more vigorous and direct stage piece without so much conscious attempt to lug the war into it by external devices.

"Love Song," a charmingly lyrical episode to Franz Schubert music, opens the program well. A clever compendium called "Scrapbook" closes it with a varied series of glimpses of earlier works—some successful and some not—by Miss Page and Mr. Stone.

In his dancing Mr. Stone gives a superb account of himself all evening. Walter Camryn and Bettina Rosay also dance extremely well. Miss Page becomes somewhat too grimly portentous in passages of "Guns and Castanets," but recovers the notable aristocracy of her taste elsewhere. The corps de ballet is eager and well rehersed.

Critic Amazed by Versatility of Miss Cook

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Naomi Cullen Cook, soprano, demonstrated her amazing versatility in a Kimball hall recital last night. The florid "Laudamus Te" of Bach, Elisabeth's declamatory "Dich teure Halle," from "Tannhäuser," the tender "To the Children" of Rachmaninoff—all of these were done with technical competence and with obvious grasp of their disparate styles.

Miss Cook's voice is large and reliable, quite capable of compassing a thunderous fortissimo when her sense of the music's meaning demands such an effect. Nearly always her shadings come right instinctively, for she climbs right into the songs and tries to live them.

On the debit side of the Cook ledger is a diction difficulty which seems less important in itself than as a symptom of a questionable approach to the business of public singing. Often her words are almost completely unintelligible—in one song the most painstaking attention resulted in the identification of less than a handful of English words.

On this and on the fact that Miss Cook's voice is sometimes unfocussed and heavy, is based the suspicion that she thinks of the practice of music less as urgent communication than as private musing. Seldom does she project a song audiencewards with enough insistence and intentness.

Edgar Nelson provided beautifully calculated piano accompaniments.

Because of illness among the singers tomorrow evening's Civic theater concert of the Safety Legion quartet and the Swiss Singers has been postponed to March 10.

The Chicago Academy of Sciences on Sunday afternoon will present a new series of color photographs of the New England countryside. The photos were taken by Dr. Louis J. Tint.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. Arthur Loewy of 5480 Hyde Park boulevard, formerly of Oak Park, announces the engagement of her daughter, Katherine, to Manual Fink, son of Mrs. Manual Fink of the Windermere East hotel. The wedding will take place early in April.

Mrs. Evelyn Harris Turney of Evanston announces the engagement of her daughter, Susan Elizabeth, to Clifford Gueutal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile H. Gueutal of Indianapolis. Miss Turney attended Lake Forest college and Mr. Gueutal attended Wabash college. The wedding probably will take place the end of this month.

When Poor Man Weds Rich Girl There's Danger

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"I am a bookkeeper, but hate the work. I've always dreamed of a big ranch with cattle and horses. It so happens that I am going around now with a girl who has all of these things that I have dreamed about. Also, I love her, and I have reason to believe she returns my feeling.

"Yeah, I'll admit it. I like good things. I like to have them and to have plenty of money, but I do not mind working for them. I don't drink or run around much. I don't dance. The girl loves dancing and loves to run around a lot, but no harm in it or in her. Do you think marriage advisable under my circumstances? BAXTER."

It's worth considering, Baxter, so long as you two care for each other. Worth considering, too, are some of the things the penniless husband is up against with a wife of means. There's something about a woman, big-hearted and generous as she may be, that somehow dictates an eventual distaste for the man financially dependent upon her. She means to be fine about it, perhaps, but it may be just the old primitive urge calling for a provider that eventually sets her nerves on edge. So that's something to consider.

But if, as you say, you are willing to work you might take over the ranch and well justify your board and keep. Our suggestion would be, however, to adopt a business arrangement right from the start so that your union will be spared bickerings over the dollar you might have to beg otherwise.

Goodness knows, there's nothing new in a man marrying a girl with money. The danger lies in the man providing no opportunity for himself to show his mettle. That is, if he shows willingness to be an unpaid dependent he's bound to lose. But if he can raise his status in the woman's eyes year after year by producing, there's no more risk than in any other marriage. It's letting the moneyed one dominate and eventually deflate the masculine ego that threatens his becoming a sorry figure.

You sound somewhat of a dreamer, Baxter, and before you get into marriage you'd better try to face realities squarely. You'll have to learn to dance and go places with the woman if you expect compatibility in your union. It would be advisable, in any event, in any marriage, to compromise on leisure time pleasures.

Chicken Family Creates a Novel Transfer Pattern

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Madam, would you like to take a walk?" is what papa says to mama in the clever outline embroidery of the chicken family. The day's activities are included also in a hot iron transfer embroidery pattern which may be used for children's bibs, towels, pillows, tea cloths, as motifs of decoration on wearing apparel, or for quilt blocks in a coverlet.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the hen, roosters, and family, No. X-561, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

over the Labor day week-end next September.

This week in St. Augustine the Florida east coast women's golf championship tournament is being played. Miss Elizabeth Wing and Mrs. E. P. Mayo of Evanston are among the contestants. The junior Ralph H. Pooles, who have purchased a house at Crescent Beach, near St. Augustine, are now in Hobe Sound, where they are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. Douglas Burden. Mr. Burden and Mr. Poole are associated with the management of the new Marine studios near St. Augustine.

Name Two Chicagoans to Jekyll Island Club.

Lester Armour and Robert A. Gardner have been elected to the board of governors of the Jekyll Island club which starts its annual invitation golf tournament on March 9. Unfortunately, neither of the new Chicago directors will be on the island to take part in the tournament.

A bit north of Jekyll Island on Georgia's Atlantic coast is Sea Island, another popular vacation spot with Chicagoans. The Charles A. Tilts have a lovely home there which they are occupying now. They will return north the end of April. One of their daughters, Mrs. John Wentworth, and Mr. Wentworth are deep sea fishing in Florida, so they probably will visit the Tilts before returning to Chicago. The Tilts' other daughter, Mrs. Arthur D. Bissell, is planning to visit her parents later in the season.

Mrs. Willoughby G. Walling, Mrs. Everett L. Millard, Mrs. Hobart P. Young, and Mrs. Walter Strong left last week for Guatemala. After spending three weeks there the foursome will return to New Orleans and to Natchez to see the gardens and the old homes that will be open for the Natchez pilgrimages. While the others return to Chicago, Mrs. Millard will continue from Natchez to New York and Boston, where her son, Everett Jr., is at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine have left for a vacation at Ormond, Fla.

Oakleigh Thornes Visit Her Parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Oakleigh Lewis Thorne are arriving today with their infant daughter, Charlotte, for a brief visit with Mrs. Thorne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer. The Thornes and the baby are on their way back to their home in Mount Kisco, N. Y., after a trip to Santa Barbara, where they went for the golden wedding last Sunday of Mr. Thorne's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oakleigh Thorne.

Wee Charlotte is named for her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Philip S. Chancellor, who is the only child of the Oakleigh Thornes.

The former Bertha Palmer and her husband left their two older children, Oakleigh III., who is about 7, and Bertha Honore, who is about 5, at home, for their great-grandparents have seen them, of course. They had not seen Charlotte before, for she is only a few months old.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Haffenberg of Glencoe announce the marriage on Feb. 25 of their daughter, Jayne, to Charles Posner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Posner of Coral Gables, Fla. The bride attended Ward-Belmont school and was graduated from Northwestern university. Mr. Posner attended Arizona college and Northwestern university.

Is She Pretty?

The battle of words is on. One impassioned admirer says she's beautiful. Another raves about her clear, lovely complexion . . . A lovely wide-awake skin often does give the illusion of true beauty, enchanting all who see. Is yours like that? . . . Try this wonderful way to wake up your complexion—to banish that tired look with Dioxogen Cream, the cleansing and toning cream that releases active oxygen right onto your skin.

When you massage in Dioxogen Cream for cleansing, its pure, active oxygen is released onto your skin—and bubbles out the specks of dirt. Wipe away. Then put on a little more Dioxogen Cream and leave it on for a few minutes. That's your oxygen beauty pick-up. A tonic for your skin—refreshing, soothing away that tiredness like a gentle hand. You feel better because your skin feels better! And so smooth to the touch!

Treat your skin to a month of tonic beauty pick-ups with Dioxogen Cream. Costs no more than old-fashioned cold cream. Get a jar at your drug store today. For a generous trial size send ten cents to "Dioxogen Cream," 68 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

REDUCE GOLDEN GLOVE FIELD TO 32 FINALISTS

HAYES HOBBLES TO CAMP WITH NEW SOX GRIEF

Infield Star Still Far Below Par.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 1. — Jack Hayes, who when sound of body plays second base for the White Sox and does fairly well at the job, showed up in Prof. James Dykes' spring conditioning camp today, but his appearance merely intensified the dazed expression the professor has been wearing since last summer, when almost half of his team melted away under the heat of injuries.

Hayes, who had gone from his Alabama home to Chicago for examination before coming west, did not impress Dykes as a man who had been given a perfect rating by the club physician. The manager, having received the surgeon's report, expected to see Hayes prance into the hotel lobby with the grace of a dancer, but instead was greeted by an athlete with a noticeable limp. Briefly, the knee on which an operation was performed last fall is giving trouble, but there still is excuse to be optimistic. The limp may be merely because of fear on Hayes' part and, if the soreness actually is present, it might work out after careful training.

Jackie Isn't So Bad.

The possible loss of Hayes might not be considered important by fans who have their own pet second baseman with one of the other big league clubs, but the Alabama boy really is pretty good. He should be recognized as the holder of some sort of record for being injured every season, but when he is in there he does exceptionaly well, both as a fielder and hitter.

He batted .328 in sixty-two games last season and any manager must respect that figure, even if the producer thereof wasn't an expert on defense. The only bad feature about Hayes is that his frailties make it necessary to have a capable understudy.

The chance that Hayes might not be ready for the season's opening or would be injured eventually, was one reason for Dykes' plotting to get Eric [Boob] McNair from Boston. It also explains why the club purchased Ollie Bejma, the ex-Brown, who had a big 1938 season in St. Paul. With this pair Dykes thinks he is better protected than ever before, although McNair's second basing isn't as skilled as his shortstopping. Short is his natural position, but, now that he is working for a fellow he has liked since they were with the Athletics, he'll even carry the bats without complaint, if so ordered by his hero, the professor.

Connors Checks In.

Because his shoes and gloves were in a trunk which hasn't arrived Hayes didn't appear on the field and Dykes, after observing the limp, refrained from suggesting that the implements of the trade are easily borrowed. However, there was one other newcomer, and his debut made it possible to put on a makeshift infield practice while the batterymen were otherwise engaged. The arrival, a few days late, was Mervin Connors who, after coming up from Texas late last season, hit three homers and missed the fourth only by a few feet in Comiskey park in one afternoon.

Connors was a third basemen when a Sox scout found him a few years back, but now his ambition is to unseat Joe Kuhel, who will arrive along with the other regulars next Friday. Connors went to first in his opening workout, being assisted by Dykes at second, McNair at short, and Charles Ferries at third.

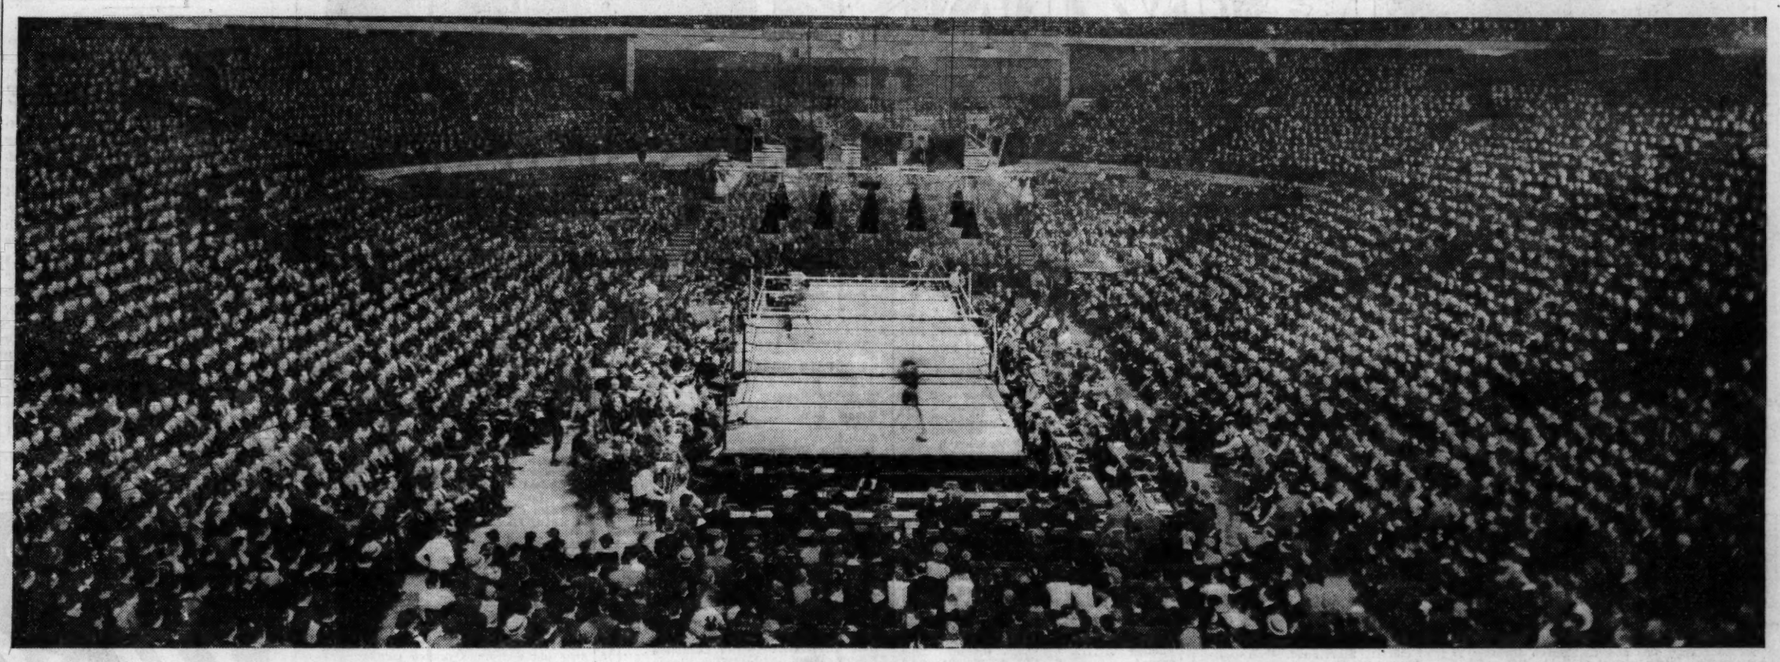
ANOTHER CHAPTER IS ADDED TO BOXING HISTORY



Fifteen thousand boxing fans roar their approval as the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions moves to its colorful climax in three rings in the Stadium last night. The thirty-two survivors of the field of 408 champions from forty-seven cities will return to the same arena March 10 to battle for places on the Chicagoland squad, which meets New York's best on March 29. [Kaufmann & Fabry Photo.]

In the Wake of the News

THREE of the official guides at the San Francisco World's Fair should be able to take it. They are Johnny Drake, former Purdue All-American, now with the Cleveland Rams; Charley Baker, who starred for Southern Methodist, and Frank Cope of Santa Clara, who later served with the football Giants. . . . Michigan State football players will be away from the classroom only five days when they go to California to meet Santa Clara next fall. Reservations have been made for streamliner transportation going and coming. . . . Basketball, as it is played today, is no game for weaklings. Tests made while the Indiana quintet was playing Northwestern and Iowa revealed that Center Bill Menke traveled 3.87 miles against the Wildcats, and Paul Armstrong, sophomore guard, covered 3.58 miles against the Hawkeyes. . . . Vince Di Maggio, recently demoted to the Kansas City Blues by the Bees, is seeking his release. If Vince has to play minor league ball he wants to be on the Pacific coast so he can see the home folks once in a while. . . . California has candidates for three world boxing titles—Lou Nova, heavyweight; Fred Apostoli, middleweight, and Jackie Jurich, Young Montana, and Little Dado, flyweights. . . . Eddie Collins Jr., son of the Red Sox business manager and captain of the Yale nine, will lead his mates against his father's team in an exhibition game April 17. . . . Moving home plate twenty feet closer to the outfield fences last season jumped the Reds' home run output from thirteen in 1937 to fifty. . . .

Bill Watson, Michigan's all round athlete, who returned to school for the second semester, spent the first half of the school year serving as a secretary for Joe Louis. . . . Although the Minnesota basketball team failed to win the title predicted for it, the Gophers shattered all existing records for attendance at home games. . . . Johnny Vander Meer, Cincinnati's no-hit pitcher, and Gerard Debaets, veteran six day bicycle racer, live in neighboring New Jersey communities and are great admirers of each other. Debaets owns a home in Fair Lawn, while Johnny lives with his folks in Midland Park. . . . Kid Howard will conduct a series of amateur boxing shows in his new loop gymnasium next winter to develop a team for the 1940 Golden Gloves tournament. Howard's boys won six out of eight titles in a test tournament sponsored by THE TRIBUNE in 1922. . . . J. Lou Comiskey's idea of the ultimate in pastry is macaroons. He can stow away a large plateful of them at a sitting. . . . Flem Hall, sports editor of the Fort Worth Evening Star-Telegram, which put on the Texas Golden Gloves tournament, believes Davey O'Brien will pass up professional football because of several excellent business propositions in the southwest. . . . Birthday greetings to Moe Berg of the Red Sox, Mel Ott of the Giants, Jack Knott of the White Sox, Morton Cooper of the Cardinals, and Herb Barna of the Athletics.

Let's Get Up a Game.

So Bernard Spadafore is all hopped up about his all-National league team of American league castoffs. I'd be willing to match the following lineup, made up of ex-National leaguers now being paid regularly by American league clubowners, against his any day: Rollie Hemsley and Billy Sullivan, catchers; Buck Newsom and Harry Eisenstat, pitchers; George McQuinn and Dick Seibert, first base; Stan Sperry, second base; Joe Cronin, shortstop; Charley Gelbert, third base, and Rupert Thompson, Mike Kreevich, and Lynn Nelson, outfield.

Mercy.

Behold, the wily scribe and Pharisee
Bring to the Lord, as morning dawns again,
A woman taken in adultery
That Christ might judge her worthy to be slain.

But He, with pity in His gracious eyes,
Seeing the woman helpless and alone,
To her accusers artfully replies:
"Let him that has no sin cast the first stone."

And one by one each witness disappears,
Knowing his own heart sinful to the core;
And from the Master's lips the woman hears
Those words of mercy: "Go, and sin no more." —T. E. B.

Hartnett Plots a Surprise for New Arrivals

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 1.—Gabby Hartnett, manager of the Cubs, eased up on his batterymen today on account of minor aches and pains, not to mention possible ennui. Tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, will be most arduous, however, because the bat swingers will arrive Saturday and will start swinging Sunday morning. Gabby wants to start his weak hitting chattels on a rather classy grade of tossing, hence the bearing down scheduled for the next three days.

Dr. Andy Lotshaw reluctantly admitted a certain amount of muscle misery among his patients, including Manager Hartnett, who yesterday went horseback riding for the first time in several years. The Cub trainer added that he did not have one case of sore arm and does not expect to treat anything more aggravated than aching dogs until the second squad has its first workout.

Gabby Versatile at Losing Weight.

Today was the sixth day of training under sunny skies, but chilly weather has been a deterrent to weight reduction. Manager Hartnett leads the poundage shedders, but because of cool breezes had to resort to steam room parboiling. Gabby has lost ten pounds, two on the field, two on the aforesaid horse, two in the rummy game, in which he has been losing consistently, and four in the steam room.

Dizzy Dean was a good boy today. He pitched about a half dozen balls to Hartnett, then was halted.

Bill Lee's Side Sore.

Bill Lee was among the stars who took things especially easy today. There are some sore muscles in Bill's side. Examination revealed nothing serious. Larry French didn't display his usual zeal and most of the others reported themselves pretty much down after the running phase of the day's conditioning program.

SECOND SQUAD LEAVES

It looked like old times last night when Woody English showed up at Dearborn street station for another trip to Catalina Island. There were five others in the party, but the inevitable crowd that gathers on such occasions paid the little Cub veteran the major share of its attention. English seemed to enjoy it all, marking as it did his return to Chicago after two years spent in Brooklyn and out of baseball.

Others in the group that will reach training camp Saturday at noon were First Baseman Rip Collins and Phil Cavarretta, Second Baseman Billy Herman, and Rookie Infielders Ed Zydowski and Leonard Merullo. Jim Gleeson, recruit outfielder, will join up in Kansas City, and Carl Reynolds will go direct to the island.

Warner Accepts Post as San Jose Advisory Coach

San Jose, Cal., March 1.—(AP)—Glenn Scobey [Pop] Warner, who recently resigned as football coach at Temple university, today accepted an invitation to become advisory coach at San Jose State college. Warner starts work next month during spring practice. The announcement was made by Dr. T. W. McQuarrie, president of San José State.

Warner, who will have charge of offense, will be associated with a former pupil, Dud De Groot, who played under Pop Warner at Stanford.

Warner had coached at Temple the last six years, resigning a few weeks ago because he preferred to live at his home in Palo Alto, near Stanford.

He issued the following statement:

"I accepted Dud De Groot's invitation to act as coach strictly in an advisory capacity. Due to my long association with the game and my desire to keep in close touch with football, I studied the plan in a careful manner before making my decision.

"I accepted the invitation only after De Groot had agreed to remain on the job he has handled so well for the past seven years."

In his new position, Warner next fall will match strategy with the dean of coaches, Amos Alonzo Stagg of the College of the Pacific at Stockton. The two teams will meet at Stockton in October.

Joe Louis, G. G., Class of 1934, Sees New Crop Box in Stadium

Joe Louis returned to the scene of his greatest amateur triumphs last night when he appeared in the Chicago Stadium to see the quarter-finals in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

The world heavyweight boxing champion, who won the 1934 Golden Gloves light heavyweight championship, was given an ovation by the large crowd. Several hundred Boy Scouts, sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization and guests of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, gave Louis one of the noisiest receptions of his career.

He will leave Monday to start training in California for his ten round heavyweight title fight against Jack Roper in Los Angeles on April 18.

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil was an early spectator. Noble Kizer, Purdue athletic director, had a first row seat.

Biggest hit of the night was scored by Tony Novak, Kansas City Star heavyweight. After being floored in the first round of his match with Russell Bennett, Novak knocked out the Muncie, Ind., Star puncher.

Novak was one of six Kansas City representatives to enter third round competition. All are members of the Municipal Boxing club. Of the two who were eliminated on Tuesday, one came from Denver, Colo., and the other from Hutchinson, Kas.

The first novice champion to be crowned was John Matula, Polish Roman Catholic union light heavyweight. Matula gained the honor when Lucius Armstrong of Stanford Park was rejected by Dr. William Rothman because of a hand injury suffered in his semi-final victory.

Sully Montgomery, former Centre college football player and heavyweight boxer, seconded the two surviving champions of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram—Morris Corona, lightweight, and Andy Eagleton, middleweight.

Jake Sinner, Michigan City News-Dispatch, was unable to continue in the meet last night because of a cut sustained during an earlier victory.

The fastest knockout was scored by Johnny Pleasant, Savoy A. C. lightweight, over Charles MacGregor of the Gary Post-Tribune. A right to the jaw dropped MacGregor for the full count a few seconds after the bout started.

SURVIVORS BOX NEXT WEEK FOR CHAMPIONSHIPS

15,000 See Novice Titles Decided.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Tournament of Champions is ended. From twenty-six states they came—408 of them—and for three nights they fought. Now thirty-two boxers, still indomitable, pause for a few days respite before launching their final drive toward Golden Gloves championships. These thirty-two, four in each weight division, will make that last thrust on Friday of next week, when semi-finals and title bouts will be fought in the Stadium.

Fifteen thousand, the largest crowd ever to attend a Tournament of Champions program, watched last night's third round and quarter-finals, which were run off in three Stadium rings. Monday's session had drawn 12,000 and Tuesday's 14,000, bringing the total for the three night events to 41,000—another Tournament of Champions' record.

The thirty-two qualifiers for next week's semi-finals and finals follow:

112 POUNDS.
Vic Saccoia, Detroit [Mich.] Free Press.
Billy Sitzman, Sioux City [Ia.] Journal.
Willie Moon, C. Y. O., Chicago.
Al Noto, C. Y. O., Chicago.

118 POUNDS.
Chester Ellis, Kansas City [Mo.] Star.
James Joyce, Gary [Ind.] Post Tribune.
Earl Reid, Michigan City [Ind.] News Dispatch.
Frank Bausone, C. Y. O., Chicago.

126 POUNDS.
Tony Ancona, Detroit [Mich.] Free Press.
William Parson, Danville [Ill.] Commercial News.
Homer Williams, Savoy A. C., Chicago.
Joe Dupont, C. Y. O., Chicago.

135 POUNDS.
Tom Moyer, Grand Rapids [Mich.] Press.
Bob Morley, Sioux City [Ia.] Journal.
Roy Lewis, Muncie [Ind.] Star.
Johnny Pleasant, Savoy A. C., Chicago.

147 POUNDS.

HEAVYWEIGHTS.
Tony Novak, Kansas City [Mo.] Star.
Walter Bilicki, Gary [Ind.] Post Tribune.
John Washington, Dayton [O.] News.
Mike Zampini, Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The finals of the novice tournament also were held last night. The field for this event included the winners of the novice tournaments conducted in conjunction with the open division eliminations on Chicago's north, south, west, and northwest sides.

The novice champions follow:

112 pounds—Harold Dade, 39th Street Community center.
118 pounds—Henry Vera, C. Y. O.
126 pounds—Joe Gubbins, C. Y. O.
135 pounds—Thurman Walker, Lundgren A. C.
147 pounds—Wilbur Fulton, Savoy A. C.
160 pounds—Benjamin Puchalski, C. Y. O.
175 pounds—John Matula, Polish Roman Catholic union.
Heavyweight—Edwin Wagner, 43 West 57th place.

As the Tournament of Champions neared its end, every fighter stepped up his pace, feeling that now or never was the time to shoot the works. Each boxer knew that one more solid punch to his opponent's jaw might earn a place in the big show next week.

Representatives of 14 cities, including Chicago, were left among the survivors. The field which went into the Tournament of Champions Monday night included boxers from 46 out of town centers where newspapers cooperated with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in the sponsorship of Golden Gloves eliminations.

Seven Chicagoans Survive.

Through weeks of fighting on the north, south, west, and northwest sides, local boxing fans saw Chicago's representatives chosen. Seven of these 40 boys survive.

These are Willie Moon and Al Noto, flyweights; Frank Bausone, bantamweight; Joe Dupont and Homer Williams, featherweights; Johnny Pleasant, lightweight; Curtis McDaniels, middleweight.

MUSTO, WACKER MEET TONIGHT IN COLISEUM MATCH

Aron Boxes Barbara in Ten Round Bout.

Henry Wacker, Taylorville, Ill., heavyweight, and Tony Musto of Blue Island will meet in the Coliseum, 15th street and Wabash avenue, tonight.

It is one of three bouts at ten rounds which head the first major show held in Chicago this year.

In the other featured matches Milt Aron meets Johnny Barbara and Pete Lello faces Billy Marquart.

Each of these fights has created unusual interest and as a result Promoter Irving Schoenwald and Matchmaker James C. Mullen anticipate more than 5,000 will contribute in excess of $8,000 at the gate.

Davis Boxes Mason.

The opening encounter will bring together Verle Davis, 1938 Kankakee sectional Golden Gloves lightweight champion, and Jimmy Mason of Milwaukee. Davis will try for his twelfth straight victory. He has scored six knockouts. The contest is set for five rounds. A second five rounder on the program will bring together Dick Kist, Golden Gloves product from Danville, and Garland Parnell, Peoria 152 pounder.

Wacker is expected to receive the hardest test of his brief but spectacular career against Musto. Tony has dropped only one decision in twenty-six starts. He suffered this setback at the hands of Tom Kenneally of the Catholic Youth organization, an old rival, Dec. 16. However, Musto showed he has lost none of his skill by knocking out Clarence Brown in White City on Feb. 10.

Wacker Can Punch.

Wacker will depend on apparent superior punching in his attempt to make the roly poly Musto his ninth knockout in ten starts. In his last bout, Henry scored a one round knockout over Joe Vandever, Feb. 13. Prior to this conquest he floored Pal Silvers and Bob Tow for the full count. Henry explains his success by saying: "I'm lucky."

War Admiral Is Withdrawn from Widener

Miami, Fla., March 1.—[Special.]—War Admiral today was declared out of the $50,000 Widener challenge cup, to be run Saturday, leaving Stagehand a probable 1 to 2 favorite for the mile and a quarter test which will climax the Hialeah Park meeting.

The outlook is for a field of six. Bull Lea and Pasteurized, remaining members of the big four, are expected to give Stagehand a battle for the rich prize.

The fever which interrupted the training schedule of the son of Man o' War had abated this morning, but neither Owner Samuel D. Riddle nor Trainer George Conway felt like sending War Admiral out for his final heavy work today. They feared it might bring recurrence of the fever.

He'll Race in New York.

War Admiral will be shipped to Berlin, Md., Monday to prepare for the big stakes in New York. When asked about the $25,000 Dixie handicap, and other Pimlico stakes, Owner Riddle said: "Alfred Vanderbilt asked me to enter War Admiral in the Dixie, but I feel we have done enough for Pimlico, and I prefer to run my horse in New York."

The outlook is for a capacity crowd of 25,000 Saturday. All reserved seats have been sold.

Others Can Run, Too.

Aside from Stagehand, Bull Lea and Pasteurized, others considered certain starters Saturday are Sir Damion, Francesco and Mythical King. The last named went his mile and quarter this morning in 2:08 handily. Sir Damion, which will be ridden by Don Meade, went a mile and an eighth in 1:52 3-5. He will run coupled in the betting with Pasteurized.

MAX SCHMELING SAILS, BUT SAYS HE'LL BE BACK

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight boxer, sailed for Berlin tonight aboard the Deutschland. The former world's champion said he would return to fight the winner of the Max Baer-Lou Nova fight in New York on May 25.

Ted Phee's 96 Leads Tribune Casting Meet

Ted Phee, with a score of 96, led last night's field of contestants in the fishermen's event of the casting tournament sponsored by THE TRIBUNE on Navy pier. Twenty-five casters took part in the competition, which was the first half of the fishermen's event. It will be completed tonight, with competition starting at 7:30 o'clock. The extra night was needed because of the large number of competitors. The casting tournament is being held in conjunction with the national boat and sports show.

Other high scorers last night were Richard Grutzmacher, 15 years old, with a 92; Frank McVey, 91; W. R. Ford, 90, and Milton Huguelet, 90. These casters will share the five TRIBUNE awards providing their scores are not bettered tonight.

More than thirty thousand attended the boat and sports show yesterday, according to officials. It was Minnesota day, with Miss Avis Darrow, Duluth, as queen of the day.

Quarter-final games in the junior division of the Chicago Public High School Basketball league will open today when Waller of the north section meets Wells of the west section in Lane Tech gymnasium this afternoon. The three remaining games of the section will be played next week.

Von Steuben, north side runner-up, as the result of a 45 to 33 victory over Roosevelt yesterday, faces Crane, unbeaten west section champion at Tuley High Monday; Manley, which won the central section title for the fourth straight year, meets Hyde Park of the south section, Tuesday, and Hirsch, south section champion, faces Harrison of the central zone at Englewood, also on Tuesday.

Hirsch Meets Parker.

The south section winner in the senior division will be determined tonight when Hirsch and Parker meet in the University of Chicago fieldhouse. The winning team will face Tilden, central section runner-up, in the Midway fieldhouse Saturday afternoon. Hyde Park, south section runner-up, meets Phillips, central section winner, at DuSable tomorrow afternoon.

Marshall, west section champion, meets Lane, north side runner-up, on the Crane floor and Crane, west side runner-up, meets Lake View, north section champion, in the Lane Tech gymnasium. Both games are to be played tomorrow afternoon.

Harvard, Lake Forest Win.

Harvard school won its seventeenth straight game by running over North Park, 44 to 15, in a Private School league game on the Harvard court yesterday. The game was Harvard's last for the season and the victory kept the league champions unbeaten.

Lake Forest academy captured the Midwest conference title by whipping Elgin academy, 35 to 28, at Lake Forest. Lake Forest's big early lead decided the result. Lineups:

A Guy Must Eat.

The boys describe their ideal girls;
They rave of teeth that gleam like pearls,
Complexions that are wondrous fair,
And sparkling eyes and lustrous hair.

But when at last the day arrives
When they set out to choose their wives,
Forgotten are the stunning looks—
They're satisfied to wed good cooks.

Well, We Live and Learn.

When I see an item of particularly startling nature I like to pass it on in the hope that those who read the Wake may improve their minds as I do. The following informative bit appeared in the feature section of THE TRIBUNE of 2/26/39: "The average height of women in the United States is approximately."

Hi, Ho, Beaucar.

In re, your reply, Sir:—
I think it is sweet.
Had others been printed
They couldn't compete.
Let's call the deal settled.
I make no demands;
I feel I am placing
My heart in good hands.

So There, Too.

I have no desire to start an argument with Phinney Shing on the appearance of men's hats, but I would like to make one point. Regardless of how we put on our hats they still don't end up over one eye and looking as if we'd just made a forced landing. —Eddie Drake.

Ten Years Ago Today—Hack Wilson hit two home runs in the Cubs' first intraclub game. . . . A field of fourteen was entered in the $25,000 Tia Juana Derby. . . . Frankie Genaro, former flyweight champion of the world, was knocked out in the first round by Spider Pladner in Paris.

MOON MULLINS—THE MAN OF LETTERS

Name Boxers for Golden Glove Finals

the greatest strength were Cleveland, Gary and Detroit, each of which qualified three for the semi-finals. Six cities have two survivors each. They are Danville, Sioux City, Dayton, Davenport, Kansas City, and Grand Rapids.

Allen Is Beaten.

Four others have one representative. This group consists of Cincinnati, St. Louis, Michigan City, and Muncie.

Through hours of fighting last night the crowd was treated to surprises as well as thrills. One of the surprises was the elimination of Altus Allen, Chicago's most brilliant light heavyweight. He lost a decision to Ragon Kinney of Fort Smith, Ark.

Willie Moon, C. Y. O. flyweight, continued along at a speedy pace. In his first appearance last night he outpointed Freddy Pope, a formidable fighter from the 124th Field Artillery. Pope had beaten Walter Cavalieri, who was last year's flyweight runner-up and a member of the 1938 Intercity Golden Gloves team.

Moon returned after a brief rest to win a clearcut decision over Del Hamilton of Bloomington.

Chicago has another strong representative in the flyweight division, Al Noto. This tireless, aggressive youngster first stopped Floyd Robinson of Lafayette in the third round and then outpointed Gene Wallace of St. Louis.

Williams Wins Pair.

Joe Dupont, who like Noto came out of Chicago's west side tournament, scored a particularly noteworthy victory over Nathan Bridges of Grand Rapids after he had whipped Leon Haire of St. Louis in an earlier encounter.

Homer Williams, the south side's strong featherweight champion, rapped out a decision over Matt Mihalovich of Milwaukee and went on to the semi-finals when his quarter-final opponent was forced to default.

Johnny Pleasant, Frank Bausone, and Curtis McDaniels, Chicago's other representatives, also showed considerable power in winning their third round and quarter-final bouts.

Weary Hawks Have to Play Again Tonight

Tonight's Games

Toronto at Montreal.
New York Americans at Detroit.
Chicago at New York Rangers.

The Chicago Blackhawks will play the New York Rangers in Madison Square Garden tonight in the fourth and final game of the season between the clubs on New York ice. The teams will wind up their schedule of eight games in Chicago Stadium a week from tonight. The Hawks have won only one of the three games played to date in New York and only one of the three played in Chicago. One of the Chicago encounters was a tie.

The Rangers with nine games left to play still have a chance to dislodge the first place Boston team, although they are five and a half games behind the Bruins, who have only six games left to play.

Despite the showing of the powerful Boston machine this season the Rangers have held the Bruins even in the six games played to date.

The Hawks are in a desperate mood. Although they are in last place, a half game back of the sixth place Canadiens, they have one more game to play than the latter, who will meet the Maple Leafs in Montreal tonight. A victory for the Leafs would place them in a tie for third place with the Americans, should the latter, who have been on the down grade for a month, lose to the Red Wings in Detroit.

Calling the Tough Ones

Every One Except Wyatt Thought Elder Scored, But, Anyway, Notre Dame Won

[This is the eleventh of a series of articles by officials in various sports on the difficult decisions they have had to make during their careers.]

BY JAY WYATT.
[As told to Charles Bartlett.]

[Jay Wyatt, one of the ablest officials in football, has worked in games from coast to coast. He is a native of Hamilton, Mo., and was educated at Wentworth Military academy and the University of Missouri. As a member of the Kansas City Athletic club track team he held state records in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Jay worked his first football game at St. Mary's, Kas., with Jim Masker, dean of Western conference officials, in 1910.]

JAY WYATT.

The most difficult decision I ever had to make in twenty-nine years of football officiating came up on Nov. 16, 1929. In my time I had worked in games wherein 30,000 was considered a huge crowd, but that afternoon, the largest gathering ever to assemble for a football game—112,912—watched Notre Dame and Southern California battle in Soldiers' field, Chicago.

The duties of the officials naturally were magnified by the records, not only of the two teams, but also of the crowd. Early in the game the Trojans' passing attack caught the Irish secondary in a daze, and a toss from Duffield to Apsit scored a touchdown.

In the second period Notre Dame went to the air, and Jack Elder tossed a pass to Tom Conley for a touchdown, making the score 6 to 6.

Rockne, in Wheel Chair, Inspires His Boys.

That was the way the half ended. The story of that half time intermission in the Notre Dame dressing room was written in a hundred papers. The late Knute Rockne, who was in a wheel chair at the time, was re-introduced by Paul Castner, one of his greatest backs. What they said to the team was evinced by the boys' deportment at the outset of the third period.

The Trojans found themselves deep in their own territory, and punted. Frank Carideo returned that kick nearly thirty yards to the Southern California 13 yard line. The first play thereafter was halted by the Trojan line, but the second saw Elder, one of the fastest backs the Irish ever have had, sweep around the Trojans' end, back of interference that was quite swift, except that it veered to the sidelines.

Elder's Foot Goes Out, Touchdown Nullified.

Elder, following that wide blocking, ran about ten yards before he was run out at approximately the 3 yard mark. He kept on going for a touchdown, but I had seen his foot land outside the line, and I called the play back. It wasn't a happy job under the circumstances, but I was certain on my decision. That crowd, largely composed of Notre Dame fans, hooted and howled when I recalled the touchdown, but I had to stay with my decision.

Two plays later, Joe Savoldi carried the ball over for a touchdown and Carideo kicked the extra point which eventually won the game, for on the ensuing kickoff, Russ Saunders of the Trojans ran the ball back ninety-two yards for a touchdown, the game ultimately winding up with a 13 to 12 victory for Notre Dame.

VIVI-ANNE HULTEN THRILLS 4,000 AT ARENA ICE SHOW

Swedish Miss Is Star of Colorful Program.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago skating fans who have seen the glittering Sonja Henie glide over local ice these last few years last night witnessed a young blonde who has all of the talents of the little Norwegian without giving an inch of skating perfection to her.

The party in person is the cute Vivi-Anne Hulten, who it might be gathered is also Scandinavian. Where Miss Henie is the pride of Oslo, Norway, Miss Hulten hails from Stockholm, Sweden. Last night Vivi-Anne, matching Sonja in costumes and craftsmanship, thrilled a packed house of 4,000 in the eighth international ice carnival conducted by the Chicago Figure Skating club in the Chicago arena.

Club's Best Show.

The entire production, arranged by Harry E. Radix, president of the club, was the finest it ever has produced. Miss Hulten, runner-up to Miss Henie in a couple of Olympics in which she outdistanced the flaxen haired Norwegian in the creative figures, was at her best on the first night of a tour in which she will cover Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh.

The graceful whirling of the Swedish miss would have been sufficient in itself, but it was garnished by a show which was one of the best ever seen in a city which has become meticulous in its attitude toward ice carnivals.

For a group number, the Figure Skating club outdid itself in its portrayal of skating in Lincoln park in 1890. Brown helmeted gendarmes patrolled gay young blades and hoop skirted ladies, flanked for a Currier and Ives Christmas card.

100 Children Give Ballet.

Add to this a clever Snow White ballet by 100 Chicago children and one of the most riotous comedy numbers seen on Chicago ice as presented by two Swiss gents entitled Frick and Frack, and you would have had a handy evening on the ice. With them were the Sisters Caley, Dorothy and Hazel, in their well turned duet; Eleanor O'Meara, Canadian ladies' champion in 1936 and 1938; Nora McCarthy, Little Nancy Meyer, and an ensemble called "A Holiday in the Alps."

ARMOUR TRACK TEAM DEFEATS WILSON, 55 TO 31

Armour Tech's track team defeated Wilson Junior college, 55 to 31, in the University of Chicago fieldhouse last night. The Armour team swept two field events besides taking eight first places. Rothenberg was high scorer with firsts in the high and low hurdles.

The best time of the meet was made by Walker, who won the sixty yard dash in :06.3.

Savoldi Stops Kenneally in Ten Rounds at St. Paul

St. Paul, Minn., March 1.—(AP)—Lee Savoldi, 189, St. Paul, stopped Tom Kenneally, 198, Chicago, at the end of the ninth round of a scheduled ten round boxing bout tonight. Kenneally's right eye bled so freely his handlers refused to let him come out for the tenth round. In the six round semi-windup Tony Moisti, 144, Chicago, won a decision over Jess Ackerman, 143, Des Moines, Ia.

BURTON P. GALE, MAROON CENTER IN 1903-'06, DIES

Burton P. Gale, 1317 Judson avenue, Evanston, died yesterday in the Passavant hospital after a brief illness. He was 53 years old. For many years he had been associated with Babcock Rushton & Co., stock brokers.

Mr. Gale was a member of the famous University of Chicago football team on which the late Walter Eckersall was quarter back. He played center on the team in 1903-'04-'05 and 1906. He was president of his graduating class. A brother, Henry, is now head of the physics department at the university.

Surviving are the widow, Edith, and three sons, Burton Jr., Robert, and Edward. Private services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the Graceland cemetery chapel.

BOWDEN, STEELE WIN IN NATIONAL INDOOR NET MEET

New York, March 1.—(AP)—Two New Yorkers scored straight set victories today in the national indoor tennis tournament to join two westerners in the semi-final round of men's singles.

The New Yorkers were Frank J. Bowden and Chauncey D. Steele Jr., former Columbia university captain. Bowden eliminated Morris Adelsberg of Brooklyn, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Steele whipped John Shostrom of Chicago, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

Tomorrow the westerners, Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore., seeded No. 1, and Jack Tidball of Los Angeles will meet in the upper half semi-final.

Three top seeded players and unranked Pauline Betz, of Los Angeles, took over the semi-final brackets in women's singles. Miss Betz defeated Barbara Nields of Cleveland, 6-1, 6-1, and Norma Taubele, No. 1 eliminated her 56 year old mother, Mrs. Rose Taubele, 6-4, 6-3; Helen Bernhard, No. 2, defeated Mignon Sommers of San Diego, Cal., 6-1, 6-2, and Millicent Hirsch No. 3, defeated Josephine Sanfilippo of Brooklyn, 6-2, 6-2.

DIXON REACHES SEMI-FINAL IN SQUASH TOURNEY

Homer L. Dixon Jr. of the Chicago Athletic association, defending champion in the Chicago District Squash Racquets association tournament advanced to the semi-finals by winning yesterday in Lake Shore Athletic club. He defeated Henry L. Parker of the Dartmouth Alumni club, 15-2, 15-11, 18-14.

In a semi-final match today, Dixon will meet Albert Nicolet of the Chicago Town and Tennis club. In the other match, J. Dudley Pope of the Dartmouth Alumni club plays Joe Jannotta of the Chicago A. A.

Yesterday's quarter-final results:

Homer L. Dixon Jr., Chicago Athletic association, defeated Henry L. Parker, Dartmouth Alumni club, 15-2, 15-11, 18-14.

J. Dudley Pope, Dartmouth Alumni club defeated Elmer Voight, Chicago-Dearborn club,

ACTIVE BUYING OF CORN TOLD AT CARGILL PROBE

Purchases Made at Time of Market 'Squeeze.'

John H. MacMillan Jr., president of Cargill, Inc., Minneapolis grain company, gave further testimony here yesterday before a special referee on the charges of price manipulation brought by the Cargill company against the Chicago Board of Trade. Countercharges of price manipulation brought by the exchange against Cargill are pending.

MacMillan was examined by Howard Ellis, Board of Trade counsel, on the extensive corn purchases made by the Cargill interests at the height of the "squeeze" in the futures market in September, 1937.

Ordered to Buy Freely.

Ellis' questioning brought out that the Cargill company had given instructions to its buying representatives in Texas and Oklahoma to purchase freely the new crop corn that was then coming on the market. At that time traders "short" corn in the Chicago market were striving desperately to obtain grain to cover their sales. The Cargill interests were the biggest holders of September corn contracts in Chicago and stood to benefit if the short sellers were forced to make a cash settlement because of their inability to deliver grain.

Ellis sought to show through his questions that the Cargill interests were buying up all the corn available. This was done to support the Board of Trade contention that the Cargill interests had a "corner" in the corn futures market in Chicago and were doing everything possible to protect their position by preventing others from getting cash grain to deliver in the market here.

Denies Unusual Operation.

MacMillan said that his company bought 600,000 bushels of Texas and Oklahoma corn in the period, Sept. 17 to 24, 1937, at premiums over the Chicago price. He denied under questioning that the operation was unusual for a company the size of Cargill.

Ellis attempted to draw an admission from MacMillan that Cargill had given instructions to its buyers to outbid other buyers who might send the grain to Chicago. Macmillan said that the buyers were told to "bid aggressively."

Referee S. Abbot Maginnis is conducting the hearings in the Hotel Sherman. The hearings will be resumed today.

YOUR INCOME TAX—8.

If you sold any capital assets in 1938 you must take the profits or losses into account in figuring your federal income tax due March 15.

The principal types of capital assets subject to the capital gains and losses provisions are stocks, bonds, and land. The portion of a gain or loss that enters into your income depends on how long you held the asset.

Restrictions on taking gains and losses vary also, depending on whether the assets were held for a "short term" or "long term." Here is the classification, showing what is short term, what is long term, and what percentages of the gain or loss are allowable for tax purposes:

Time Held.	Per Cent Allowed.
Short term gain or loss:
Assets held less than 18 mos.	100%
Long term gain or loss:
Assets held 18-24 mos.	66⅔
Assets held more than two years...	50

Short term losses cannot be subtracted from other income, but can be deducted only from short term capital gains. A net short term loss, however, may be carried over one year and deducted from 1939 short term gains, if any.

Change in Long Term Rule.

If your long term sales brought a net loss, after applying the above percentages, the loss is entirely deductible from ordinary income. This is a major change under the 1938 act.

Here are some precautions to watch in making your computations:

1. If your bonds or stocks became worthless during 1938 you are required to apply the above percentages in accordance with length of time held.

2. If husband and wife file a joint return, capital gains and losses must be figured separately for each one. For example, a wife's short term loss cannot be deducted from her husband's short term gain.

Government Bond Sales.

3. Gains or losses on the sale of federal, state, and municipal obligations are treated exactly like gains or losses from sales of other securities. One exception to this is treasury bills issued since June 17, 1930. Gains or losses from sales of these bills do not enter into income.

4. Your "cost price" for property received as a gift since Jan. 1, 1921, is whatever it cost the party who gave it to you. There is one limitation on this rule. If you sell at a loss your cost figure must be whichever is the lower of two figures: either the cost to the party who gave you the property or the fair market value at the time of the gift.

5. Your "cost" of property inherited is the fair market value at the time you inherited it.

[This concludes the series on income taxes. If your individual questions were not answered write to the Investors Guide. Some individual inquiries of general interest will be answered in this column. All inquiries will, of course, be answered by mail.]

TVA TO SHUT 4 STEAM PLANTS IN TENNESSEE

Coal Men and Labor Face Huge Loss.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Four steam generating plants recently bought by the Tennessee Valley authority from private interests will be shut down because of a surplus of hydro-electric power, officials of the TVA admit privately.

This will result in a heavy loss in coal consumption and destroy an estimated 300,000 man-days of employment annually. These plants used 300,000 tons of coal last year. An estimate, never challenged, says that one ton of coal at its destination represents one day's work and wages for one man.

Officials say the TVA will close the plants, despite the determined opposition of taxpayers, coal interests, and labor, rather than buy coal to operate them while there is an excess of TVA hydro-electric power.

Governments Lose Taxes.

Taxpayers oppose the purchase of private properties because of the resulting tax loss to the federal and state governments, a burden which must be assumed by the general taxpayer.

The steam plants recently bought in Tennessee are located at Hales Bar, Nashville, Parksville, and Memphis. The first three were included in the 80 million dollar purchase of the Tennessee Electric Power company properties from Commonwealth and Southern corporation. The plant at Memphis belonged to the Memphis Power and Light company, bought by the TVA from Electric Bond and Share company.

The four plants have a total generating capacity of 158,000 kilowatts and bring the total capacity of privately built steam and hydro-electric plants, taken over by the TVA, to 296,000 kilowatts.

Four Dams Completed.

TVA has now completed four dams, Wilson, Wheeler, Pickwick, and Norris, with a total generating capacity of 484,000 kilowatts. It has also just purchased five dams—Hales Bar, Occee river dams I and 2, Blue Ridge, and Great Falls on the Cumberland river—with a total installed capacity of 138,000 kilowatts.

The proposed new dams at Gilbertsville, Watts Bar, and Coulter shoals would have a total installed capacity of 300,000 kilowatts, or almost as much as the 296,000 kilowatt capacity purchased.

The four steam generating plants consumed more than 300,000 tons of coal last year and practically all of this coal market will be lost, as it is claimed that the TVA by continuing its dam program will have twice as much power capacity as it can sell.

Held for Standby Use.

It would be a waste of money to buy coal for operation of the steam plants when the dams will generate power, anyway, officials say. As a result these plants will be used only for standby purposes or to provide power in the years when the flow of water drops. Studies show that the plants thus may not be used more than once in five years and then only for short low water periods.

This produces a strange situation. The bituminous coal commission is operating as one branch of the government to help the stricken coal industry and the TVA as another branch buys up steam plants to put them out of business, depriving the coal industry of customers.

An estimate furnished by the National Coal association to the house appropriations subcommittee considering the TVA appropriation pointed out that upon completion of the TVA's projected 10 dam system, annual output of 8,100,000,000 kilowatt hours in hydro-electric power would displace 5,751,000 tons of coal and the same amount of man-days of employment annually.

Producers' Stake $11,000,000.

This was claimed to represent a coal tonnage valued at $11,000,000 to the producers, of which 60 per cent would consist of labor costs. The same tonnage would represent $13,000,000 in railroad freight revenues of which an estimated 44 per cent would go for labor. The potential labor loss to mines and railroads was estimated at $12,000,000 annually.

As far as taxes are concerned, the purchase of six Tennessee corporations will result in an estimated loss of $4,685,000 annually to the federal and state governments. The federal government will lose about $1,204,000, and the state of Tennessee $3,481,000.

Subway Section Contract Awarded to Marsch Firm

The city council yesterday approved award of a contract for construction of the second section of the Dearborn street subway to John Marsch, Inc. The Marsch company last month entered the lowest bid—$2,094,766—for the section of the subway in Milwaukee avenue between West Hubbard street and Chicago avenue. Contracts for one other section of the Dearborn street tunnel and two sections of the State street subway have been awarded.

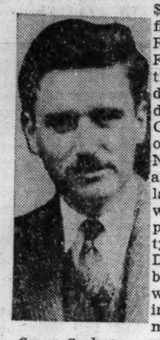
RFC Supplies Air Line Funds for Six Planes



George Gardner.

The purchase by Northwest Airlines, Inc., of six new planes costing $860,000 will be financed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. This was disclosed yesterday by George Gardner, manager of operations for Northwest. The air line announced last month that it was buying the planes, six twenty-one passenger Douglas DC-3s, but did not tell where it was going to obtain the money. Delivery of the new planes is scheduled to begin in April.

Arrangements with the RFC, Gardner said, are similar to those made between the RFC and American Airlines, Inc., in 1936. At that time American Airlines borrowed from the RFC by issuing chattel mortgage notes secured by the new equipment. The interest rate was 5 per cent and repayments on the principal have been made in monthly instalments.

Plane Financing a Problem.

The purchase of new planes has been a problem for most air lines because they are short of cash. Most of them have been unable to get funds through the sale of new stock because they have been operating at a loss in the last few years.

Gardner said, however, that the management hopes the use of the new Douglas planes will help Northwest Airlines to operate on a profitable basis. The company had net loss in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1938, of $47,750. It also had a loss for the last six months of 1938, Gardner said.

The twenty-one passenger Douglas planes will supplement and in some cases replace the ten passenger Lockheed Zephyrs now in use. Estimates by Northwest indicate that by using the larger Douglas planes the cost of operation per seat mile can be cut to about 2 cents, compared with a cost of 3 cents a seat mile on the Lockheed Zephyrs now in use.

Obsolescence Rate Slowing.

Depreciation on the Douglas planes will be figured on the basis of a five year estimated life. Depreciation on the Lockheed Zephyrs now used by Northwest is based on a four year life. The development of new inventions for planes which has made earlier planes obsolete in a short time is moving somewhat more slowly than it was a few years ago, according to Gardner. It is this obsolescence factor that has caused air lines to make such heavy depreciation charges.

The Douglas planes will be used on flights between Chicago and Minneaplis and on runs from Minneapolis to the west coast, Gardner said. He pointed out that in cases where two Lockheed planes are leaving Chicago or Minneapolis at almost the same departure time, they can be replaced by a single twenty-one passenger Douglas. The company earlier this week placed one of the Douglas planes on its Chicago to Minneapolis run. That plane is being leased, however, from American Airlines.

Four Round Trips Daily.

Northwest is now running four round trip flights a day between Chicago and Minneapolis. Under present air mail rate provisions, Gardner said, Northwest is being paid for carrying air mail on only three round trips between Chicago and Minneapolis. The lack of air mail revenue on additional round trips has raised the cost of operation per seat mile.

Northwest Airlines, Gardner said, has entered a plea with the Civil Aeronautics authority for a change in rates of mail pay that would increase the line's air mail revenues. Estimates by the line show that payment on a pound mile basis or on one of several other bases proposed would add to Northwest's revenues.

Rate Revisions Considered.

The CAA, created by congress last year to supervise all phases of the aviation industry, is now studying the problem of revising rates of mail pay.

Helped by the continued upturn in air trafic anticipated this spring and economies from the use of new Douglas planes, Northwest Airlines will probably show a profit for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1939, Gardner said.

He added that planes on the Chicago to Minneapolis schedules are now operating at about 65 per cent of seat capacity, compared with a high of 70 per cent in summer months. Planes on all Northwest schedules, however, are now operating at about 32 per cent of seat capacity.

National Distillers Files $22,500,000 Issue with SEC

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—The first industrial issue filed for registration with the Securities and Exchange commission since Nov. 3 was received today from National Distillers Products corporation of New York. It covers $22,500,000 of ten year convertible debentures and 568,453 shares of no par value common stock, with scrip certificates for fractional shares to be reserved for conversion of the debentures. Glore, Forgan & Co., and Harriman Ripley & Co., Inc., are the principal underwriters.

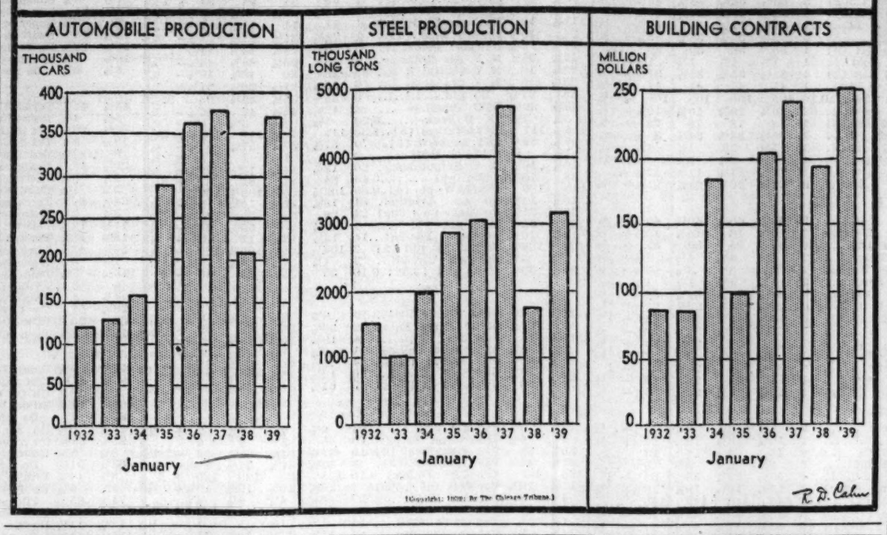
Activity in Three Leading Industries in January of Eight Years Compared



INTEREST, DIVIDEND PAYMENTS IN MARCH TO EXCEED YEAR AGO

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—Interest and dividend payments to American investors will be larger this month than in March, 1938, a New York Journal of Commerce survey showed today. The increase results principally from larger dividends by industrial corporations and higher federal government interest payments.

This will be the first time in a year that a monthly dividend total exceeded that for the corresponding month a year earlier. The gain in estimated payments from $182,619,000 in March, 1938, to $207,786,000 this month is caused chiefly by three large disbursements—Chrysler, du Pont, and General Motors.

Total interest payments are estimated at $317,146,000 this month, compared with $304,726,000 in March, 1938. The increase on government bonds is from $169,000,000 to $183,000,000.

FINDS CONGRESS HAS 'WABBLED' ON ANTI-TRUST LAW

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Congress has been "wabbling" in its stand on anti-trust laws, Senator Joseph O'Mahoney, chairman of the monopoly investigating committee, said today. He commented as the Federal Trade commission concluded its second day of testimony covering its experience in anti-trust law enforcement.

"It must be clear from this testimony," O'Mahoney said, "that congress has been wabbling from one side of the road to the other in regulating commerce.

"First we had the anti-trust laws. Then the Federal Trade commission act gave an agency the power to define unfair trade practices—largely nullified by court decisions. Then we had NRA, which virtually repealed the anti-trust laws. And again, we have the Webb-Pomerene act which permits price fixing combinations for purposes of foreign trade."

JANUARY RAIL NET OPERATING INCOME HIGHER

Washington, D. C., March 1.—(AP)—The Association of American railroads reported today that class one railroads had a net railway operating income of $32,090,711 in January compared with $7,144,036 in January, 1938, and $54,645,698 in January, 1930.

January income, the association said, was at the annual rate of return of 2.4 per cent of the railroads' investment. The return for January, 1938, was at an annual rate of only 0.52 per cent, and the rate for January, 1930, was 3.81 per cent.

Gross operating revenues for January totaled $305,768,767, compared with $279,108,385 for January, 1938, and $445,920,950 for January, 1930.

The association said thirty-two class one railroads failed to earn expenses and taxes in January.

60 Hour Week for Truck Drivers Put Into Effect

Washington, D. C., March 1.—(AP)—A basic work week of sixty hours went into effect today for thousands of truck drivers. Interstate commerce commission regulations, in effect since October for interstate bus drivers, were extended to trucks operated for hire across state lines. Drivers affected are forbidden generally to remain on duty for more than ten hours in any twenty-four hour period unless they have been off duty eight consecutive hours during the period.

EXECUTIVES:

Can you increase your sales per dollar of salesman's expense? Can you get distributors and dealers to give your products more push? Maybe you can, with a fresh-viewpoint type of sales promotion.

A man eminently qualified to go into that with you is available. He has had 15 years of experience with America's leading publisher, America's largest packer, a leading advertising agency and a prominent clothing manufacturer. He's Gentile, young enough, over 6 ft. tall and in good health, married and lives in the Chicago area.

National Tea's Net Loss Is Lower in 1938

The National Tea company was operated at a loss of $982,313 in 1938, compared with a loss of $1,365,280 in 1937. This was disclosed yesterday by John McKinlay, chairman, in his annual report to stockholders covering the first full year in which he was chief executive officer. Despite the loss McKinlay said the outlook appears better than it did a year ago. The loss for the fourth quarter was smaller than those of the preceding quarters.

John McKinlay.

"Disappointment and encouragement go hand in hand," McKinlay said. "We have sold less goods; we have lost less money. Our sales amounted to $55,545,216, a decrease of 10.55 per cent from a year ago. Our net loss was $982,313, or 28 per cent less than a year ago. In a year when most companies were working hard to retain the previous year's volume, it seemed our job to get things cleaned up, so that later we might go after business on a more profitable basis."

Closes 139 Stores.

The company closed 139 unprofitable stores and opened only 37. McKinlay said this was not the result of any plan to reduce the total number. He said National Tea has canceled a contract of many years' standing to operate the food department of a Chicago department store. Although this will affect the 1939 volume it will improve the profit position.

Repairs and maintenance had been neglected, he said. Generous amounts were spent in the past on some stores, but most of them received little attention. Last year $239,000 was spent and McKinlay estimated that $200,000 more will have to be spent in addition to normal expenditures on new equipment "to get our stores looking as they ought to look."

Other changes made during the year included consolidation of real estate and other interests, including acquisition of the company's half interest in the Nateco Realty Trust. The trust held real estate, including buildings in which National Tea rented stores.

Prefers To Rent Stores.

The present policy is to rent stores rather than own the buildings in which they are located. The company will sell its store properties when favorable opportunities arise.

"Our gross profits are now showing a substantial improvement, although prices have not been raised, but rather lowered," McKinlay said.

Losses of the company by quarters follow:

	1938.	1937.
First quarter	$207,197	*$109,828
Second quarter	176,341	100,355
Third quarter	444,816	846,637
Fourth quarter	154,059	528,116
Totals	$982,313	$1,365,280

*Profit.

In 1936 the company had a net profit of $226,750, equal to 23 cents a share on the common stock.

Current assets, including $1,354,251 cash, on Dec. 31, 1938, were $5,698,740, against $6,922,202, including $1,273,686 cash, on Dec. 31, 1937. Current liabilities were $2,683,909, against $3,621,713.

McKinlay formerly was president of Marshall Field & Co. He became chief executive officer of National Tea on Jan. 27, 1938.

U. S. TREASURY OFFERS PRESENT LOANS FOR NOTES DUE ON JUNE 15

Holders of 1 billion 294 million dollars of 2⅛ per cent treasury notes that mature on June 15 will be offered the privilege of exchanging them for present issues, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced yesterday. Additional amounts of the outstanding obligations will be issued.

They will be offered the privilege of exchanging them for 1⅛ per cent treasury notes, series B, due 1943; 2½ per cent treasury bonds of 1950-'52, or 2¾ per cent treasury bonds of 1960-'65. Morgenthau said the prices at which the exchanges will be made will be announced on Monday.

Morgenthau announced last Monday that the only March financing would consist of refunding the notes maturing June 15. In the earlier quarters of this fiscal year, which ends June 30, financing operations consisted of the borrowing of $700,000,000 at each quarter to finance the administration's "spending for prosperity" program.

Morgenthau refused to discuss the treasury's needs later than April 1. He said the treasury had the cash to take care of its needs until that date.

EDISON COMPANY ASKS PROXIES TO RE-ELECT BOARD

The Commonwealth Edison company yesterday sent to stockholders a statement soliciting proxies for the reelection of present directors. The annual meeting will be held April 4.

The statement disclosed, in accordance with regulations of the Securities and Exchange commission, that James Simpson, chairman, received total compensation of $95,200 in 1938 from the company and its subsidiaries. Simpson was listed as the direct holder of forty shares of Edison stock. In addition, it was explained, the Simpson family has holdings of 83,125 shares and $668,200 of convertible debentures.

Holdings of other directors were listed as follows: A. Watson Armour, 4,200 shares; L. E. Block, 404 shares, and $5,200 debentures; Stanley Field, 18,771 shares, $244,700 debentures; Charles A. McCulloch, 32,000 shares, $100,000 debentures; Solomon A. Smith, 14,859 shares, $56,400 debentures; Albert H. Wetten, 4,204 shares. Walter J. Cummings and John T. Pirie were listed as holding no stock directly. Stanley Field was listed as the holder of different issues of subsidiary bonds and co-trustee, with James Simpson, of an additional 5,379 shares of stock.

HOME LOAN BANK HEAD OPPOSES FHA EXPANSION

Washington, D. C., March 1.—(AP)—John H. Fahey, head of the Federal Home Loan bank system, declared today that another government agency handling home mortgages—the Federal Housing administration—did not need to expand its activities.

Fahey told a senate banking subcommittee that it should turn down a request of the FHA for an increase of its insured mortgage limit to $6,000,000,000, double the present amount.

"The necessity for insuring loans that are being made on housing has disappeared," Fahey said.

Earlier Stewart McDonald, FHA administrator, had asked that the insured mortgage limit be increased and numerous existing emergency powers of FHA be extended for two years.

NEW YORK CITY GETS TRACTIONS FOR 175 MILLION

Biggest Deal of Its Kind Ever Made.

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—Representatives of New York City, the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit company, and the transit commission reached an agreement today for the sale of the B. M. T. subways, elevateds, trolleys, busses, and power plants to the city for $175,000,000. This is the largest deal of its kind ever made in the United States.

No final agreement was signed because of the necessity of drawing up legal contracts of sale and obtaining the approval of the owners of B. M. T. securities. No stumbling blocks were foreseen, however, and all present at the conference agreed to recommend acceptance of the plan to their principals.

No indication was given when the contracts could be signed and the city-owned independent subway unified with the B. M. T. lines into one vast transportation system.

Pay in 3 Per Cent Bonds.

The price of $175,000,000 will be paid in 3 per cent city bonds, issuance of which was made possible by the constitutional amendment passed last year. This exempted $315,000,000 from the debt limit for transit unification.

The price leaves $140,000,000 exempt from the debt limit for purchase by the city of the Interborough Rapid Transit subways and the Manhattan Elevated lines. Negotiations with the I. R. T. are in progress and prospects favor an agreement. The price most widely discussed in connection with the I. R. T. negotiations is $130,000,000.

The plan contemplated in the agreement is to be based on a 5 cent fare and the transit commission will incorporate that feature in the proposal to be submitted for public hearings. The question of the status of labor under city ownership and control of the lines will probably be left for the city to work out once unification is accomplished.

No Details on Distribution.

No mention was made in Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's announcement of how the $175,000,000 would be distributed among the various types of stocks and bonds which represent ownership of the B. M. T. The price indicated that probably all the investors would get less than the face value of their securities.

One of the complications in the deal is that some securities of the B. M. T. system represent investments in the surface lines and some in the subway lines. The mayor did not indicate how the $175,000,000 would be divided between these two parts of the system. There had been reports that about $27,000,000 would be paid for the surface lines and $148,000,000 for the rapid transit lines—the subways and elevateds.

Position of Stockholders.

It had been suggested that the holders of B. M. T. 4½s would be willing to take about $90 on the $100 in the form of 3 per cent bonds with full tax exemption in order to permit part of the purchase price to pass along to the stockholders and assure success of the deal. The amount the stockholders will get will depend on what concessions the bondholders grant.

Securities of B. M. T. and affiliated companies soared for big gains on the stock exchange today. Brooklyn, Queens County and Suburban 5s rose $62.50 per thousand dollar bond to $432.50. B. M. T. 4½s pushed up $70.75 to $812.50; Brooklyn Union Electric first 5s of 1950 gained $35 to $910. B. M. T. preferred stock climbed $3 to $42.50. The common rose 50 cents to $13.

Treasury Invests More Funds in U. S. Securities

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—The treasury's monthly statement on securities held as investments in trust funds and in accounts of certain governmental corporations and agencies was made public today. It showed $4,840,313,000 of government securities in the trust accounts, compared with $4,716,758,000 Jan. 31.

Several Firms Report Sign of Upward Trend

Prospects for better business after declines that occurred in the first part of 1938 were indicated yesterday in annual reports of a number of companies in the Chicago area. These included the Oliver Farm Equipment company, Fairbanks, Morse & Co., and the Elgin National Watch company. E. J. Brach & Sons, Chicago candy concern, showed a substantial gain in profits for 1938 over 1937.

C. R. Messinger says Oliver's prospects are better.

Most of the nationally known companies reporting had 1938 earnings under those for 1937. Among these were the Diamond Match, American Sugar Refining, and American Radiator and Standard Sanitary.

C. R. Messinger, chairman of Oliver Farm, reported that for the first time since the company was organized in 1929 it was able to publish a balance sheet which did not include any bank loans at the end of the year.

Inventories Reduced.

The debt to the banks on Dec. 31, 1930, was $16,696,931, of which $6,600,000 remained unpaid on Dec. 31, 1937. A reduction in inventories and receivables during 1938 made possible the payment of the rest of the debt by Oct. 31, 1938.

Operations of Oliver Farm in 1938 resulted in a profit of $60,749 compared with $2,182,763 in 1937. Net sales were $18,777,579, a decline of $7,429,331, or 28 per cent from 1937.

Messinger said that although current sales are lower than in 1938 there is "evidence of improvement."

Fairbanks, Morse had a 1938 profit of $558,539, equal to 83 cents a share on the common stock, against $2,148,431, equal to $3.45 a share for 1937. Robert H. Morse, president, said that net sales during 1938 were 31 per cent less than those of 1937, but that "some improvement has taken place in the bookings of the company to date this year as compared with the same period of last year."

Taxes $1.33 a Share.

Sales in 1938 totaled $20,957,451. Taxes amounted to $799,967, equal to $1.33 a share on the common stock.

Despite unsettled condition last year Elgin National Watch had a net profit of $685,046 for 1938, equal to $1.71 a share, T. Albert Potter, president, reported. For 1937 net profit was $1,396,084, equal to $3.49 a share. "Sales to date this year have been most satisfactory," he said.

T. Albert Potter.

Potter said additions were completed to the company's plant during the year, making its factory the only one in the world now equipped to plan, create, and manufacture all the component parts used in its watch calibers."

E. J. Brach & Sons had a profit of $456,034 for 1938, equal to $2.46 a share, against $346,450, equal to $1.89 a share for 1937.

A. Stein & Co., Chicago garter, belt, and accessory manufacturer, reported its 1938 profit as $268,009, against a 1937 net profit of $401,477. Business made a substantial improvement in the last four months of 1938.

American Sugar Earns Less.

The American Sugar Refining company had a 1938 net income of $407,088, equal to 90 cents a share on the preferred stock, compared with $4,-

INT. HARVESTER IS MODERNIZING TRACTOR WORKS

Program in Chicago Costs $3,000,000.

The International Harvester company disclosed yesterday that it is carrying forward a $3,000,000 modernization program at its tractor works in Chicago.

Together with other plant modernization plans recently announced by the company, the present program calls for a total expenditure of $11,000,000. Modernization work is now under way at the plants in Milwaukee, Wis., and Rock Island, Ill.

Changes Begun Last Year.

The changes at the Chicago tractor works, at 2600 West 31st boulevard, were started last year with the construction of a $1,000,000 factory addition for the manufacture of crawler type tractors. About $800,000 will be spent during 1939 for new machinery and rehabilitation of existing equipment. The entire plant is being rearranged to increase capacity and operating efficiency, the company said.

The remainder of the $3,000,000 appropriated for the purpose will be expended next year in completing the program.

Dining Hall for Employés.

Included in the project is the construction of an employés' dining hall, seating 430 persons, and a large locker room with modern sanitation and ventilation facilities.

The company said the program will result in no immediate increase in employment at the tractor plant here.

"Should improved business conditions later on step up the plant operations to the enlarged capacity," the company added, "employment would be materially increased over the present."

Start Cincinnati Project.

Cincinnati, O., March 1.—[Special.]—Preliminary work has been started by the International Harvester company on a new structure to house the company's truck division here. The project will cost between $275,000 and $350,000, it is estimated.

GERMANY MAKES NEW MOVE TO AID HER EXPORTERS

BERLIN, March 1.—(AP)—A new impetus was given Germany's export drive today by a Reichsbank agreement to stand all losses German exporters may incur as a result of sudden changes in foreign exchange rates.

This was the second measure within thirty days designed to encourage exports—Germany's 1939 aim as outlined in the reichstag speech of Reichsfuehrer Hitler Jan. 30. Rates at which exporters obtained credit for their business were lowered Feb. 1 to enable them better to fight competition in markets abroad.

Large and small exporters will benefit from today's step, which was designed, the Reichsbank said, to remove the constant uncertainty resulting from fluctuating foreign exchange rates and hampering the outward flow of German merchandise. Recent variations in the value of the Dutch guilder, for example, were known to have bothered the Germans.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 1.—The stock market ran into late selling today, and prices closed irregular. Trading was quiet, the volume of 634,604 shares comparing with 1,060,770 yesterday.

Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit company common stock reached a new high for the year at 13⅜ before reacting to close at 13, up ½ point. It was influenced by announcement that the company and the city had reached an agreement on the sale of company properties. Preferred stock of the company closed 3 points higher at 42½ after reaching 43½. Other traction shares strengthened.

Air transportation issues led the market in the early afternoon, turning active and higher on favorable reports of passenger and express business and the approach of the good season for air travel. United Air Lines and Eastern Air Lines were in front.

Douglas was a weak spot in the aircraft division, slumping 1½ points. Sperry and Bendix were fractionally higher.

Most leading rail shares declined fractionally.

Volume honors for the day went to Greyhound, which rose ½ point to 20, its previous 1939 high.

Uncertain price trends prevailed in the industrial section. Steels closed fractionally lower, with United States Steel showing the way. Both Chrysler and General Motors moved narrowly and closed with losses.

Coppers were mostly fractionally lower.

Physical power and light shares showed small losses, with interest limited.

Arrangements were made today for the transfer of a membership in the New York Stock exchange for $62,000, a rise of $2,000 from the last transaction.

New York Bonds.

New York, March 1.—(AP)—Bonds continued to move higher today but showed a little less ardor for the climb.

News that New York City had signed an agreement for purchase of Brooklyn Manhattan lines released a big buying movement in the company's bonds. B.-M.-T. 4s were rushed up 3¾ points to 81¼ and liens of some affiliated companies soared up to more than 6. They held their gains well in face of late profit selling.

United States government issues also remained in the spotlight, treasuries making fresh advances running to 18-32ds point in response to Secretary Morgenthau's word that the treasury's March financing would not call for issuance of securities for "new money."

Foreign dollar issues were irregular.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks were slightly lower yesterday in moderate trading. THE TRIBUNE average closed at 11.27, compared with Tuesday's close of 11.29. Of the 112 issues traded, 32 advanced, 50 declined, and 30 were unchanged. Bonds traded totaled $15,000.

Commonwealth Edison was the most active issue. It closed unchanged at 28⅛. Others among the trading leaders were Bendix Aviation, off ¼ at 27¼; General Motors [in odd lots], off ½ at 49¼; Rollins Hosiery, unchanged at 2⅛; Merchants and Manufacturers, up ⅛ at 4¼, and Chicago corporation, unchanged at 17⅝.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were steady to lower yesterday in dull trading, dealers reported. American National shares lost $8, Continental Illinois 50 cents, and Northern Trust $1. Other leading shares were unchanged.

DRAFT MORTGAGE ACT TO CUT COST AND END DELAYS

Measure Expected to Go to Legislature Soon.

Because foreclosure in Illinois costs more and takes longer than in any other state, a modern mortgage law has been drafted after four years study by a committee of the Chicago Bar association. Details were announced yesterday. Lawyers would be in line for smaller fees.

S. Ashley Guthrie, one of group that drafted act.

The proposed law has been approved by the board of managers of the association, and will be submitted to members at a special meeting March 9. It is expected the measure will be introduced in the legislature this month.

The new act is designed to eliminate the delays, expense, and abuses incident to foreclosure procedure under existing law. It also would protect the rights of both borrowers and lenders to the fullest extent possible, according to the committee.

Members of Committee.

Members of the committee are Isaac S. Rothschild, chairman; Herbert W. Becker, F. Howard Eldridge, S. Ashley Guthrie, Walter V. Schaefer, and John Lyle Veite.

"Any procedure with as long a history as mortgage foreclosure is bound to be fettered by forms and ceremonies that have long since been outmoded and do not fulfill their functions in accordance with present day ideas," Rothschild said.

Important features of the proposed law, are:

1. It provides that the home owner may occupy his home until foreclosure sale without paying rent. This is general practice in Chicago courts, but is not set forth in existing law.

Change in Farm Rule.

2. Gives the farmer the rights to cultivate and gather crops for a year under the issuance of a sheriff's deed under foreclosure. The redemption period is cut from one year to six months, but this is outweighed by the new provision, in the opinion of committee members.

3. Protects mortgagors against excessive deficiency decrees. Under present law, if a property mortgaged for $10,000 brings $5,000 at a foreclosure sale, a deficiency decree of $5,000 could be entered. In the same case under the proposed law, if the actual value of the property was $8,000, the deficiency decree would be only $2,000.

4. Eliminates the need for entering a deficiency decree merely to support a receivership. Unlike the old law, the new one would provide that a receiver could be applied for when a foreclosure suit is filed.

Eliminated Master Requirement.

5. Eliminates the necessity for reference to masters in chancery in most cases. Most have been referred to masters under present practice.

6. Requires that all foreclosure sales be made by the sheriff. Usually sales are made by the masters in chancery.

7. Reduces fees for foreclosure sales to a maximum of $50. Present fees are a percentage of the amount of the sale and hence practically unlimited.

SNOW BOOSTS TRAFIC OF 'L' IN FEBRUARY; TROLLIES CARRY LESS

The Chicago Rapid Transit company [the elevated] yesterday reported a trafic gain of 1.96 per cent in February over the same month last year. Officials credited most of the increase to the snowstorms which hindered street trafic. In January, trafic was down 3.35 per cent compared with January, 1938.

Revenue passenger trafic on Chicago Surface Lines declined 2.47 per cent in February compared with the corresponding 1938 month. The figure does not include transfers. In January, trafic was down 2.44 per cent from last year.

The Chicago Motor Coach company reported February trafic was up 0.25 per cent from last year. In January there was a decline of 2.44 per cent from January, 1938.

AMERICAN PORK EXPORTS MOUNT AS IMPORTS FALL

The United States during January sold more pork to other countries and imported less than during December, the department of commerce disclosed yesterday. The trade balance for the American packers in foreign markets was the most favorable for January in four years.

Reasonable prices for pork in this country, coupled with the lower tarif rates on pork going into Canada, were responsible for some of the increase in sales. Pork exports were 8,445,371 pounds, against 8,059,125 in December and 6,296,776 a year ago.

The United States sold 4,365,047 pounds more pork to other countries than were imported during the month. A year ago the January exports exceeded the imports by only 2,542,992 pounds, and two years ago they were 2,311,658 pounds under the imports. Lard exports rose to 28,520,477 pounds in January, the largest volume for any month since September, 1934.

Imports of pork declined from 4,881,720 pounds during December to 4,080,324 pounds in January. This was an increase over the 3,753,784 pounds imported a year ago.

Both imports and exports of beef and veal fell from the December volume.

CORN ADVANCES ON REVIVAL OF EXPORT BUYING

A revival in the European demand for cash corn and an upturn of 2 cents a bushel in the February delivery in Buenos Aires advanced the price of that grain ¾ to 1 cent yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Closing trades were at the best prices. Chicago shippers sold 70,000 bushels of corn to New York exporters. Shorts covered freely.

Firmness in corn and Liverpool strength were responsible for an upturn of ⅝ cent a bushel in wheat futures. The English market rose ⅝ to 1 cent.

Yesterday was the first day the Chicago Board of Trade operated with curtailed service to its members as the result of adoption of a drastic economy program. The only difference apparent to the public was a darkened blackboard on the east wall of the trading floor. Corn and oats traders complained. This forced them to look at the west wall for quotations. The west wall is about an city block from the corn pit.

FEW CHANGES ARE EXPECTED IN STEEL PRICES

Steel prices for the second quarter, when announced later this week, are expected to contain few major revisions, the journal Iron Age asserted yesterday.

Modification on "extras" and also on discounts on sheets, strip and bars will probably be disclosed, the magazine predicted. The sole change in basic prices will be an increase of $2 a ton on hot rolled sheets. Pig iron prices will remain unchanged, it said.

Improvement in the industry was shown in the rise of 1.5 points in the national output rate to 55.5 per cent of capacity this week. This production ratio is the highest this year. Scrap iron and steel markets continue strong.

Milwaukee Road Borrows $1,184,000 to Meet Taxes

The Milwaukee railroad has borrowed $1,184,000 from the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company to pay tax balances to eighteen counties in Washington state, the road announced yesterday. The interest to the bank is 2 per cent. Borrowing of the money will result in a saving of $168,862, because the road would have to pay 6 per cent on tax balances.

Joseph F. Abbott, president, said that results were less favorable than for any other year since 1924, and that the sugar market, both raw and refined, was affected by unusual conditions. Among the adverse factors, he said, was the uncertainty resulting from the department of agriculture not disclosing what standards it would use in adjusting sugar supplies to expected consumption in carrying out the provisions of the sugar act. Taxes amounted to $2.70 a share of common stock.

American Radiator and Standard Sanitary, manufacturer of heating, plumbing, and other equipment used in the building industry, operated at a loss of $424,077 in 1938, compared with a profit of $7,205,510 in 1937.
